M'BRIDE FAMILY GIVES $250,000 ON GLENNON JUBILEE

Archbishop Announces Donation for Boys' High School Which Brings Educational Fund to $550,000

PRESIDENT AND POPE WIRE GOOD WISHES

Impressive Ceremonies Open at New Cathedral to Mark Prelate's Twenty-Fifth Year in Office.

Gifts and pledges of $550,000 to Catholic high schools were announced by Archbishop John J. Glennon this morning, at the pontifical mass in the New Cathedral celebrating his silver jubilee, the twenty-fifth anniversary of his consecration as a Bishop.

The gift of $250,000 by Mrs. W. C. McBride of 29 Washington terrace, and her four daughters, for a Catholic boys' high school, to be built as a memorial to the late William C. McBride, was the largest individual donation.

The Archbishop, in announcing the jubilee gifts, and in suggesting the allotment of funds which should be made, said:

"Our sincerest thanks are due for the gifts of $250,000, which is offered for the building and direction of a Catholic Boys' High School, in memory of the late William C. McBride. We thank the donors who so generously give to the memory of an honored name and in perpetuation of a noble cause, namely, that of Christian education.

Mentions the General Fund.

"I am also advised that the clergy and laity have a fund—one-half cash and a further half pledged, to the extent of $250,000. While the details of this fund are unknown to me at present, I realize that it is no easy task now to raise a considerable sum of money for any purpose whatever, and that consequently there must have been much work and worry. To those who labored, and to those who subscribed, my thanks are due.

"In addition to these, I have the pleasure of announcing for the same purpose the donation of $50,000.

"I would approve of this disposition of these funds: That to the Boys' High School there be allocated a fund of $100,000 as an endowment. This would leave for the Girls' High School, funds at present in the hands of the school board, of which a percentage is still uncollected, which together with these jubilee funds, should be able to complete the Girls' High School building and leave a surplus of $100,000 to serve as its endowment."

President and Pope Wire.

At the mass, which was the first of three events of today in the Archbishop's honor, a cablegram of congratulation from Pope Benedict XV, transmitted through Cardinal Gasparri, and a telegram from President Harding, were read.

The Pope's message brought the news that Archbishop Glennon was appointed an assistant at the pontifical throne. Of this dignity, the Catholic Encyclopedia says: "The throne-assistants rank immediately after the Cardinals. They are always created counts of the apostolic palace, and they belong to the pontifical family. At solemn functions these assistants, adorned with cope and mitre, surround the throne of the Pope, while other Bishops are not privileged to be in his immediate vicinity. They are privileged to celebrate mass in private oratories, and to dispose of a certain sum from their own episcopal benefices in favor of clerics or their own relations, or to lay it aside for their own obsequies."

Speaking of the messages from the Vatican and the White House, the Archbishop said:

"I realize that the honor of receiving congratulations from the head of Christendom, and from the head of the great nation is an unusual one, and of which any of us might well feel proud. To say that I am deeply grateful scarcely expresses the depth of my feelings, or the extent of my appreciation.

"Speaking as a citizen, and at the same time as a Catholic Bishop, I respond to the greetings of our distinguished President with words of gratitude and promises of service—such service as should be rendered by one who wants his country to be great, its Constitution preserved, its Government honored, and its people happy.

Expresses His Gratitude.

"To my spiritual chief beyond the seas I speak, too, my gratitude and reverence, preserving the unity of the one faith under his supreme guidance and jurisdiction.

"How easy it is for us Catholics

EMOTION OVER BIG FIGHT DISTURBING SORBONNE CLASSES

Professor Gently Lectures Students on Carrying Sport Sheets to Lecture.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 29.—Emotion over the Carpentier-Dempsey match has penetrated Sorbonne circles somewhat to the dismay of the faculty M. Seignobos, professor of French history in the University of Paris, has been observing that his students were coming into the lecture room with pink newspapers, which, upon examination by the curious professor, turned out to be sporting dailies, with long articles relative to the prospects of "an American named Dempsey and a Frenchman named Carpentier."

Prof. Seignobos took occasion to refer to this in opening one of his lectures, the subject for the day happening to be "Henry IV." He is reported as having said in substance:

"Young gentlemen, I have not failed to see that your attention has been somewhat distracted from the study of the history of your race by what seems to me the undue importance of giving a trivial encounter at fisticuffs between two young men which is about to take place on the other side of the sea. I have seen allusions in the public prints to the glory that would accrue to the French people by the victory of Carpentier.

"I cannot refrain from mentioning that the greatest achievements of our race have not been through the display of physical, but mental, power. I have no doubt that Jack Johnson could beat Napoleon in a personal combat, or that Henri Bergson would be found unequal in a ring inclosing him and Mr. Dempsey.

"I beg of you, young gentlemen, to maintain a sense of proportion in your intellectual interests and to abandon perusal, at least during lecture hours, of these ephemeral publications."

BIG FIRM PROMISES BARRETT IT WILL QUIT ASSOCIATION

Head of Building Material Concern Offers to Drop Out of Organization to Be Attacked on Trust Charge.

BREAKDOWN OF BODY EXPECTED

Attorney-General, After Conference With Mayor, F. H. Kreismann and Judge Garesche, Predicts Price Drop.

Breakdown of one of the associations of building material men under attack by Attorney-General Barrett and a consequent decrease in one line of material costs was forecast at a conference here last night between Attorney-General Barrett and Robert Otto, Assistant Attorney-General, and Mayor Kiel, Circuit Judge Garesche, former Mayor Kreisman, and one of the most extensive builders of residence property in St. Louis.

To the conference, which was arranged by Judge Garesche and which was held at Mission Inn, Grand and Magnolia avenues, came the head of one of the largest building material firms, who virtually has agreed, without promise of immunity from prosecution, that his concern will quit the organization with which it is affiliated.

At the request of the Attorney-General this man's name and that of his company, along with that of the builder who sat in the conference, were not made public. All will be printed later. No charges are pending against either the material man or his firm and, so far as is known, none is contemplated against either directly.

Expects to End Domination.

Withdrawal of this material firm from the organization of which it is a member, is expected by Attorney-General Barrett to terminate the domination by that association over its line of materials. As he frequently has said in published interviews, the Attorney-General holds the present high prices of such commodities in St. Louis to be due to artificial causes. Partly for that reason, but more especially because he believes that antitrust laws of the State have been violated, he announced recently that suits would be filed against the St. Louis Material Men's Association, the St. Louis Lumber Trade Exchange and the St. Louis Planing Mill Men's Association. Those suits are now in preparation.

No Bargaining for Immunity.

Attorney-General Barrett came to St. Louis last night in the belief that the man with whom he was to be brought in contact desired to bargain for immunity from possible prosecution. This did not happen, however, and Attorney-General Barrett and Assistant Attorney-General Otto met Mayor Kiel at the Hotel Jefferson and later were joined by Judge Garesche, former Mayor Kreismann and the builder, the party proceeding to Mission Inn for dinner.

Mayor Kiel, Kreismann, Judge Garesche and the builder alike as-

DE VALERA REJECTS INVITATION TO PEACE CONFERENCE

Proposal of Lloyd George Impossible in Present Form, He Writes to Sir James Craig.

PREMIER ASSURED OF DESIRE FOR PEACE

Irish Republican Leader Writes Lloyd George He Is Seeking Opinion of Minority in Country.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 29.—Eamonn de Valera, the Irish republican leader, in a letter to Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, says that the proposal of Prime Minister Lloyd George for a conference in London between representatives of Southern and Northern Ireland and the British Government, owing to its limitations, is impossible of acceptance in its present form.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

(Copyright, 1921.)

DUBLIN, June 29.—Eamonn de Valera, Sinn Fein chief, in a preliminary letter to Lloyd George, replying to his invitation to a conference to arrange peace in Ireland, declares:

"I am consulting with such of the principal representatives of our nation as are available. We most earnestly desire to help in bringing about a lasting peace between the peoples of the two islands, but see no avenue by which it can be reached if you deny our essential unity and set aside the principle of national self-determination.

"Previous to replying more fully, I am seeking a conference with Ireland's political minority."

De Valera announced last night that he desires to consult with Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, representatives of Ulster Parliament and the Southern Unionists before replying at length to the Premier's invitation for a conference.

Letter to Craig and Others.

In a letter addressed to Craig, Lord Middleton, Sir Maurice Dockrell, the Unionist member of Trinity College, Andrew Jameson, a whisky distiller, and also a Liberal Unionist, and Robert Henry Woods, De Valera said:

"As spokesman of the Irish nation the reply I make to Premier Lloyd George affects the lives and fortunes of the political minority in Ireland no less than the majority. Before sending a reply I would like to confer with you and learn the views of a certain section of our people whom you represent. I am confident you will not refuse this service to Ireland. I shall await you at 11 o'clock Monday at the Mansion House."

The farce of opening the Southern Ireland Parliament persisted yesterday when Lord Justice Maloney, representing the Viceroy, formally declared the Parliament open in the council chamber of the Irish Agricultural Department on Morrison street. As anticipated, only four members of Trinity College were represented in Commons and the Senate only mustered 15. Both assembled in the same chamber, newspaper men finding it difficult to assort Senate and Commons members. A small group of clerks and passersby gathered outside and engaged in indulging in rude remarks about the constitutional assembly of nine within the chamber. The total membership should be 128 in Commons and 64 in the Senate.

5000 WOMEN, THREE FROM THE ROOSEVELT FAMILY, TO SEE FIGHT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Possibly 5000 women will be sprinkled among the spectators of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout at Jersey City on Saturday, it was learned today. Many of them will have choice seats in boxes at the ringside.

Three of the women will represent the Roosevelt family. Tex Rickard announced that reservations had been made for Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

FRELINGHUYSEN BILL BEATEN

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Senator Frelinghuysen's bill to authorize the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish seasonal coal rates virtually was defeated today, the Senate voting 38 to 26 to recommit the measure.

After this action, Senator Frelinghuysen did not press his other bill authorizing Government agencies to gather coal statistics and the Senate proceeded to other business.

SCOUT PLANES FIND BATTLESHIP FOR BOMB ATTACK

Contact Is Established With the Radio-Controlled Iowa After Search of Two Hours and 45 Minutes.

DUMMY BOMBS FOR USE ON TARGET

Hunt From the Air Begun on Notice That the Big War Vessel Had Set Her Course for Coast.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Army and navy air scout planes established contact with the radio-controlled battleship Iowa at 10:45 a. m. today off the Virginia coast, after a search of two hours and 45 minutes.

Bombing craft were expected soon to begin their attack with dummy bombs.

By the Associated Press.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 29. Planes from the Hampton Roads naval base and Langley Field put out to sea at 8 o'clock today to search for the radio controlled battleship Iowa, preparatory to an attack with dummy bombs. More than a score of scouting seaplanes left the naval base and were joined by airplanes from Langley Field and Yorktown.

Weather conditions are ideal, with a slight haze hanging over the Atlantic near the coast. Radio advices received at 8:30 said the planes were well out at sea, the scouts leading and the bombers higher up, ready to dart forward with their missiles.

The test today provided that the Iowa should start from an unannounced point 100 miles from the coast and proceed as an "attacking fleet" towards the shore line. The task of the air force was to find the warship and "destroy" her with bombs dropped from an altitude of not less than 4000 feet.

The plans called for a squadron of scouting seaplanes to leave Hampton Roads to search for the Iowa on instant notice that she had set her course for the coast. When the battleship is located, light and heavy bombing planes were to go out to join the scout force in an attack with dummy bombs.

A heavy fog off the Virginia capes, which reduced the visibility to half a mile, necessitated a postponement of the tests yesterday, and the Iowa, in company with her control ship, the battleship Ohio, was at station off the coast through the night, awaiting improved weather conditions to begin her dash to the mainland.

NAVY MEN FIND A FLAW IN AIR ATTACK

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. HENDERSON, OFF NORFOLK, Va., June 29.—Heavy fog yesterday having caused postponement to today of the test in which naval airplanes were to search for the old battleship Iowa over an area of 20,000 square miles of sea between Capes Henlopen and Hatteras, naval authorities not caring to risk the lives of the airmen in the dense haze, proponents of the capital ship as against the airplane held that the inability of the airmen to operate safely in a fog constituted a strong argument for the battleship. Airmen retorted that, in actual warfare, the planes would not have been deterred by such conditions.

Steered by Radio.

The Iowa, controlled in the tests by radio from the Ohio, five miles astern, was fitted with elaborate electrical devices to permit her being started, steered and stopped by the radio signals, her position to be kept secret from the airmen.

Under the plans airmen were to drop as many as 84 bombs, weighing from 163 pounds to half a ton each. Naval aviators calculated in advance that each plane, flying at the 4000-foot altitude prescribed for the maneuvers, would be able to see 17 miles on each side, or a total range of 34 miles, thus enabling a division of three planes to sweep a stretch of sea 100 miles wide.

Twelve planes were scheduled to engage in the scouting expedition. It was arranged that, as soon as the target ship was located, the fact was to be signaled to other planes on shore, which would immediately fly out to reinforce the scouting party, all the planes carrying bombs.

On board the Henderson to observe the test were Senator Spencer of Missouri, Wadsworth of New York, Ball of Delaware and Jones of Washington.

PRESIDENT WRITES LETTER ON DISARMAMENT RESOLUTION

Mondell Today to Read in House Note Urging That Congress' Expression Be Liberal and Allow All Latitude Possible.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—"It is wholly desirable" to have the expression of a favorable opinion on the part of Congress relating to world disarmament "and it would seem to me ample if it should be expressed in the broadest and most general terms," President Harding wrote today to Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader in the House.

"I am vastly more concerned with the favorable attitude of the Congress on this question than I am as to the form of expressing that attitude," the President added. "You may be sure that the executive will be ready to give every consideration to such expression as the members of the two houses of Congress find themselves disposed to make."

Referring to the disagreement between the Senate and House as to the precise language of the disarmament resolution attached to the naval appropriation bill, the President said it was not of particular concern to the administration what form the expression of Congress should take.

In making public the President's letter, Mondell announced that he would read it to the House when the Borah disarmament amendment was reached during consideration, probably late today, of the conference report on the naval bill. He has indicated that a substitute for the Borah proposal, probably the Porter amendment would be offered.

The President wrote that it had been pretty well understood that the administrative branch of the Government had already been asking information with regard to the attitude of foreign nations on the general subject of disarmament, adding that "these inquiries and negotiations will be continued, and the time and manner in which the matter may be formally presented to foreign governments can only be determined after the fuller development of inquiries already initiated."

SISTER ACCIDENTALLY KILLS 2-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Discharges Rusty Revolver When Trying to Take It From 5-Year-Old Brother.

Pearl Chott, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Chott, 4558 Alcott avenue, was shot and almost instantly killed about 10:30 a. m. today on the sidewalk in front of the Chott home by her sister, Hazel, 12 years old.

The weapon, a rusty old .32 caliber revolver, had been found by Lester, 5-year-old brother of the girls, on a shelf in the kitchen, and he had carried it to the sidewalk. Hazel was trying to take it from him when she accidentally pressed the trigger and a bullet pierced the younger child's breast above the heart.

Mrs. Chott, hearing the shot and the children's screams, found Pearl lying on the sidewalk and carried her into the house and sent for a doctor, but there was nothing that he could do.

"BANK OF NATIONS," WITH 2-BILLION CAPITAL, PROPOSED

Senator Hitchcock Offers Bill for Institution at New York Under U. S. Stock Control.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Establishment in New York of an international banking institution to be known as "the Bank of Nations," with $2,000,000,000 capital, to act as the fiscal agent of the United States and such other Governments as might be admitted as stockholders, is proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska.

Subscription by the Treasury Department to enough stock to control the bank is proposed, and the measure would provide that $900,000,000 of stock could be sold to "solvent Governments" admitted to participation under treaties or trade agreements negotiated by the President.

"The resources and facilities of the Bank of Nations shall be used to promote international commerce, to stabilize international credit and to stabilize international exchange."

The bank would have power to lend money, deal in securities and issue notes and currency, with a 33 per cent reserve.

The bill was referred without discussion to the Banking Committee.

DISABLED VETERAN SAID TO SING IN THREE VOICES AT ONCE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The Federal Board for Vocational Education has discovered a man whose vocation, apparently, is to be a chorus all by himself. He is Joseph Kaufman, disabled veteran, who is able, the board's announcement asserts, "to sing in three voices at one time," sounding like "three men side by side singing in unison." Only one similar case has ever been known in the United States.

Kaufman is described also "as an accomplished and versatile saxophone player," and has been placed in a Minneapolis school of music to prepare for a career in vaudeville.

STILLMAN UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION

Banker's Gardener Testifies of Hearing Wife Talk to Beauvais Over Phone.

By the Associated Press.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28.—James A. Stillman, New York banker, is reported to have gone on the witness stand this afternoon for cross-examination in his divorce suit against Mrs. Anne U. Stillman. The banker is said to have been taken into the building where Referee Gleason is holding hearings early this morning, before a corps of reporters and camera men posted themselves on the sidewalk. It was planned to have him remain inside until after nightfall in order to evade photographers, the newspaper men were informed.

An account of telephonic eavesdropping on a conversation between Mrs. Anne U. Stillman and Fred Beauvais was spread upon the record earlier in the day. Edward J. Lawler, landscape gardener at Stillman's estate in the Pocantico Hills, is understood to have related what he heard at dusk one evening, when Beauvais, in his room on the estate, talked over the long-distance telephone to Mrs. Stillman in New York. The witness, it is said, held the receiver of another cut-in line to his ear.

His testimony, it is said, told of Mrs. Stillman saying to the Indian guide, who is named as co-respondent in her husband's divorce action, that she was tired and fagged from a day of shopping and expected to retire immediately.

"Open the window and imagine that I am hugging you," Beauvais then said, according to an account of the gardener's testimony.

Testimony of Party.

Lawlor told of a party given by Mrs. Stillman in November, 1919, on the first anniversary of the birth of Guy Stillman, who, Stillman alleges, is the son of Beauvais.

There were several guests at this festivity, and shortly after it closed, Lawlor is quoted as saying, he found a note written to Beauvais by Mrs. Stillman, which, in substance, read: "Dear Freddie: This is Guy's birthday and I am sending you a piece of the cake."

The gardener's wife, Mrs. Ida Lawlor, a cook on the estate, also is declared to have recounted what occurred at the birthday party.

Robert H. Halloway, a friend of Stillman's since their college days, was another witness. He explained that the banker was with him in Boston, it is said, which is considered important in establishing the paternity of Guy Stillman. The time could not be learned.

ROBBER SLAIN AFTER GETTING $2500 IN GEMS IN AUTO RIDE

Frank J. Stuart, After Being Driven Around in His Car Following Holdup in Forest Park, Shoots Fleeing Youth at Park and Virginia Avenues.

YOUNG WOMAN IN AUTO WITH HIM

Stuart Gets Revolver From Seat Without Being Observed During Ride Into Town and Uses It When Two Robbers Leave Car.

One of two highwaymen, who had been addressed by his companion as "Jim," was shot and killed at 1:30 a. m. today at Park and Virginia avenues by Frank J. Stuart, 42 years old, married and living at 4142 Hartford street, after the robbers had forced Stuart and Miss Ada Summers, a guest at the Delmonte Hotel, 5636 Delmar boulevard, to ride about with them in Stuart's car for nearly two hours and had searched Stuart and taken from him jewelry which he valued at $2540. The other highwayman escaped with the jewelry.

Stuart is president of the Plapao Laboratories, incorporated, 1110-14 Locust street, and proprietor of the Stuart Plaster Pad Co. He told policemen Miss Summers was a friend of his family. At the Delmonte Hotel it was said she registered there last Monday from Yazoo City, Miss.

The slain robber was about 22 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall and had very light hair, combed straight back. He was neatly dressed in a brown and black checked suit and wore a new, cream-colored silk shirt and a gray plaid cap. The initial "W." was on his belt buckle.

Stuart and Miss Summers told policemen this man was repeatedly addressed by his companion as "Jim," and called the other robber "White."

Accosted on Art Hill.

Stuart and Miss Summers said they were sitting in Stuart's automobile on Art Hill in Forest Park, directly in front of the Art Museum, about 11:30 p. m., when two men appeared, one on either side of the machine. Both had revolvers. One of them, the man later killed by Stuart, said; "Hands up, and make it sudden. Keep still. If you make a holler we'll blow your brains out."

This man forced Stuart to get out of the front seat, where he had been sitting with Miss Summers, and get into the rear seat. He then sat with Stuart and called to the other man: "White, you take the wheel." The other man responded: "All right, Jim. Where will we go?"

"Jim" gave directions and the machine was started after "White" had asked Stuart if it had standard transmission and Stuart had replied that it had. The robber who sat with Stuart kept a revolver pressed against Stuart's side and told him to sit with his hands palms downward on the seat.

The machine was driven west on Clayton road, south to the Manchester road, west to the Denny road and north about three-quarters of a mile on the Denny road. "This'll do," said "Jim," and the machine was stopped.

Stuart Ordered Out of Car.

Stuart was ordered out of the machine, but Miss Summers was permitted to remain in the front seat. The robber called "Jim" covered Stuart with his revolver while the other searched Stuart and took from him a diamond-set Masonic ring, valued by Stuart at $2000; a gold watch and fob valued at $140 and an opal tie pin value dat $400. "White" put the jewelry in his pocket. As he took the ring off Stuart's finger he remarked, "Gee, this is the best thing you've got." Miss Summers was not searched.

"Now get back to town," said Jim. He again sat in the back seat with Stuart, pressing a revolver against him.

Stuart said that on the ride back to town he had a long parley with the robbers. He said to "Jim": "You are young fellows and you don't look like hardened criminals. If you don't stop this sort of thing you will land in the penitentiary."

"Don't hand us that stuff," replied the robber, "and don't be looking at me so much. This gun might go off. That sort of thing has happened before."

Stuart then suggested that they

CANADA FIGHTS RENEWAL OF THE TREATY WITH JAPAN

Premier Meighen Declares at Imperial Conference That Pact Has Served Purpose, That British Relations With United States Should Be Improved.

POSTPONEMENT OF QUESTION PROPOSED

Canadian and Australian Leaders Would Consult Colleagues at Home or Call Referendum; Moral Understandings Favored.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 29.—A speech by Premier Meighen of Canada on the Anglo-Japanese treaty entirely occupied this morning's session of the conference of Imperial Premiers. This afternoon Premier Hughes of Australia will give his views.

Meighen is understood to have opposed a renewal of the treaty on the ground that it already has served its purpose; and to have strongly presented the case of Canada, which is that everything possible should be done for preservation and improvement of the good relations between the United States and the British Empire.

Meighen was accompanied by Loring Christie, adviser to the Dominion Government on foreign affairs, and Capt. Armstrong, his private secretary.

It is understood the proposal was made that the question of renewal of the treaty should be postponed several months—in which case it automatically would continue—in order to enable the Canadian and Australian Premiers to return home to consult with their colleagues, and, if necessary, to have referendums of their people to uphold or reject the proposals settled at the imperial conference.

Shadow of Former Alliance.

To many persons here it appears that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is not to be renewed in its present form, although the discussion of the treaty by the conference of British Premiers has only begun. While Arthur J. Balfour and Lord Curzon, the only members of the conference thus far who have dealt with the subject, used due diplomatic caution in their speeches, according to information which may be regarded as authoritative, they left a clear impression that, while the British Government would like to have some form of understanding with Japan, it is not inclined to continue the present purely military agreement.

Inasmuch, therefore, as Premier Meighan of Canada and Premier Smuts of South Africa are strongly against an alliance of any kind, but favor a British-American-Japanese understanding instead, the clear prospect is that, if the alliance is renewed at all, it will be little more than a shadow of its former self.

Gen. Smuts is expected to attack the whole foreign policy of special alliances and will urge, instead, a mutual understanding with nations through moral and intellectual sympathy.

Curzon and Balfour Views.

In discussing the Anglo-Japanese alliance subject yesterday Lord Curzon confined himself to giving the facts, political and otherwise, needful for a full appreciation of the present position.

Among those who attended the morning session yesterday were J. Austen Chamberlain, Government leader in the House of Commons; A. J. Balfour, Lord President of the Council; Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies; Lord Lee, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans and Frederick E. Guest, representing the Admiralty, the War Office, and the air service, respectively. Premier Lloyd George presided.

Balfour approached the subject from the standpoint of his position as representative of the League of Nations, and laid stress on the necessity of bringing the alliance into line with the league requirements, rather than insisting upon any special British interest or emphasizing its imperial aspect. He is also chairman of the Defense Committee, and dealt with the subject also from that viewpoint.

It is understood the British Government has suggested to Japan a postponement of the date of renewal from July to October to permit opportunity to consult the United States, and that the Japanese Government has agreed.

Chinese View on Proposed Renewal of Alliance.

PEKIN, May 31.—Dr. C. T. Wang, one of China's delegates to the peace conference, commenting on the proposed renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, said to the Associated Press that talk of making the alliance acceptable to Britain, America, Japan and Australia with no mention of China, sounded as though the alliance was regarded as of no interest to China. If Australian Premier Hughes and others were purposely leaving China out of consideration, the only possible deduction was that they were interested only in fighting units and that they did not consider China as such, he said.

"In other words, instead of the alliance promoting peace, it is based on a consideration of war, and it tends to produce trouble. The procedure suggests that it is not the justice and right of a nation's cause and its policies, but rather its fighting strength that gains it consideration," he declared.

Messages From the Pope and the President to Archbishop Glennon

PLEASE inform the Archbishop of St. Louis that the Holy Father, rejoicing over the twenty-fifth anniversary of his episcopal consecration, expresses for him most especial good wishes. He cordially blesses him, and authorizes him to impart the apostolic blessing. He has also been pleased to appoint him assistant to the Pontiff's throne.

Presuming that the venerable autograph will not arrive in time, I am notifying you by cablegram.

CARDINAL GASPARRI.

PERMIT me to add my own to the many expressions of congratulations which will come to you on the occasion of your silver episcopal anniversary. I hope you will have many more years for happiness and useful service.

WARREN G. HARDING.

Among numerous other messages from notables was one from Archbishop Bonzano, apostolic delegate at Washington.

to join together in our devotion and consecration the home country we love and serve as citizens and the faith we profess, which, dealing with the spiritual, is limited only by the needs of humanity and the mercy of God."

Speaking of the religious conditions prevailing in St. Louis, the Archbishop said:

"I have received a number of greetings from non-Catholics. These also I deeply appreciate, as I do the continuous kindly feeling that exists between the various religious bodies in this city. Not only is there no religious bitterness, but on the contrary a mutual undertanding, which can be made, as it has been made, most helpful unto the civic and moral welfare of the people.

"Of course, this is not a new condition in St. Louis. It appears to be a characteristic of the city from its beginning, and today but shows the continuance of the culture, refinement and gentle manners of the olden days. And now, as we face the gravest problems in the history of our civilization, we need all that mutual forbearance and helpfulness that distinguished this city in the past."

Recalls the Past Years.

In closing, the Archbishop said:

"We did not encourage and did not desire that this jubilee of ours be especially emphasized, because it necessarily introduces that personal note. I am cultivating a hope, however, that if Providence spares us, the centenary of our diocese will be made a memorable event, and that in 1926, which marks this centenary, with our Cathedral, seminaries, universities, high schools, parishes and parish churches finished and fully equipped, we will be ready to thank God specially and rejoice with Him in a centennial celebration that shall be worthy of the archdiocese of St. Louis, the Bishops, priests and people.

"Celebrations such as these are intended to be joyous, and such we desire them to be, yet we may not forget that jubilees also record the years that are gone, and that will not return—they remind us of so many milestones passed along the life journey; and inevitably the passing of each one brings us nearer the end. So the vespers of our jubilee are made up of the gathering shadows, and the coming at no distant date of that event which ends all uncertainty, and towards which we all are hastening. It also reminds us that whatever time is left must be made use of with the advantages of a ripened experience and God's benediction: and in the meantime if we do well, we may hope when the end comes all will be well."

Cathedral Filled for Ceremony.

The last occasion on which a pontifical mass was celebrated here, other than on Christmas, Easter and the Feast of the Pentecost, was when Cardinal Mercier, the famous Belgian churchman, visited St. Louis. The music today was furnished by the cathedral choir, directed by Prof. William Theodor Diebels. The mass was the Missa de Angelus.

Hundreds of priests and nuns who are teachers in parochial schools were present, and the scene was a solemn and impressive one. The cathedral, with a seating capacity of 2700, was filled, and some were standing.

The jubilee mass was attended by a large gathering, representing practically all the St. Louis and suburban parishes. The priests assisting Archbishop Glennon in the mass were:

Assistant priest, Very Rev. M. S. Ryan, C. M.; deacons of honor, Very Rev. M. J. O'Connor, S. J., and Very Rev. P. Hillary, O. F. M.; deacons of the mass, the Rev. C. L. Van Tourenhout, P. R., and the Rev. J. Murray; masters of ceremonies, the Rev. M. Brinkner, the Rev. J. P. Spencer, S. T. L.; the Rev. M. S. Brennan, D. D.

Luncheon Follows Mass.

A luncheon in Cathedral Hall followed the mass, with the Rev. Francis Gilfillan, pastor of the New Cathedral, as toastmaster. Toasts were "Our Most Reverend Jubilator," by the Rev. J. J. McGlynn, and "Our Diocesan Clergy," by the Rev. J. Wentker.

At 8 o'clock tonight pontifical benediction is to be given in the Cathedral, followed by a reception on the Cathedral lawn. At this reception the Archbishop will be presented with the fund raised for education by the parishes of the diocese. Of this fund of $250,000, approximately one-half has been paid and one-half is in pledges. The Very Rev. J. J. Tannrath, chairman of the Jubilee Fund Committee, will make this presentation.

The Catholic women of St. Louis will present a written address of congratulation, through a committee headed by Mrs. W. T. Donovan.

Prelate's Consecration as Bishop Was in Kansas City in 1896.

Twenty-five years ago today, on June 29, 1896, the consecration of Bishop Glennon occurred in Kansas City. He was then 34 years old, and he has lately passed his fifty-ninth birthday. He was born and educated in Ireland, and became an assistant in St. Patrick's Church, Kansas City, in 1884. He was pastor of the Cathedral, under Bishop Hogan, from 1887 to 1892, and was Vicar-General of the diocese from 1892 to 1894, and Administrator of the diocese in 1894 and 1895.

Following his consecration, he served as Coadjutor Bishop of Kansas City, with right of succession, until April, 1903, when he was made Coadjutor Bishop of St. Louis, with right of succession. He became Archbishop of St. Louis upon the death of Archbishop Kain in October, 1903. Achievements of his period as Archbishop are the building of the new Cathedral and of the new Kenrick Seminary, in Glennon Park, Webster Groves.

William C. McBride, in whose memory the $250,000 gift for a boys' high school was made by his wife, was a wealthy independent oil operator, who died in 1917. Mr. and Mrs. McBride were the donors of the $100,000 marble altar of the New Cathedral. The family came to St. Louis from Pittsburg in 1909. One of the daughters, Miss Kathleen McBride, was the first bride married in the New Cathedral, her marriage to Lacy M. Love being solemnized there in October, 1914. Her first husband has since died, and she was married recently to Dr. I. D. Kelley.

Rickards Chief of Militia Bureau.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The nomination of George C. Rickards, a Brigadier-General of the Pennsylvania National Guard, to be Chief of the War Department Militia Bureau, with the rank of Major-General, was confirmed yesterday by the Senate. The appointment of Gen. Rickards was criticised by Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, who said that Adjutant-General Charles I. Martin of Kansas, had been indorsed by Governors of 35 states.

BELLEVILLE TO HAVE ARMY BALLOON SCHOOL

Board of Trade Informed Hangar to Cost $2,000,000 Will Be Erected on Scott Field.

Announcement that an army balloon training school will be established at Scott Field, near Belleville, and that the construction of an immense hangar at the cost of about $2,000,000 will be started at once, was contained today in a telegram received by the Belleville Board of Trade from its secretary-manager, Edward F. Daley, who is in Washington in the interest of the project.

Daley's telegram, which arrived at noon, and was read at a hastily called meeting of the board, stated that Secretary of War Weeks today approved the plans for the hangar, and that the work would begin at once. Fourteen months will be required to complete it, he added.

The hangar, Daley's message continued, will be 900 feet long, 300 feet wide and 160 feet high, and will be capable of housing the largest dirigible balloon in the army service.

Scott Field, which during the war was a training camp for men in the air service, has been manned for more than a year by a small squad of men. A few airplanes have been stationed there, but the post has been used as a depot, rather than a training camp. It never was a training school for the balloon corps, but only for aviators.

A syndicate announced recently that it would erect a large, modern hotel in Belleville if the Government decided to locate the balloon training school at Scott Field.

ISMID EVACUATED BY GREEKS; TOWN IS REPORTED BURNING

British Undersecretary Says Allies Are Taking Steps to Prevent Massacre.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 29.—The position of the Ismid Peninsula in Asia Minor, where the Greeks and Turkish Nationalist forces are opposed to each other, is obscure, Cecil B. Harmsworth, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, stated in the House of Commons today. Information received this morning, however, he added, was that the town of Ismid had been evacuated by the Greeks and was burning, with the result that there was great panic in the district.

Harmsworth said there was danger of a considerable massacre and the allied representatives were taking steps to prevent such an occurrence.

LONDON, June 29.—The statue of George Washington, which was presented to the country by the State of Virginia as part of the movement to seal Anglo-American friendship, will be unveiled at the end of this week in Trafalgar Square, where the British Government has given a site.

The unveiling of the statue, says the Manchester Guardian, will round off the series of presentations made in the last few months in the cause of friendship between the two countries.

ESTATE OF JOHN SHEEHAN WAS DISPOSED OF IN 1913

An inventory of the estate of John Sheehan, one of the Sheehan twins, who died April 21 at his home, 2305 St. Louis avenue, was filed in the Probate Court today. It sets forth that he disposed of his property by a deed of settlement Dec. 18, 1913, and made a will at the same date ratifying the deed of settlement. John F. Lee, attorney, told a reporter that the value of the estate was about $250,000 and that it was conveyed to various charities and to the following relatives: Mary S. Lamy, John Sheehan Jr., James J. Burke, Mary G. Burke, Catherine Umier, all of St. Louis, and John E. Burke of San Diego, Cal.

Man Burned by Explosion in Tank.

Steve Littleton, 23, of 1817 Olive street, a welder at the Friede Welding Co., 3127 Pine street, was severely burned about the face and shoulders shortly before noon today when an explosion occurred in the tank of a gasoline truck, near which he was working with a blow torch. Fumes inside the empty tank were ignited and caused the explosion. Littleton was taken to the Baptist Hospital, where his injuries were pronounced serious.

MAIL ROBBER TRIES TO CHLOROFORM STATION OPERATOR

Escapes With Pouch at Centralia, Mo.; Man Taken From Train, Held at St. Charles.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CENTRALIA, Mo., June 29.—A robber at the Chicago & Alton station here last night, after a futile attempt to chloroform Clayton Bell, night operator, escaped with a pouch of mail which had just been deposited for Centralia from a Kansas City train. The contents of the pouch are not known here.

Bell, 23 years old, was alone in the station, and unarmed, when the robber appeared at the window and pointed a revolver at him. Bell dropped to the floor and crawled under the instrument table.

The robber broke a window, crawled in, stood Bell in a corner, and, pouring chloroform from a bottle upon a handkerchief, held the handkerchief over Bell's face. Just then a freight train approached and the robber snatched up a mail pouch and fled.

Following receipt of a message that a robber held up the night operator at the Chicago & Alton passenger station at Centralia, Mo., last night, and escaped with a pouch of mail, Sheriff Grothe of St. Charles today arrested a man found riding on the top of a sleeping car attached to the Wabash train from Kansas City to St. Louis. This train passes through Centralia.

Members of the Wabash train crew said that when the train stopped at High Hill for water early today, the man climbed out of the water tank, in which he had been submerged to the shoulders. He ran away, but when the train arrived in St. Charles Sheriff Grothe, who was on the lookout, saw him on the sleeper. He gave his name as Arthur Rumsey, 32 years old, and said he was a hobo. He denied knowing anything about the robbery at Centralia.

make a deal. "I'll buy that stuff back from you," he said.

"What do you think we are," replied "Jim." "You'd have detectives and bulls all around us."

Cautioned Against Reporting Loss.

Stuart offered to give $400 for the jewelry, but the robber in the front seat objected, saying: "That ring alone may be worth more than that. We'll keep the stuff and you'd better not make a report to the police. The last fellow that did that was filled full of lead."

Stuart said he told the men he would report the robbery to the police, and they warned him not to give accurate descriptions of them. After more parleying, Stuart took a piece of paper from his pocket and wrote his name and telephone number on it and gave it to "Jim," saying that if they wanted to consider a settlement they could call him up. This paper was found in the slain robber's pocket.

On the way into St. Louis Stuart asked the robbers why they were bringing him back to town. One of them replied: "We don't want to walk so far. We took a big, fat fellow out once and he ran out of gas, and we had a long walk."

Holds Hand Over His Face.

Throughout the ride, Stuart said, "Jim" would hold his hand over his face when they passed other automobiles. The robber explained this by saying: "Nobody ever got a look at me yet, and I don't want them to see me now."

When Stuart asked the men why they turned robbers the man in the front seat replied: "Work's hard to get. We've got to eat and pay room rent, and I've got a wife that's a doll."

Stuart said that on the ride into the city he remembered that his chauffeur some time ago had placed an automatic pistol under one of the folding seats in the tonneau. During the parley he opened this seat and moved forward on the pretense that he could not hear what "White" was saying.

When the machine stopped at Park and Virginia avenues he reached under the seat and picked up the pistol without being observed.

The robbers got out, commanding Stuart and Miss Summers to remain in the car.

Robber's Weapon Fails to Fire.

When the robbers had gone about 50 feet Stuart followed with the pistol. He called to them: "Hands up. It's my turn now."

The robber, "White" ran, but "Jim" turned and leveled his revolver and pulled the trigger twice, but the weapon failed to shoot.

Stuart then fired three shots at the robber. At the second shot the robber staggered and ran into an alley in which the other robber had disappeared. He was found dead near the mouth of the alley. A bullet had entered the right side of his chest. There was a flesh wound on his right hand.

After the shooting Stuart drove to Grand and Chouteau avenues, where he found a policeman and took him back to the scene of the shooting.

The robber's revolver was found in his pocket. It had four loaded cartridges, with trigger marks on two of them.

A piece of paper with the address 5425 Minnesota avenue was found in the robber's pocket. At that address it was said no one answering the robber's description was known there. It was said several electricians and paper hangers and other workmen recently had been employed to remodel and decorate the house.

Stuart and Miss Summers were taken to a police station, but were released after being questioned. Stuart telephoned to his wife from the station.

Policeman Questions Girl.

At the Delmonte Hotel today it was said Miss Summers went out last night and returned about 3 a. m., leaving instructions that she be not disturbed. To a Post-Dispatch reporter she sent word that she would not see anyone but Stuart or members of the Police Department.

Miss Summers told policemen that during the ride White talked in a light vein about other robberies he and his companion had committed and complimented her because she did not seem nervous. A policeman went to the hotel and questioned Miss Summers this morning. While the policeman was there Stuart arrived at the hotel and joined the policeman and Miss Summers in her room. After the conference the policeman said Miss Summers' account of the robbery did not differ from the one given by Stuart after the shooting.

After the policeman's visit to the hotel two detectives were sent there with instructions to take Miss Summers to headquarters for further questioning. They learned that Miss Summers and a young woman, who registered as Miss Mabel Paxtor of Milan, Tenn., had been at the hotel together, occupying the same room since Monday night.

The young women were not at the hotel when the detectives arrived. Effects in the room were searched by the detectives, who found several letters addressed to women of different names. The letters had been opened. Some were addressed to Evelyn Love Martin, Statler Hotel, St. Louis. Others were addressed to Minnie Waller. Most of the letters bore Kentucky and Tennessee postmarks.

Holdup at Company's Office.

On Dec. 28 last, at 2:30 p. m., Miss Maud McHenry of 4237 Juniata street, cashier for the Plapao Laboratories, Inc., of which Stuart is president, was held up on the stairway leading from the street to the second floor of the company's offices and was robbed of $531.90 payroll money. Miss McHenry had just returned from a bank and was carrying the money in a leather handbag. A man wearing a brown overcoat and brown hat stopped her when she was halfway up the stairs, and, pointing an automatic pistol at her, compelled her to hand over the bag. He escaped.

Poor Art Student's Dream of Dreams Comes True

His Picture, "A Tribute to Heroism," Wins Great Prize, Just as He Gets Eviction Notice.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Frank Schwarz, a boy just past 20, struggling for an art career, received two communications yesterday. One was slipped under his door by a messenger, and came first. It was a notice from his landlord that, if he did not pay the $12 due for a month's rent of the miserable little apartment he occupied, he would be evicted. Without money, without friends, the world looked very dark.

Then he heard the postman's whistle in the hall, five flights down. He listlessly descended the stairs and found a large, official looking envelope for him. He tore it open and—stared.

Then he ran up the five flights of stairs to his room and let out a whoop that aroused all the other tenants in the tenement. For the letter informed him that he had won the Prix de Rome, entitling him to a three years' course in the American Academy in Rome, with an allowance of $1000 a year for his support.

Out into the street the excited boy rushed, sold all his effects to a secondhand man, and then telephoned to Roscoe Guernsey, secretary of the American Academy, donor of the prize, and found that it had been practically decided to give him the summer course at Oyster Bay as a secondary prize for the merit of his winning picture, "A Tribute to Heroism."

Then, after the boy had disappeared, a man came puffing up the stairs asking for him. It was his father, who has been looking for him for the past three years. The family lived in Chicago, but broke up when the mother died seven years ago.

The elder Schwarz is a waiter and had wanted Harry to go into a business he could make a living at instead of trying to study art. Harry left the family and had not seen his father since. He served in the camouflage division in France during the war and nearly died of pneumonia after he had been mustered out here, but he kept plugging along with his pictures and has finally attained a triumph, just when the outlook was at its darkest.

Manuel Herrick of Oklahoma, whose autobiography in the Congressional Directory informs the public that he has devoted most of his life to the raising of Herrick's Giant Yellow Corn and Copper-faced Hereford Cattle.

In his role as observer of naval operations, the Congressman had many questions to ask of the ship's officers. He wanted to know the speed of a range finder and what kind of weather was expected.

His own prediction was that the waves surely would rise to a height of 30 feet.

On the bridge the Congressman took a squint through the wrong end of a telescope. He turned away in disgust. "Here's a sample," he said, "of the way the navy wastes millions of dollars on useless equipment."

The Congressman said he was having a great time. It was good to get away from the grind of his congressional duties.

"You get ennu-eyed in Congress," he explained.

Turtle-Backed Vessels.

Turtle-backed vessels, with the steel shell completely covering the upper works of the ship, will be designed to withstand aerial attacks, in the judgment of Rear Admiral W. F. Fullam, a prominent advocate of the three-plane navy—a navy in the air, on the water's surface and under the surface.

The Admiral was aboard the Henderson to see the attack on the Iowa.

"We must have an amphibious plane to land alongside the mother ship," he said. "If such a vessel is designed, it can make a landing on the lee side in a heavy sea and be hoisted to the deck with a tackle, thereby avoiding the chance of wrecking the plane in attempting to land on the ship's deck.

"I think the possibilities of successful operations against capital ships from the air great. Some persons seem to think that an aerial attack would be unsuccessful unless it actually sank the ship. If a bomb went through several decks it would work such havoc with the mechanism of the vessel, and would shell-shock the crew to such an extent that the ship would be useless, even though it was not sunk. You don't have to bury a man after you shoot his head off to kill him."

NEW HOUSE REPUBLICANS CALL "ACTION" CONFERENCE

Ansorge of New York Among 11 Arranging Meeting to End Delay on Tax and Tariff Legislation.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Representative Ansorge of New York issued a statement today asserting that the new Republican members of the House were dissatisfied with the progress made by Congress at the present special session and disclosing that he and 10 others had joined in a call for a conference tomorrow night of approximately 100 new Republican members to discuss the situation

Ansorge said none of the objects for which Congress was called into special session had been accomplished.

"Purpose Not Accomplished."

"Congress was called into special session for certain definite purposes, namely, for revision of the cumbersome, unwieldly and inequitable system of taxation, the passage of a fair protective tariff and the passage of a peace resolution. None of these objects have as yet been accomplished, nor is there any definite promise as to when they will sion, and we want to see action, spelled with a capital A.

"We believe, with the Republican party, that what is best for the country is best for the party, and we want to impress that thought on some of the older members. Many of them have been here so long they seem to have forgotten it.

No Spirit of Revolt.

"We are not meeting in any spirit of revolt. We have come more recently from the people and our opinion should have some weight. Congress is all tied up with red tape. We want to cut some of that red tape and substitute action for delay. The seniority rule can go too far. We feel that our districts have as much right to representation as has Uncle Joe Cannon's.

"This is not a new thought. I have talked it over with the new members and they believe that conferences from time to time will serve a good purpose."

Others who signed the call for the conference are Representatives Clarke, New York; Gerrard, Pennsylvania; Knight, Ohio; Hogan, New York; Arentz, Nevada; Beck, Wis-

ACTION ON BALLOT FRAUDS MUST BE TAKEN BY AUG. 2

Grand Jury Can Make No Inquiry After That Because Ballots Must Be Destroyed Year After Primary.

42 INDICTMENTS MADE STILL STAND

Sidener Consulting With Hyde and Barrett on Steps to Be Taken in Prosecution of Election Cases.

At the end of 12 months after the election, the ballots shall be destroyed; provided that if any prosecution shall be pending, the ballots shall not be destroyed until such prosecution be finally determined.—Revised Statutes of Missouri, section 6228.

Unless action is taken by the present grand jury during the month of July, further investigation or prosecution of the extensive ballot frauds committed in the city and State primary of Aug. 2 last will probably be impossible.

On the anniversary of the primary, Aug. 2, the Election Board will be required by law to destroy all the ballots cast in the primary, unless prosecutions are then pending. With the ballots destroyed, it will be impossible to prove the frauds.

Of the 59 indictments which were returned against precinct judges and clerks last fall, charging false count and return in the primary, 16 were recently dismissed by Judge Hartmann, on his construction of the State Supreme Court's ruling in the Feinstein case. Forty-two indictments still stand, and one defendant has died. The 42 remaining indictments may be dismissed at any time. If they should be dismissed before Aug. 2, and no new prosecutions should be instituted, the destruction of the ballots on that day would be required.

Reindictment Favored.

Judge Hartmann, in dismissing the 16 indictments, expressed the opinion that the men should be reindicted, upon evidence which would conform to the Supreme Court's ruling. The regular way to bring about reindictment of the 16 men, and of the 42 whose cases may be dismissed later, would be for the Judge in charge of the grand jury to direct the grand jury to take up the cases. Judge Landwehr is now in charge of the grand jury.

Judge Landwehr said today that he was ready to instruct the grand jury to take up the cases, if the Circuit Attorney believes they can be prosecuted successfully in conformity with the Supreme Court's decision. He said he would confer with Circuit Attorney Sidener. The Circuit Attorney has made no announcement as to his plan for dealing with the cases. Judge Landwehr said the grand jury would have the right to take the matter up without special instructions from him.

The Election Board today made public the written opinion of four lawyers, versed in election matters, to the effect that cases of false count and return, in the last August primary, can be prosecuted without conflicting with the Supreme Court's ruling.

These lawyers are Henry Kortjohn, former chairman of the Election Board; Charles M. Hay, who has taken part in these cases in behalf of the League of Women Voters; Everett Paul Griffin, who was requested by Daniel N. Kirby to give an opinion on behalf of the Bar Association, and E. A. Feehan, lately Assistant Circuit Attorney, who had charge of the presentation of the primary fraud cases to the grand jury last fall and who has made a study of the election laws of this and other states.

The Attorney-General's office in Jefferson City today announced, in an opinion prepared by Assistant Attorney-General Otis, that it will be legal, under the Supreme Court's ruling, to compel the production of ballot boxes and their contents, and of the returns signed by election officials, to be compared as an evidence of fraud. The production of the poll books and numbered lists of voters, which was the element invalidating the other cases, is not necessary in order to establish fraud, Otis held.

Edwards in Favor of Action.

Chairman Edwards of the Election Board, speaking for the board, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today:

"This board sees no reason under the sun why the investigation of frauds committed in the primary of last August, and of any which may have been committed in the March primary, should not be taken up by the grand jury. In the case of the August primary frauds, the element of time is important, as the law requires us to destroy the ballots a year after the election unless prosecutions are pending.

Evidence of Fraud in Ten Precincts.

"The investigation of fraud was by no means complete at the time when it was blocked by the Feinstein proceeding last fall. There are several precincts which have not been reached, and which the grand jury should look into."

The Feinstein proceeding was instituted after the grand jury had investigated the returns of 12 precincts, had found evidence of fraud in 10 of the precincts, and had indicted all the election officials, Republican and Democratic, in those 10 precincts, with the exception of one who took no part in the frauds, and who testified before the grand jury.

H. S. Feinstein, a Republican judge of election in a Twenty-fifth Ward precinct, filed suit as a voter to protect the secrecy of his own ballot, and to prevent the grand jury from examining the ballots cast in his precinct, on the ground that the subpena called for the production of the poll books. This, he contended, would make it possible to determine how any individual voted.

The Supreme Court's decision granting Feinstein a writ of prohibition, declared that nothing should be done to disclose how any voter voted. In the opinion of the lawyers who have been named, the Supreme Court left the way open for examination of ballots by the grand jury without use of the poll books, so that secrecy of the ballot would not be violated.

Sidener to Consult Hyde.

Circuit Attorney Sidener was in Jefferson City yesterday. He announced before leaving that he intended to consult with Gov. Hyde and Attorney-General Barrett, both about amendment of the election laws to deal with future fraud, and about the course to be taken in the cases of last August. Sidener, while at Jefferson City, did some work in the interest of his bill to consolidate the Prosecuting Attorney's office with his own. He said today that he did not succeed in seeing the Governor or the Attorney-General about the election fraud matters, but that he left a memorandum with the Governor's secretary, and would try to see the Governor here today on the subject.

How Carpentier and Dempsey Won Their Greatest Battles

Dempsey's knockout blow to Willard's chin at Toledo. This photograph was made by a Post-Dispatch staff photographer.

Descriptions of the Frenchman's Fight in London With Joe Beckett, Which Lasted 74 Seconds, and the American Champion's Victory in His Contest With Jess Willard in the Third Round at Toledo.

"I HOPE Carpentier wins, but I am afraid Dempsey is going to knock his block off." This is the substance of the comment now heard most frequently whenever the conversation turns to the big fight to take place in Jersey City Saturday. Especially among the women is the sentiment preponderantly in favor of the French champion. Nine out of 10 will express a desire to see the European war hero beat his American rival, but at the same time betting on Carpentier shows the odds heavily against him.

Were there no other factor to consider in explaining the overwhelming pro-Carpentier sentiment among the women, fight followers assert, it might be sufficient to point to the Paris label plus good looks, good manners, a perfect physique and the peculiar fascination attending the personality of a gentleman stranger. But among members of both sexes the feeling is frankly expressed that Dempsey evaded fighting when fighting was the chief business of the American nation, and that Carpentier displayed better sportsmanship in taking chances as a flier in the French aviation service than Dempsey did in confining his war career to a shipyard.

When Carpentier Beat Joe Beckett.

To readers who are not followers of the sport page, the Post-Dispatch herewith presents views of both Dempsey and Carpentier in their latest great fights.

On Dec. 4, 1919, Carpentier won the heavyweight championship of Europe when he knocked out Joe Beckett, the British champion, in London, in 74 seconds after the gong sounded. In the photograph he is shown leaping from his corner at the gong and sending a left to Beckett's jaw.

Carpentier, 25 years old at the time of the Beckett fight, entered the ring at 170 pounds, while Beckett held a weight advantage of nearly 30 pounds. A cable report of the fight says:

"At the sound of the gong Carpentier leaped at Beckett, landing a vicious left on the jaw. He followed this with two more lefts, then missed on purpose to follow with a terrific right to the jaw which sent Beckett to the mat for the count."

The photograph of the Willard-Dempsey fight, which took place at Toledo, July 4, 1919, shows Dempsey delivering the blow to Willard's chin which sent the already battered champion down for the seventh and last time in the third round. Dempsey entered the ring at 183 pounds, while Willard weighed 230. Dempsey was 24 years old and the title holder 37. Although Willard did hold an advantage of five inches in height, the difference is unduly exaggerated in the photograph because of the position of the photographer.

Following is a description of the Willard-Dempsey fight from the ringside report of a Post-Dispatch corre-

"Confidence was stamped on every lineament of Willard's features when he entered the ring at Toledo. He saluted the 50,000 persons present and strode over to Dempsey's corner and shook hands with the challenger. Dempsey half rose from his chair and shook hands, barely glancing at the visitor. No time was wasted in introductions and 10 minutes after the fighters entered the ring the gong sounded, starting the first round.

Dempsey Hit Willard Over the Heart.

"The fighters leaped from their corners and the fight was on. In an instant they were together. Willard jabbed Dempsey twice. The champion was standing straight up, smiling again and staring easily. He didn't put much behind his jabs, and Dempsey hardly noticed them. Dempsey was crouching and moving swiftly. As Willard advanced Jack turned and stepped swiftly away to draw Willard on, turning like a flash to meet him. Willard stopped. Again Willard stepped forward and Dempsey turned half away, only to whirl and slip close under Willard's left arm and drive a terrific right hook to Willard's side just over the heart. Instantly Dempsey stepped away. Over Willard's ribs a round, red mark snowed where Dempsey's crushing blow had landed.

"Annoyed, perhaps, because his careful guard had failed, the big champion stepped forward a pace and, missing a jab, followed with a short right that landed lightly and didn't move Dempsey's lowered head back an inch. Twice more Jess jabbed and tried a short right as they closed, but without hitting Dempsey effectively. Dempsey swiftly turned away again, flashed back and, leaping in, drove a solid right into the pit of Willard's stomach before the big fellow could make a move to defend himself.

Willard Crumpled Under Rain of Blows.

"The blow brought Willard up standing and in an instant, while their bodies were almost touching, Dempsey whipped that curving left overhand blow over Willard's lowered arms and caught him on the right eye. It was the same blow that stunned Fulton and made him easy for a first round knockout. It didn't put Willard down, but it settled the outcome of the fight then and there. The effect of it was as if Willard had been struck with a hammer. His eyebrow was gashed and in an instant his eye and the whole side of his face puffed out of shape.

"Then Dempsey cut loose with the full fury of his attack. He no longer turned deftly to avoid Willard's punches and draw him on. Standing close, toes square to the front, balanced on both feet and leaning in, he hit as fast as he could with both hands. The gloves crashed on body and jaw. Startled, amazed, 50,000 spectators gasped at the sight of Willard beaten back along the ropes, beaten across the ring, reeling, trying with bulk and strength to stand up before that cyclonic furious rush.

"Willard was being beaten down like anyone of the 20 men Dempsey has knocked out in a single round. The champion was reeling backward. Heaving from side to side, shifting lightly, Dempsey at last threw all of his splendid youthful strength into a crashing right that caught Willard squarely on the chin. Willard fell with a thud. His right eye was closed. His left was popped wide open.

"Dempsey stood back, not eager, not excited. Willard pushed his great bulk up from the floor, but was bent over, crouching and reeling, and Dempsey was after him, driving in blow after blow and taking no blows in return. Willard was game enough, but nothing human could have stood against the storm. Willard went down again and again. Each time he touched the floor he arose more slowly and heavily.

Willard's Feeble Effort to Come Back.

"At the end of the round he was down in another corner and the count had reached seven again when the timekeeper blew the whistle and tinkled the gong. The seconds dragged Willard, half conscious, to a chair and the crowd surged up, believing the fight to be over. Dempsey even started to his dressing room, but was waved back into the ring.

"The minute rest did not do much for Willard, but he stood up and walked unsteadily across the ring with his hands in position to fight. They met. Dempsey sent furious blows, but Willard refused to fall, and he drove the challenger's head back with repeated uppercuts, but his strength had gone from him. Willard then became desperate. He struck wildly and was hurled across the ropes. The timekeeper began counting. It seemed impossible for him to recover, but he rallied and sent such a vicious jab at Dempsey's jaw that the challenger's knees bent. It was apparent that Dempsey was growing weary from hammering his huge adversary. The gong sounded and they had another minute's rest.

"Back they came for the third round, Willard a gory and battered object. Again and again Dempsey landed clean punches on Willard's chin and Willard could only paw blindly in return. His eye was closed, the right side of his face puffed and he was gasping for breath. Dempsey had him in a corner and with the utmost deliberation measured him for the knockout blow. When he struck Willard held his feet and lunged back with all the strength he had left. Dempsey hammered him back and followed close. The title holder sank under a storm of blows to sit on the floor looking up at his destroyer.

"Again Willard was helped to his corner and the crowd was yelling to the referee to "stop it." Pecord might have acted if Willard had come up again, but Ray Archer, his friend, tossed a stained water-soaked towel into the ring and the fight was over.

"Dempsey was the new champion of the world."

ANOTHER GERMAN PAYMENT TO REPARATION COMMISSION

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 29.—Germany today paid 44,000,000 gold marks to the Reparations Commission. The payment was in European currency because of the commission's recent decision temporarily not to require dollar payments because of the adverse effect on exchange.

Yesterday's payment makes a total of about one-quarter of a billion marks that Germany has turned over to the Reparations Commission.

SPANKING WITH HER DIVORCE

OMAHA, Neb., June 29.—Nora Cobb, 16 years old, will get her divorce, but she will get a spanking along with it, Judge Leslie announced today in receiving the girl's application.

30 MEN ARRESTED IN 'NIGHT RIDER' RAIDS

Five Ex-Convicts Among Eight Prisoners Picked Up at Second and Poplar Streets.

Thirty men known to the police as ex-convicts, thieves and gangsters were arrested last night at various places by the police "night riders" and other detectives, and were locked up for investigation.

Eight men were arrested at Second and Poplar streets. Five of them were ex-convicts, while two were known to the police as burglars and one as a gunman.

Four known gangsters were picked up at Jefferson avenue and Mullanphy street. Of the other arrests, two were made at Twenty-first and Olive, three at Sixth and Walnut, two at Thirteenth and Franklin, three at Eighth and Franklin, two at Park and Mississippi, two at Eighteenth and Papin, two at Jefferson and Walnut and two at Tenth and Market.

PARDON FOR EX-ARMY CHAPLAIN, CONVICTED ON TREASON CHARGE

Franz J. Feinler Was Sentenced for Statements Showing Sympathy With Germany.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Franz J. Feinler, a former regular army chaplain, who was dismissed from the service and sentenced to 15 years in the Federal penitentiary in 1918 on charges of uttering treasonable language, has been pardoned by President Harding. Feinler has been at liberty on parole for nearly a year.

Feinler, a native of Germany, entered the army as a chaplain from South Dakota, and was sent overseas early in the war, but was returned because of alleged statements showing German sympathy.

Assigned to the station at Honolulu, he carried on there a propaganda favorable to the enemy, it was said, and his trial followed.

Secretary Weeks recommended a pardon on the ground, it was said, that Feinler already had been punished sufficiently. The pardon was dated May 18.

SENATE ADOPTS SUBSTITUTE RESOLUTION ON IRELAND

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 29.—The Senate today adopted a resolution prepared by the Judiciary Committee as a substitute for one introduced by Senator McCullough Monday, asking President Harding to use his good offices to establish free government and peace in Ireland. It asked that this country follow its traditional policy of recognition without intervention.

BIG FIRM ANNOUNCES. TO BARRETT HERE IT WILL QUIT ASSOCIATION

sured the Attorney-General that the city administration and the citizens of St. Louis wanted to see the building materials investigation and resultant actions carried to a speedy and effective conclusion to the end that materials prices might be decreased if possible.

Former Mayor Kreismann, having been concerned in the housing relief venture, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, joined with the builder in describing the difficulty of providing homes under existing cost conditions. Mayor Kiel and Judge Garesche concurred. All agreed that lower price results were desired and speedily. They then asked Attorney-General Barrett if withdrawal of firms convinced that practices of some of the associations are wrong, would help the cause, receiving an affirmative reply.

Ready to Quit Organization.

After Attorney-General Barrett had been told that none of the conferees had any idea that prosecutions were to be stopped or retarded or that immunity was to be obtained thereby, he was informed that one of the large material operators was ready to quit his association.

In response to a telephoned invitation from one of the conferees this man appeared in about 15 minutes and reiterated to Attorney-General Barrett his determination to shake off his organization ties, declaring that he did not expect that act in any way to stand between his firm and whatever responsibility might attach to it under the anti-trust suits.

Others Expected to Follow.

Attorney-General Barrett, having nothing to lose and all to gain by this sort of transaction, agreed. Shortly thereafter the gathering broke up with the understanding that the material man within a day or two will take steps to sever the connection of his corporation with the association involved. It was the opinion of the conference that others will follow his example.

After other conferences with persons who are gathering evidence for him against the material men, Attorney-General Barrett and Otto returned last night to Jefferson City.

Attorney-General Barrett is known to feel that the morale of the material men is breaking, as his investigators have been informed that secret discounts are being given in increasing numbers, which he takes to be the first step toward a price decline. Then, too, a number of attorneys and others directly or indirectly connected with the associations under fire have sought conferences with him since his announcement of the forthcoming suits. Where additional evidence was to be obtained, the audiences have been granted, all others being refused.

WAR VETERANS INVADE SOCIALIST CONVENTION

Warn Delegates They Are Ready to "Defend Flag Against Sedition, Disloyalty and Treason."

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, June 29.—Fifty delegates to the convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War invaded the Socialist national convention shortly after noon today and warned the Socialists that the veterans are ready to "fight again to defend the flag against sedition, disloyalty and treason."

Ralph Horr of Seattle, who led the invading veterans, told the Socialists that advocates of force would be met with force and invited the radicals to "step outside if they wanted to fight for their beliefs."

Horr quoted from printed reports of the remarks of J. Louis Engdahl, to the general effect that his section of the party would fight "not as 100 per cent Americans but under the red flag of international socialism."

"I hope these reports do not represent the sentiment of your convention," Horr said; "but if they do represent the ideas of any among you, we have come to tell you here that it is our intention to deal with these people. We have had occasion in Seattle to use machine guns to stamp out disloyalty, sedition and treason and those guns can be used again."

Cameron King, Socialist delegate from California, replied in behalf of the Socialists.

"We appreciate the sacrifices the disabled veterans of the World War have made," he said. "We understand the impulses that drove you to that sacrifice. At the same time we have made sacrifices. We did not believe when war was declared that it was a just war, and because we so believed many of our comrades have been imprisoned.

"As American citizens we claim the right of free speech and free assembly and we are going to stand on these rights."

The visit of the veterans was made without disorder. After the talks were made the former soldiers withdrew.

The disabled veterans marched yesterday in a parade intended as a mute appeal to the country for more speedy relief for American wounded.

The parade was headed by a float depicting a poppy-covered grave in Flanders Field, in memory of war dead. Several thousand disabled soldiers marched or rode in the parade.

WOMAN AMONG TENTATIVE JURORS FOR MRS. KABER'S TRIAL

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., June 29.—Efforts to get a jury to try Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber on a charge of plotting the murder of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, in their Lakewood home July 18, 1919, continued today in Judge Maurice Bernon's court.

Three jurors had been tentatively accepted when court convened this morning out of a total of 13 examined. One of the three was a woman, Mrs. Cora K. Burg, who was seated after Judge Bernon ruled that women are acceptable for jury service, thereby disallowing a motion made by Mrs. Kaber's counsel to have women excluded, on the ground that they were without constitutional right to serve.

At the rate selection of a jury is progressing, counsel express the opinion that 12 jurors will not be obtained before next Tuesday. Judge Bernon has announced that court would adjourn Friday evening until July 5.

PINNED UNDER AUTO SIX HOURS

Illinoisan Dies From Inhaling Fumes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Ill., June 29.—Some time Monday afternoon Claude Derringer was pinned under his overturned car on a lonely road near Christman. He was not rescued until six hours later and brought to the Paris hospital. He died an hour later. The cause of his death was declared to be the inhaling of fumes.

"Don'ts" for the Fourth Suggested to Public by National Safety Council

A LIST of "don'ts" for observance on the Fourth of July to reduce accidents to a minimum has been issued as follows by the Mississippi Valley Division of the National Safety Council:

"Don't burn gunpowder; you can celebrate without it.

"If there are to be fireworks, don't let children set them off.

"Don't under any circumstances let a child hold a 'sparkler.'

"Don't let children light matches.

"Don't throw down a lighted match.

"Don't hold a firecracker in your hands or cause danger to yourself or someone else by reckless discharge of firecrackers or rockets.

"Don't build a bonfire for fun.

"Don't let children get near a fire.

"Don't discharge firearms.

"Don't light a firecracker while holding others in your hands.

"In case of injury consult a physician immediately.

"In case your clothing gets afire, tear off the burning part, or smother, with woolen material if possible.

"If you throw water on a fire throw it at the foot of the blaze, but use it in small quantities.

"If you find anyone endangering the lives of others by use of illegal firecrackers or discharging firearms notify the police."

It is stated that during the last 20 years more than 2000 persons have lost their lives by failure to take precautions during Fourth of July celebrations.

MAYOR ANNOUNCES HE WILL VETO BILL FOR FEES ON SPORTS

Reaches Decision After Hearing on Measure Providing $5 for Golf Permits and $1 for Tennis.

Mayor Kiel today, following a public hearing, announced that he would veto the bill providing for a charge of $5 a season for permits to play golf on the municipal links in Forest Park, and a charge of $1 a season for tennis players on all municipal courts.

He instructed his secretary to prepare a formal veto of the measure, which he will send to the Board of Aldermen. The board passed the measure last Friday. The Mayor favored it as a revenue measure, when it was first proposed, but his opinion has been changed by arguments since presented, particularly the statement of Director Cunliff of the Department of Public Welfare and Park Commissioner Pape, who urged the veto.

Some speakers at the hearing said that golfers would be willing to pay $10 a year, to go toward needed improvements, but that a $5 fee would not yield enough revenue to be of service. D. R. Niederlander, president of the Forest Park Golf Club, made this argument, and W. T. Shrader argued that permits for the use of the 18-hole course should cost $10 a year, and that the use of the nine-hole course, and of the tennis courts, should be free.

Charles Claflin Allen, former Circuit Judge, argued against any fee for use of the facilities of the municipality. Commissioner Pape said the measure would yield $16,000 or $17,000, which would not be enough for the improvements which would be demanded if a fee were charged.

ZORK APPEARS IN COURT; FRANKLIN'S AFFIDAVIT UPHELD

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 29.—After inspecting the illness affidavit of Ben Franklin, Judge Friend upheld the affidavit and granted Franklin a continuance. Carl Zork, who was ordered Monday to appear, despite an affidavit of sickness, was on hand this morning.

Soon after court opened the defense introduced a motion to quash the indictments on the ground that they were not legal under the Illinois law.

These two men are among 18 indicted in connection with the 1919 world's series baseball scandal.

MAN FOUND WOUNDED SAYS NEGRO SHOT HIM

George McCauley Tells Police He Ran From Two Highwaymen and Was Shot.

George McCauley, a steamfitter, of 4244 Prairie avenue was found at his home at 10:30 o'clock last night suffering from two bullet wounds in the right leg. He informed policemen that he had been shot by one of two negro highwaymen.

McCauley said that at about 10 p. m., when he was on his way home from Linn's Grove on North Broadway he was stopped by the negroes at Broadway and Athlone avenue. They ordered him to put up his hands, he said, and when he ran away they fired three shots at him.

Physicians pronounced the wounds serious and ordered McCauley sent to the city hospital.

178 Bottles of Wine and 24 Pints of Beer Stolen.

Clarence C. Miller of 4721 Newberry terrace was robbed of $21 and a watch by a man who held him up at West End place and Newberry terrace at 12:05 a. m. today.

Burglars got into the residence of Paul Lungstrass, 3141 Allen avenue, by cutting a screen on the kitchen door, in the absence of the family, yesterday afternoon and stole 178 bottles of wine and 24 pints of beer, all valued at $217.75.

Jewelry valued at $175 was stolen last night from the home of Rennard Hyde, 1930 North Euclid avenue. Tools valued at $150 were stolen last night from the plant of the St. Louis Iron and Machine Works, 126 Chouteau avenue.

Louis H. Walsh, a traveling salesman, told the police that $40 was taken from a dresser in his room at the Warwick Hotel yesterday morning.

Firmin C. Sappington of 1215 South Thirteenth street has asked the police to arrest a man to whom he entrusted $75 to deliver to the office of an attorney. The money was not delivered, Sappington said, and the messenger has disappeared. The money was part payment of a fee for the defense of two brothers, charged with murder.

The police are seeking a young woman who obtained $75 Monday at the Republic National Bank with a check drawn on the Hodiamont Bank. The check was later returned marked "no such account."

$250,000 OF PEGGY HOPKINS' JEWELS SEIZED BY U. S. AGENTS

Information in Chicago of Holding of Gems in New York for Alleged Nonpayment of Customs.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Jewels valued at nearly $250,000, owned by Peggy Hopkins Joyce, whose husband, J. Stanley Joyce, wealthy lumberman, recently instituted proceedings for annulment of their marriage, were seized by special Treasury agents in New York City Monday, according to word received here.

William H. Clara, Collector of Customs, said he had received from the New York office a report which itemized the jewels being held for alleged nonpayment of custom taxes. Among the articles is a diamond tiara valued at $100,000, it was said. In his annulment proceedings, Joyce declared he had purchased nearly a million dollars' worth of jewelry for Peggy in foreign countries.

DAWES BEGINS JOB OF PUTTING ECONOMY TO WORK

Will Try Through Budget System to Establish Definite Relationship Between Income and Outgo.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1921.)

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Gen. Dawes takes charge today of the budget job. He will try to establish a definite relationship between the income and outgo of Government funds. He has asked the Government employes to meet him in mass meeting. That's only a small part of the drive for economy. The real trouble is something with which the average Government employe has little to do—namely, the method by which Congress appropriates money and fails to keep track of appropriations spent.

The biggest abuse in Government expenditure today is the so-called "revolving fund." It grew up during the war, but is the same in principle as the practice of Congress in past years of authorizing specific appropriations to be reimbursed by moneys received from sales of Government property and supplies.

This automatic increase of funds available to Government departments without the necessity of reporting to Congress has been severely criticised by the students of Government economy. Both Secretaries Glass and Houston of the Treasury Department attacked it, and President Wilson gave special attention to the subject in his last message to Congress recommending that Congress discontinue the practice.

The revolving fund was necessary during the war when it was desirable to grant wide discretion, but since then it has developed into a convenient device for the spending of money not specifically ordered by Congress.

It works out this way: Supposing Congress has appropriated $100,000,000 for running expenses to the War Department. The same act of Congress give the War Department the right to use such receipts of money as may come to it through the sale of property or supplies. Consequently the $100,000,000 fund is automatically kept intact, but what actually has happened is that Congress has indirectly given the War Department the right to spend $500,000,000, if by chance, the receipts from the sale of Government property or unused supplies should amount to that much. What may be true of the War Department is true of other departments of the Government.

Another menace to economy is in the handling of Government law suits. Congress always hesitates to authorize the expenditure of large sums of money for legal talent. Yet the lawyers for the claimants usually get big fees ranging all the way from $10,000 to $100,000. Such fees on the side of the Government are unknown. The Government, therefore, is frequently outwitted and must pay millions of dollars in judgments simply because it will not spend the relatively small sums to win lawsuits.

Another factor in the same situation is the tendency to ignore the outcome of Government lawsuits because Congress always appropriates money for the payment of judgments. Thus a department officer doesn't feel that the judgment must be paid out of his own appropriation for this year. Uusally the lawsuits take years to settle in the courts.

Congress has not insisted that any special sums be set aside by any department to meet adverse judgment in the courts. Indeed, it has happened in certain cases that a certain department set aside 75 per cent of the value of certain properties because it thought that was a fair price. The courts have since decided that 75 per cent wasn't enough. Congress has had to make good the balance.

The usual thought of the average man about Government economy is to reduce personnel. He imagines that the Government has too many employes and that the bulk of the money is paid out in salaries. That isn't the fact. Much of the waste is due to bad accounting and the vague and indefinite powers of administrative officers who can buy or sell Government property. Secretary Glass in his last annual report suggested that Congress meet the needs of Government agencies hereafter "by definite appropriations with the requirement that all receipts accruing to the United States from whatever source shall be converted into the treasury for the general purposes of the Government.

Every Summer Trimming! Every Color! Every Size!

A "Sales of Sales." A sale wherein we forget profits—forget costs—FORGET EVERYTHING—in order to dispose of part of our far too large Dress stock. The values are unquestionably beyond comparison with any heretofore offered this season, and the sale price in many instances does not even equal the cost of making.

It's an event that shatters every value-giving precedent, even at Kline's.

Dresses so wonderful, mere words cannot describe them. You must see them. It's not only that the savings are so sensational. It's their irresistible style and quality. And the variety! We don't believe you ever saw so many stunning Dresses assembled at this low price.

Even if you are not interested in buying, come. See why Kline's Dress values are the "talk of the town"—continually.

CURATORS ASK HYDE TO SUBMIT MEASURE FOR STATE HOSPITAL

University Board Holds Institution Would Benefit Medical Department at Columbia.

The board of curators of the University of Missouri, at a meeting held today in the office of E. Lansing Ray, a St. Louis member, and with Gov. Hyde in attendance, considered the selection of a new president to succeed Dr. A. Ross Hill, who resigned to enter the educational work of the Red Cross. No decision was announced.

The board also passed a resolution asking the Governor to submit to the Legislature, in its present special session, a bill appropriating $250,000 for work on a State hospital to be located at Columbia, the ultimate cost of which will be $1,000,000. This hospital, it is held, would enable the medical department of the university to increase its present two-year course to four years, and to confer degrees. The Governor has expressed himself as favoring this plan.

The Governor, in a talk before the board, advocated closer co-operation and co-ordination of the schools, especially the State normal schools. He spoke of a plan to request the Carnegie Foundation to make a survey of the State's educational institutions.

Judge J. E. Goodrich of Kansas City, president of the board, presided at the meeting, and Dr. Isidor Loeb was present as faculty adviser.

$2200 TO BE SPENT FOR 89TH DIVISION MEMORIAL TABLET

Legal Dispute Over $5200 Fund Raised by Auxiliary Settled—Other Expenditures Provided For.

The settlement of the legal dispute over the $5200 balance of the fund raised by the Relatives' Auxiliary of the Eighty-ninth Division, in the homecoming period of two years ago, was announced today, when Circuit Judge Ferriss approved an order for the expenditure of a considerable part of the money. The Eighty-ninth Division, A. E. F., was composed of Missouri and Kansas men in the National Army.

For a tablet of Tennessee marble, to be placed at Jefferson Memorial, and to bear the names of St. Louis men of the Eighty-ninth Division who died in the service, $2200 is to be expended. Banners for the Adjutant-General's office in Jefferson City will cost $100, and a showcase in the Jefferson Memorial, to contain the flags, standards and souvenirs of the division, will cost $250. For funeral decorations of members, $600 is to be put aside. Attorneys fees, in connection with the fund controversy, are to be $500 to F. A. Wind and $500 to Thomas L. Anderson and Charles A. Lich. The balance is to remain in the hands of the treasurer, E. W. Wiese, for further instructions.

MONEY SETTLEMENT MADE IN WINZENBURG ALIENATION SUIT

A stipulation for the dismissal of the $20,000 suit of Mrs. Florence Winzenburg of 6046A McPherson avenue against Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winzenburg of 25 Highland terrace, Richmond Heights, for the alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Lieut. Roy Winzenburg, was filed yesterday in the Clayton Circuit Court, the defendants to pay the costs. Joseph McAtee, attorney for the defendants, said there had been a money settlement, but declined to say what amount had been paid.

The suit was filed Aug. 12, 1919, asking for $10,000 actual and $10,000 punitive damages, alleging that the parents caused Lieut. Winzenburg to abandon her April 25, 1919, three years after they were married.

The Lieutenant was accidentally wounded at Fort Sill, Ok., in 1917, when a bullet fired by a sentry at a private who had refused to halt, struck him in the back. He has undergone 24 operations and is still an invalid. He testified for his parents from a wheel chair, but a verdict for the amount sued for was given by a jury Nov. 29, 1919. A new trial was granted by Judge Wurdeman, who declared that the damages awarded were preposterous and not justified.

Soldier Patient Detained.

A soldier who said he was Sergt. James Murtaugh of the United States army was arrested last night at Meramec Highlands, where he had been for three days. He said that he ran away from Fort Sheridan Hospital, near Chicago, three weeks ago. He told Deputy Sheriff Rosenthal, who arrested him, that his five brothers were killed in the war and that when he returned to this country he learned that his mother, wife and daughter had died of the influenza.

Dowling & Co. Paint Schools

The Board of Education awarded the contract to paint fifty school buildings to Dowling & Co. This is the largest amount of painting ever let to one firm, and will give employment to a great many men.

This work is to be completed by Sept. 1, and Dutch Boy Brand of White Lead, manufactured by the National Lead Company, will be used.

The successful bidders have been doing a general painting business since 1859, and their signs, "Nothing Like Paint," are in evidence everywhere.

PROGRESS IN FIGHT ON YELLOW FEVER

Isolation of Germ, Under Study in Vera Cruz, Expected to Have Important Effect.

By the Associated Press.

VERA CRUZ, June 29.—Sanitation experts in this city believe that the isolation of the microbe causing yellow fever, which was announced here yesterday, will have an important bearing upon the work of combatting that disease, which in the past has often been a scourge in tropical countries. Dr. Iglesias, chief of the bacteriological laboratory here, devised the means of isolating the germ, and later called Doctors Mauro Loyo and Saloreano Morf in to confirm his discovery.

The germs were still alive yesterday, the seventh day since their isolation. Heretofore the microbes have died at the end of the fourth day of incubation. Among those who are studying the germs is Dr. B. W. Caldwell of the Rockefeller Institute, who is here in charge of the campaign for sanitation of the city.

The campaign fought against mosquitoes during recent months is believed to be bearing fruit, as no new cases of the plague have been reported and confidence is expressed that there will be no epidemic of yellow fever this summer.

Fur Prices Up at Winnipeg Sale.

By the Associated Press.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, June 29.—More than 60,000 pieces were disposed of at the third fur sale conducted by the Winnipeg Fur Auction Sales Co. yesterday and approximately $180,000 was realized.

Prices advanced over the two previous sales. Weasel, high at $1, advanced nearly 80 per cent; wolf sold at $13.50, an advance of 40 per cent, and muskrat advanced 35 per cent to $2.04. Silver fox, at $275, showed an advance of 25 per cent, while lynx at $40 and mink at $13.50 showed a 20 per cent advance.

IS THIN WATERY BLOOD RUINING YOUR HEALTH?

AND SAPPING YOUR BODILY AND MENTAL VIGOR, LEAVING YOU WEAK, NERVOUS AND IRRITABLE AND MAKING A FAILURE OUT OF YOU? HOW TO TELL.

If you suspect you may be suffering from iron starvation, do not wait until you go all to pieces and collapse in a state of nervous prostration or until in your weakened condition you contract some serious disease, but consult your family physician and have him take a specimen of your blood and make a "blood count" of your red blood corpuscles or test the iron-power of your blood yourself by adding plenty of spinach, carrots or other iron-containing vegetables to your daily food and take organic iron, like Nuxated Iron, with them for a while and see how much your condition improves.

Thousands of people have surprisingly increased their strength, energy and endurance in two weeks' time by this simple experiment. But in making this test, be sure the iron you take is organic iron—Nuxated Iron—and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. Organic Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly concentrated form that one dose is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating half a quart of spinach or one quart of green vegetables. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain perfectly satisfactory results. For sale by all druggists.

When You Invest for Income, Buy Securities That Will Always Be Good Collateral

You may never have to go to a bank to borrow money—to tide over a period of slack times, or to meet an obligation on the due date. If you ever do, the first question the banker will ask you is: "What is your collateral?"

Banks, lending their depositors' money, MUST play safe. They must have their loans secured by something of larger value than the amount of the loan.

If the only security you can offer is some shares of stock in a new, experimental, perhaps hazardous business, sound judgment will compel the banker to turn you down. You may have thought those speculative shares were "worth a gamble"—but the banker won't. He as a trustee for other people's money isn't there to gamble.

But if you can offer him as collateral some preferred shares of a permanent, prosperous, growing State-regulated public service business, like Union Electric Light & Power Co., he will be entirely justified in making the loan.

We are now selling the fourth million of our 7% preferred stock, which has been bought by 5200 St. Louis district men and women. The price of the shares is $100 each. Each share pays $7 a year in cash dividends — $1.75 every three months paid by check mailed to your address.

Issuance and sale of these shares is approved by the State to finance the growth of this business.

UNION ELECTRIC Light & Power Co.

RECEIVERS APPOINTED FOR GILLILAND OIL CO.

St. Louis Bank One of Petitioners —Sale of Properties Attacked in Suit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TULSA, Ok., June 29.—Charging mismanagement of the affairs of the Gilliland Oil Co., in which the transfer of properties valued at $6,000,000 to the Foster Oil Co. by John G. Gilliland, president of the Gilliland company, is set out as a specific interest, a petition asking for a received has been filed in District Court here by the Liberty Central Trust Co. of St. Louis, Edward Cornell, Casimer L. Straley and Herbert V. Smithers.

Judge Valjean Biddison appointed P. J. Harley, Waite Phillips and John H. Markham as receivers for the company.

The petition sets out that Gilliland, as majority stockholder, controls the company and that Texas properties of the Gilliland company were sold to the Foster company for less than one-half their real value, thereby prejudicing the rights of other stockholders. The application for a receivership follows closely the sale of the Gilliland company properties in Louisiana last week to the Foster Oil Co. for a reported consideration of $2,500,000.

These properties consist of approximately 2975 barrels net daily production from the Haynesville, Homer and Bull Bayou fields, with 55 miles of eight-inch pipeline and 14 55,000-barrel steel tanks at Minden, La., in which little oil had been stored. About a month ago, the Gilliland company sold its Burkburnett (Tex.) property to the McMann Oil Co., the property consisting of 68 wells, producing approximately 1000 barrels daily and a casing head gasoline plant, for $1,000,000.

The receivers of the company are expected to reassemble its properties. These are estimated to have a value in the neighborhood of $10,000,000. With crude oil at $1 a barrel, oil men this morning were pointing to the Gilliland situation as one caused more or less directly by the more than 400 per cent decline in the price of crude oil.

SONYA MEDVEDIEFF, SOPRANO, GIVES A VARIED PROGRAM

Lee Cronican, Pianist, and Philip Sevasta, Harpist, Also Appear in Odeon Entertainment.

Sonya Medvedieff, Russian soprano; Lee Cronican, pianist, and Philip Sevasta, harpist, gave a program at the Odeon last night under the auspices of the Women's Christian Home, for the benefit of a summer rest vacation camp which is being conducted for working girls at Chautauqua, Ill.

Miss Medvedieff's program was varied, ranging from "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" and a sprightly ditty called "Rain," to Tschaikowsky's "Romance." Other numbers included a selection from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," and "Weep, Weep, My Eyes," an aria from Massenet's "Le Cid."

The playing of Lee Cronican indicated a technique adapted to the music of Chopin and Liszt, his playing of the former's Polonaise in A Flat Major being impressive.

Signor Sevasta contributed to the program some eight selections that won vigorous applause, especially in "Caprice Etude," by Thomas, and an "impromptu" by Schubert he manipulated his instrument with dexterity and delicacy. The audience was fairly large and was composed chiefly of women.

LUMBERMAN IS SUED BY WIFE

Mrs. Marion W. Thomas, residing at the Buckingham Annex, yesterday filed suit to divorce Edward R. Thomas of 4536 Holly avenue, treasurer of the Thomas & Proetz Lumber Co., alleging that he neglected her, that he said he was sorry they had married and that he expressed cynical opinions concerning the marriage state.

They were married July 30, 1919, and separated last Friday. Mrs. Thomas is a daughter of Attorney George W. Winstead. She is a graduate of Mary Institute and Wellesley College. Her husband is a son of C. E. Thomas of Olivette, Mo., president of the lumber company.

$15,000 in Taxes Lost by Removal.

In the comparison of Madison County assessments yesterday by the board of tax review at Edwardsville, it was discovered that the removal from Highland last spring of the main office and plant of the Helvetia Milk Condensing Co. means a loss of approximately $15,000 in taxes for the city, township and county. A cut of $551,810 has been made in the assessment of the company, the property still left in the county being valued now at only $112,880.

Total..................	$1,346.14

A check for $74.75 was received yesterday from the committee that had charge of the Butcher and Grocer baseball game which was played at Sportsman's Park Sunday morning, June 18, for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. This was the proceeds of the game, and in addition to materially increasing the fund for the babies is a substantial proof of the kindly interest which the members of Commission Row have in the welfare of the tenement children.

An entertainment which netted $16.50 for the Milk and Ice Fund was given at the home of Elda Stuessel, 3643 Minnesota avenue, recently. Assisting Miss Stuessel were Misses Ruby Kollas or 3620A Minnesota avenue and Milicent Evans of 3649 Michigan avenue.

John Barney Warner of 5568 Pershing avenue disposed of a cake and earned $12 for the babies.

A $12 addition to the returns made a few days ago from the shows given June 20 and 21 by pupils of the Neville School of Dancing for the benefit of the babies raises the total amount received to date from them to $124.

Helen Adalaide Ross, Herbert Ross, Laurette Goldman, Kathryn Eberts, Kathryn Rose Holland and Barbara Jane Messing sent $1.20, which they earned by giving a neighborhood show.

ST. LOUISAN OPTOMETRIST HEAD

Dr. Oliver Abel President of National Association.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The American Optometric Association last night elected Dr. Oliver Abel, St. Louis, president.

The Committee on Public Relations reported that the Ohio State Association of Optometrists had discovered, after investigation, that the American Red Cross had been discriminating against optometrists by the use of pamphlets and publications which, it was claimed, worked an injustice to members of the association. The matter was taken up with the Executive Committee of the Red Cross at Washington, the report stated, and an understanding arrived at. The committee asked for authority to hire legal counsel to protect members of the association against unfair discriminations and propaganda.

USES ALIASES IN PETITION

Mrs. Helen Brooks, 20 years old, through her next friend, Attorney Thomas F. McDonald, yesterday filed suit to divorce "Courtney A. Brooks, alias John Fleming Miller, alias Robert E. Canfield," to whom she was married at Alton Aug. 14 last, under the name of Brooks. The petition recites that he also posed as Robert Canfield, but that his real name is Miller. They lived together less than a month.

The husband is charged with associating with another woman. After the suit was filed he appeared at the Sheriff's office and accepted service, saying he was to leave the city last night. He said he lived at 4623 Maryland avenue.

Joseph O'Neil's Funeral Tomorrow.

The funeral of Joseph O'Neil, 41 years old, of 4470 Westminster place, a retired lumber dealer, who died Saturday night at Minocqua, Wis., a summer resort, will be held at the New Cathedral at 8 a. m. tomorrow. He was the son of the late Joseph O'Neil, president of the Citizens' Savings' Bank of St. Louis. About two years ago O'Neil sold his lumber interests and retired because of poor health. His mother, three brothers and two sisters survive him.

Dies at 100, the Father of 20.

By the Associated Press.

GIRLS GIVE TIME TO SETTLEMENT SCHOOL

Instruct Children of Tenement District in Sewing, Dancing and Singing.

A NUMBER of young women who expect to spend most of the summer in the city have chosen to give a part of their time to charity work. Miss Ella Marie Wilson, Miss Lousita Moser, Miss Lucy James and Miss Miriam McMahon devote two or three mornings of every week to the North Side Settlement School at Eleventh street and Cass avenue. From 9 o'clock until noon they instruct the children of the district in sewing, folk-dancing and singing. Stories and fairy tales form a large part of the work also.

The school, founded two years ago, has been so successful that the attendance, which averaged about 30 pupils last year, has grown to 100 this season. Every effort is being made now to establish a clinic in connection with the school.

DEATH OF LADY RANDOLPH CHURCHILL

Son, Winston Churchill, at Bedside in London of Former Miss Jennie Jerome.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 29.—Lady Randolph Churchill, who was Miss Jennie Jerome of New York, died here today.

She married Lord Randolph Churchill, second son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough, and one of England's most influential political leaders of his day, in 1874.

Lady Randolph Churchill's death occurred suddenly, following a hemorrhage. Her son, Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, was with her.

The careers of few, if any, other women in English social and political life have been so closely followed by Americans as that of Lady Churchill. She was a woman of diversified talents, artist and politic.

She was thrice married, her second marriage occurring in 1900, five years after Lord Randolph Churchill's death, to Lieut. George Cornwallis-West, her junior by many years. They were divorced in 1914, Cornwallis-West marrying Mrs. Pat Campbell, the actress, soon after. Her third marriage occurred in 1918 to Montagu Porch, a British army officer.

Lady Randolph Churchill was born 67 years ago. She was the daughter of Leonard Jerome of New York.

Fat People Get Thin

A DAILY bath with Allan's Epsom Salt will actually reduce your weight in the natural way—without strenuous exercise or starvation diet.

When you take your bath, just dissolve Allan's Epsom Salt in the water. Then, before breakfast take a teaspoonful of Allan's in a glass of water. This treatment of fat reduction was used by royalty at the famous Epsom Springs.

Allan's is sold in sanitary sealed packages wherever medicine is sold.

When you buy Epsom Salt, ask for Allan's. It's easy to say "Allan's," and it means a lot, for Allan's is pure.

"SAN TOY" IS RAISED ABOVE ITS OWN MERIT

Colorless Work Redeemed by Spectacular Production and Moulan's Comedy.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

So happy are the auspices of the Municipal Theater in Forest Park, and such is the zest of this summer's company, that scarcely any production given there can prove a total failure. Thus the beauty and magnitude of the stage, with its pageantry of rich and thronging tableaux, conspire this week with exuberant spirits in cast and orchestra to make "San Toy" appear better than it has any right to seem.

This operetta, which verges at times upon the mediocrity of musical comedy, was presented last night before an unusually numerous "first night" audience. On its own merits, it exhibited a notable decline from the standards of the three works previously given. Its music effervesces as briskly as soda water, and almost as pointlessly, save for a few concerted numbers. Its book, quite anemic as to humor, becomes animated only when a flow of vital corpuscles is injected by the comic genius of Frank Moulan.

In addition, there is a redoubtable shake-up in the cast, bringing to the fore many St. Louis members of the chorus, and relegating to obscurity several of the principals. Miss Galloway, the prima donna, being too tall for the part of San Toy, surrenders the chief feminine role to Miss Rhoda Nickells, and subsides into a part through which, with the exception of one solo, almost any chorus girl could promenade. On the other hand, Miss Elva Magnus is elevated from the chorus to a genuine soubrette lead, in which she has a solo and takes part in three duets and a quartet.

Festival for Local Singers.

Miss Mildred Rogers, principal contralto of the company, has nothing to sing and less to do than any one of the six members of the chorus who act as wives of the mandarin, Yen How. J. Humbird Duffey, whose voice is heard only once, in a duet, appears on the stage less frequently than William Simmons, another chorister. It promises to be a gala week for local talent. No less than 10 St. Louisans are listed in roles, besides numerous others who have snatches of dialogue and song.

The work is filled with motion, if not with action. The great chorus is incessantly coming and going; it restlessly marches, drills and dances. Grouping itself into ever-changing and populous panoramas, glowing with the bright hues of Chinese dress, the chorus raises "San Toy" into a stirring spectacle.

This is reinforced by the scenery; but those who expected the full stage to be used were disappointed. This is despite the fact that processions in both acts of "San Toy" offer temptations which one would have thought irresistible to a stage director.

However, there is a display of picturesque Oriental architecture and decoration—tea houses, pagodas, arches and temples; to say nothing of two dragons, with flaming nostrils and maws, which perch on the lighting towers at either side of the stage, and which, with a facetiousness hitherto unsuspected in the species, spend the evening in winking first one crimson eye and then the other at the audience, as if seeking to communicate some mysterious reptilian jest.

"Moon" Squares the Circle.

The most pretentious spectacle is a parade of lanterns accompanying a chorus called "The Moon," in the first act. On a darkened stage, scores of white paper lamps glimmer, or describe arcs of radiance as they are waved in cadence with the music. In their midst appears an apparatus which seems to represent the moon; it is a transparency borne aloft by four men. If so, this luminary has grown square instead of round, during its translation from the heavens.

Regarding municipal opera as being, in one phase, a training school, there was much interest last night in what might be called the graduation of Miss Magnus, the first St. Louisan to be intrusted with a prin-

Was a Good Judge of Liquor

"Since a young man I had a liking for liquor and was considered a pretty good judge of it at one time, but constant drinking gave me stomach trouble, which became chronic. My stomach would have been a valuable addition to a gas factory. Doctors did not seem to relieve me. One day my druggist got me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am now as good as new." RENT INQUIRY RESOLUTION IS REPORTED TO COMMITTEE

Commission of Three Senators Is Suggested to Take Testimony on Conditions Here.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 29.—A resolution offered in the Senate yesterday by Senator Anderson of Scott County for an investigation by the Legislature of rent conditions in St. Louis was referred without debate to the Committee on Judiciary. The resolution called attention to the efforts to obtain rent relief and suggested the appointment of a committee of three Senators to take testimony on rent conditions in St. Louis, with a view of obtaining all available evidence before taking up the question of rent laws.

The St. Louis Rent Relief League has sent letters to the members of the Municipal Corporations Committee of the House of Representatives, asking them to set forth their views on rent relief laws. Alfred W. Henry, president of the league, declared in the letters that rural representatives had told him the laws would be enacted if desired by the St. Louis and Kansas City delegations.

The league has prepared a number of bills on the subject and of these Henry wrote. "They can very properly be named the 'anti-profiteering bills,' as the defense of unreasonable or usurious rent will be of no effect unless the increase is beyond the limit fixed by the St. Louis Real Estate Exchange."

The Gravois Park Independence Day Association will have games and other amusements for children of the Grant, Froebel, Meramec, Shepard and Holy Cross Schools at Gravois Park, Compton avenue and Miami street, from 10 a. m. until 11 p. m. July 4. Two hundred prizes will be awarded to the children. At 3 o'clock Mayor Kiel will give an address. From 8 to 11 p. m. 11 reels of moving pictures will be shown.

GOOD COMPANY MAKES "SAN TOY" BETTER THAN IT REALLY IS

cipal role. As a lively English maid, this self-possessed young woman danced with charm and grace, read her lines brightly, comported herself with the sangfroid of a veteran, and sang in a voice scarcely vibrant enough for out-of-door requirements. She was luckily placed opposite Moulan, and these two won more encores than all the others together. Their comedy duet, "The Lady's Maid," was especially relished, as was also a duet dance as squat Chinese statuettes. Miss Magnus seems ripe for soubrette roles on the professional stage—in indoor theaters.

All the other St. Louisans promoted to parts acquitted themselves very pleasantly. They were Charles Page, William Simmons, Fannie Block, and the six sprightly wives of the Mandarin—Misses Cora Stephens, Madelyn Young, Helen Slinger, Dolly Smith, Ted Dwiggins and Virginia McCune. Several good male voices from the chorus were also disclosed.

Miss Nickells as San Toy.

Among the principals, attention centered upon Miss Nickells, who, as San Toy, had her first prima donna role with the municipal opera company. With her flaxen curls concealed under a black wig, she was scarcely recognized at her entrance, as she ran across the stage flying a kite. She acted the pert little Chinese maid with considerable vivacity and sauciness, danced scarcely at all, and sang her numerous airs in a strong, high, but not too steady voice.

The fine baritone of James Stevens is abroad once more at the Municipal Theater, but the music is unworthy of it, and his part, that of a British naval captain, is particularly colorless. Duffey has a moment of effective acting at the end of the first act. Charles E. Galagher's role, that of Yen How, is a pallid reflection of his Pooh-Bah in "The Mikado." Henry Hermsen struggles to wring a bit of humor from the meager lines of the Emperor of China.

It is to Frank Moulan that the individual honors of the cast accrue. He plays the part of Yen How's scoundrelly and avaricious private secretary, and he does it with that skill of facial expression and that finesse of gesture, without wasting the motion of a finger, which make him the artist he is. Once he overlays the falsetto gobble of his Chinese argot with the dialect of a London swell, keeping both going at once like a juggler. Despite his years, he is the most agile dancer in the company, and he has plenty of dancing. His funniest effort is that of drilling the Emperor's company of Amazons, whom he sets to racing madly about, but cannot stop, as he doesn't know the proper command.

TAILORS INDICTED ON LOTTERY CHARGE IN 'SUIT CLUB' PLAN

Proprietors of City Tailoring Co. Contend Scheme Is Legitimate One Common to the Trade.

An indictment charging the establishment of a lottery was returned yesterday against Daniel Madden, W. Edward Satterfield and Michael Bena, proprietors of th eCity Tailoring Co., 203 Benoist Building, and against Bena's 17-year-old son, Joseph, who is employed there. The indictment is based upon the manner in which the firm operated a "suit club" plan.

The partners, as told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, maintained that their scheme was legitimate, and that they were merely practicing a scheme common to the tailoring trade.

The Better Business Bureau has sent out a circular letter calling attention to the fact that the Supreme Court of Michigan recently held the suit club plan to be a lottery, and upheld the conviction of a tailor who had practiced it. The bureau asks that any information of the practice here be reported to it.

INSURGENT POLES MOVING BACK TO POLISH FRONTIER

Interallied Report to Berlin; German Reports, However, Say Poles Are Gathering in Rybnik Area.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 29.—Keeping their agreement to withdraw from Upper Silesia, the insurgent Poles near Beuthen and a number of other places in the industrial district have begun moving toward the Polish frontier, according to information received here from interallied sources.

German reports, however, assert that the Poles are concentrating in the Rybnik district, and that at Rogau, in the Ratibor district, a large body of bandits under the leadership of Josef Karzeschka, an escaped life convict, is blackmailing and robbing extensively.

It is reported from Ober-Glocau that Bolsheviki are organizing and issuing to their adherents green arm bands.

A fight between the French and Poles took place at Plewitz while the French were searching for arms.

The French embassy has notified the German Foreign Office that the alleged secret communication from Gen. Lerond, head of the Interallied Commission, published recently by the Lokal Anzeiger, was false in every particular.

The Anzeiger report was to the effect that the German irregular force not only opposed the Polish insurgents, but had designs against the German Government.

TWO TURNKEYS REPRIMANDED FOR SLEEPING WHEN ON DUTY

Police Board Also Orders Two Patrolmen to Perform 90 and 60 Days' Extra Duty.

Two police turnkeys were reprimanded yesterday by the Police Board for being asleep on duty, one patrolman was ordered to do extra duty for being asleep and a second patrolman was ordered to do extra duty for neglect of his beat.

The turkeys reprimanded are Patrick Walsh of the North Market street district, who admitted being asleep on June 18, when Acting Inspector Gerk made a round of stations, and Richard Barry of the Dayton street station. President Miller of the Police Board reminded them that soldiers asleep at their posts in time of war often were shot. Barry denied that he was asleep, but admitted lying on a table in the station.

Patrolman Felix A. Kuhl, charged with being asleep in the Dayton street station, was ordered to do an hour's extra duty daily for 90 days.

Patrolman William Baraha of the Mounted District, who was charged with spending more than an hour in a tailor shop on his beat, was ordered to do an hour's extra duty daily for 60 days.

Charges against Patrolman Frank J. Klein, who was accused of having taken liquor into a garage were dismissed, the alleged incident having occurred prior to the control of the present board.

SCANT SUMMER STYLES MOVE PASTOR TO PEN A "POEM"

New York Baptist Preacher Against Old Street-Sweeping Styles, However.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Scant summer styles, as exhibited in these parts, have inspired the Rev. Dr. John Roach Stratton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, to pen a "poem," which is going through its second edition in the public prints today. Wrote Dr. Stratton:

"Mary had a little skirt,
"The latest style, no doubt;
"But every time she got inside
"She was more than half way out."

In a prose foreword, delivered from his pulpit Sunday night, Dr. Stratton declared he did not advocate a return to the old street-sweeping styles.

"There is a style for women's dresses which is in harmony with the laws of sanitation as well as the principles of modesty," he said.

MAYOR ORDERS PAVING CHANGE

Tells Kinsey to Have Use of Rough Granite by U. R. Discontinued.

Mayor Kiel today informed President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service that he had observed that the United Railways Co. was using rough granite to repave stretches of its track on Vandeventer avenue near Enright avenue and on South Broadway in the 5600 block.

There is an ordinance requiring that paving between the tracks be of the same material as the street paving, but in some cases the use of smooth granite has been permitted. The Mayor said the rough granite with concrete covering would be undesirable and instructed Kinsey to forbid that type of paving between car tracks.

16 Judges on Outing at Club.

The 16 Circuit Judges are having their annual outing today at Sunset Hill Country Club. They motored out to the club before noon and after luncheon began playing golf and swimming. The arrangements were made by Judge Garesche.

Mrs. F. W. Wise Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples On Head

"My head was full of pimples and they were even down on my forehead. They itched and burned and I scratched them and large scales formed. My head would at times itch till I could not sleep at night, and my hair became lifeless and broke off.

"I tried several remedies without success. I decided to try a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and later bought more. When I had used them about six months I was entirely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Floyd W. Wise, R. 1, Shepard, Ohio.

Cuticura Soap daily and Cuticura Ointment occasionally, prevent pimples or other eruptions. They are a pleasure to use as is also Cuticura Talcum, a fascinating fragrance for perfuming the skin.

Sample Each Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. R, Malden 48, Mass." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.

EW SHACKLETON EXPEDITION TO SAIL IN AUGUST

arty of Seven Will Go to Cover 30,000 Miles in South Atlantic and Pacific Antarctic Seas.

NCHARTED AREAS WILL BE VISITED

fforts Will Be Made to Chart Enderby Land, Dougherty Island and Other Doubted Lands.

the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 29.—Sir Ernest ackleton, who commanded the itish antarctic expedition in 1907- —which reached within 97 miles the South Pole—and the antarc- expedition in 1914-16, will be the ader on a new voyage of discovery vering 30,000 miles of unchart- sections of the Southern Atlan- and the Pacific Antarctic Seas. will sail from London the end August in "The Quest," a 200-ton , brigantine rigged. He will have h him a small picked staff, in- ding six companions of former lar expeditions. The Daily Mail blishes this announcement.

The expedition, which will be lled the Shackleton-Rowett eanographical and Antarctic Ex- dition, will be advanced by John ueller Rowett of agricultural re- arch, and Frederick Becker, a per manufacturer. "The Quest" will be equipped for every branch scientific research. She will car- complete hydrographic surveys d soundings, and will touch at va- little-known islands, where the ra and fauna and geological ructure will be studied and pho- graphed. A specially constructed aplane will be taken, and air cur- ts will be charted.

Islands to Be Visited.

The first objective will be the vages, a group of rocky islands in Atlantic, between the Canary d Madeira Islands; thence the sel will proceed for St. Paul's cks, a little-known island on the uator, thence to Trinidad, where ackleton landed in 1901 from t. Scott's ship, "Discovery," and the great petrified forest, which be explored.

hackleton will then go to Triston Cunha, in the South Atlantic, and gh's Island, eight miles long 4000 feet high, which has been ly once visited before, by the ace expedition in 1904, when four known species of birds were ob- ved.

oundings will be taken of the plateaus about Gough's Island, an endeavor to settle the sur- regarding an underwater con- ntal connection between Africa America.

The vessel will continue on to etown, whence begins the explo- n of Antarctic regions, where no l has been in the last 90 years. derby Land will be visited. This a large tract, but whether a con- ent or an island is unknown, as limits remain unmarked. Possi- the icebound coast may bar the gress of "the Quest," but if she ceeds in getting through the pack interest centers in whether she come upon volcanoes or open

Antarctic Territory.

The vessel will emerge from the tarctic by the Weddell Sea and at the South Sandwich Islands South Georgia. She will then ceed eastward and make landings various sub-Antartic islands, such Louvet Island and Heard Island. The next country to attract "the est" will be New Zealand and the cific will be dredged for the lost nd of Tukanaki, which has been ntioned in old nautical records native legends, but has since appeared. The party will search Dougherty Island, whose exist- e and position are doubtful. If ble it might serve as a wireless station between New Zealand South America.

Ship and Her Crew.

"The Quest" is now at Southamp- . She is 151 feet long and 12 in depth with a 23-foot beam. was built in Norway in 1917, is oak, pine and fir and has been ted in heavy ice. Her sides are feet thick and her bows are of oak sheathed with steel. Her ning radius is 9000 miles, and der sail with a stiff breeze she make eight knots. She carries less equipment.

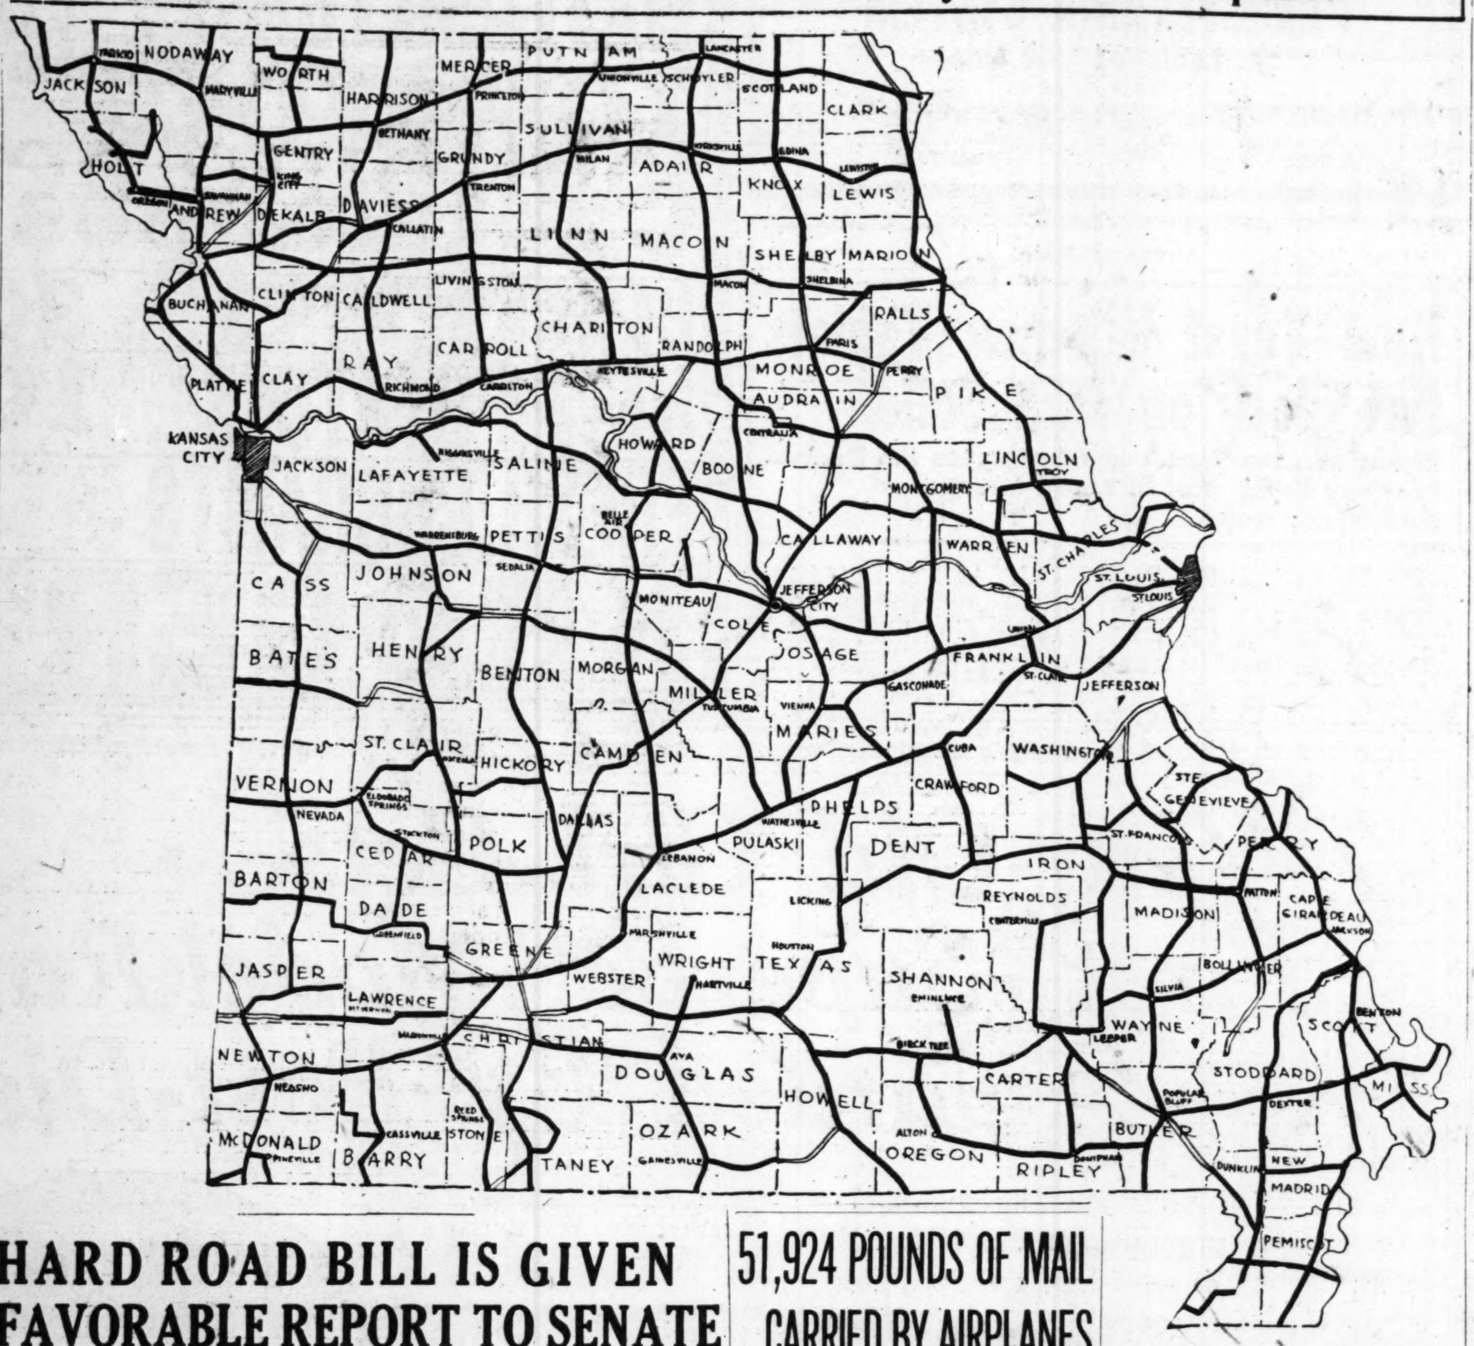
Map of Missouri State Hard Roads System as Proposed



HARD ROAD BILL IS GIVEN FAVORABLE REPORT TO SENATE

Action Said to Indicate Prospect for Measure Getting Through Body Without Serious Delay—Some Amendments Accepted.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 29.—Senator Ralph's hard-surface road bill was ordered reported favorably to the Senate by the Roads and Highways Committee last night, without injurious amendments, after Senator McCullough of Knox Conuty had failed in an effort to have the bill amended to give the State Highway Commissioner power to designate a dirt road as a hard-surfaced road.

The favorable report is a victory for the good roads advocates and indicates excellent prospect for the bill getting through the Senate without serious delay. McCullough indicated that he probably would renew his dirt road amendment on the floor, but later praised the bill in the form ordered reported.

It is understood that, after a few hearings before the joint committees of the Senate and House, Ralph will take the bill up for engrossment and endeavor to push it through the Senate within a week or 10 days.

While the favorable report on the Ralph bill does not necessarily mean that no other bills conflicting with it will be reported out, it will be surprising if there is favorable committee action on any measure which conflicts with the Ralph bill or which might be construed as taking its place.

Provisions of Ralph Bill.

The Ralph bill, as reported, provides that there shall be a bipartisan State highway commission of four members, who would have complete charge of highway construction under the $60,000,000 bond issue. The present State highway system of 6200 miles, extending into very county of the State, is adopted as the new system, but the commission is given power to alter the routes after hearings.

After Ralph had explained the bill, McCullough proposed several amendments. Ralph had placed in the bill a specific statement that dirt roads were not to be considered hard-surface roads. The first McCullough proposal was to strike out that provision.

McCullough contended that in many parts of the State the soil contained sufficient gravel to make it a suitable road building material for hard-surface roads. He said he feared that, if Ralph's provision remained in the bill, it might be construed to prevent the use of such material. The committee voted almost unanimously against the amendment, thus retaining Ralph's definition and eliminating the dirt road.

Amendment on Width.

McCullough obtained the adoption of an amendment fixing the minimum width of roads in the State highway system at 40 feet, instead of 50 feet, as provided in the bill. Ralph accepted the amendment, McCullough's explanation being that the present system fixing the width at a minimum of 40 feet and that, even with his amendment, the engineer of the commission could provide for a greater width in places where there was a large volume of traffic.

McCullough's next important proposal stipulated that the present system should be adopted and the commission be permitted to make changes in it. Ralph's bill provided that the commission could adopt such portion of the present system as it saw fit. Ralph accepted the amendment, which was adopted by the committee. With these amendments the committee voted unanimously to report the bill favorably.

Consideration then was given to the Hudson bill, which was reported adversely Monday by the House Committee, providing for each county to be a road district and with a provision for the improvement of roads not in the State system by the benefit assessment plan. The committee voted to report the bill unfavorably, but later reconsidered its action and voted to hold the bill in the committee. Its action has the effect of killing the measure.

Hearings Begin Today.

This afternoon joint hearings on road bills will be begun by the Senate and House roads committees. The Senate Ways and Means Committee will take up the Ralph bill providing the machinery for the issuance and sale of the bonds. The principal question before the latter committee will be an amendment offered by Senator Whitecotton of Monroe County to provide that the bonds shall not be sold at a price which will not net the State at least 95 cents on the dollar of bonds sold. Ralph is opposing the amendment on the ground that market conditions might prevent that price being obtained and, if the State could not sell the bonds, the road-building program would be at a standstill.

When the question first came up Ralph said that it might be several years before 95 net could be obtained. Dispatches from St. Joseph yesterday said that an issue of Buchanan County road bonds had sold at slightly above 95.

Proposals Are Defined.

Adoption by Senator Ralph of McCullough's proposal that the Legislature designate the present State highway system of 6000 miles as the State highway system on which to expend the $60,000,000 bond issue fund, has shortened the time required for road legislation debate before the Senate Committee.

Ralph's bill gives this definition for a hard-surface road: "A road surfaced with gravel, macadam or other suitable materials, approved by the commission; an earth road shall not be considered a hard-surfaced road."

McCullough desired this definition: "Highways constructed of earth material and oil, gravel, concrete, crushed rock or other approved reasonably permanent construction."

51,924 POUNDS OF MAIL CARRIED BY AIRPLANES

Machines Have Traveled 130,037 Miles in Service That Is Being Discontinued.

The St. Louis-Chicago air mail service, which was instituted Aug. 16, 1920, will be discontinued tomorrow because no appropriation has been made by Congress for its continuance.

Since the service started the planes have carried 51,924 pounds of first-class mail and have traveled 130,037 miles, equal to circling the globe five and one-fifth times, without injury to a pilot or permanent disabling of a plane.

The mail has been much heavier from St. Louis to Chicago than the reverse, ranging 130 to 150 pounds per trip, as against 30 to 45 pounds from Chicago to St. Louis.

249 Flying Days.

Since the beginning there have been 249 flying days, excluding Sundays. On four days there were no flights either way, because of sleet and fog. In March, April and May the Forest Park field was so muddy that landings were frequently made at Scott Field, near Belleville.

There have been only three accidents to planes. Two were damaged in landing under difficulties and one was damaged by fire in the hangar.

The average time has been three hours and 40 minutes, four hours less than the fastest railroad time. This is an average speed of 77 miles an hour. On several trips speed of more than 100 miles an hour was maintained.

Cost of Service $31,650.

The cost of the service, exclusive of equipment, has been $31,650. The equipment, consisting of hangar, four planes, two motor trucks, two motor cycles and accessories, is valued at $49,500. Besides the four pilots, two stationed here and two at Chicago, 12 men have been employed, a manager and his assistant, a superintendent of mechanics, six mechanics, two watchmen and a stock boy.

These will be permitted to transfer to the transcontinental service if the wish after the equipment has been cleared from the Forest Park field. It is expected that the planes will be used in the transcontinental service, but not for mail flights, as they are not large enough or fast enough.

COAL STRIKE COSTLIEST IN BRITAIN'S HISTORY

Mine Operations to Be Resumed Monday After 88 Days' Idleness.

(Copyright, 1921.)

LONDON, June 29.—Britain's coal strike, one of the most protracted and costly to the nation in history, was settled yesterday at a conference of the Government, mine owners and miners. Unless there is some hitch, it is expected that a number of mines will begin operations on Monday. But it will be many weeks before enough coal will be available for some of the big industrial plants to get under way or before the railroads can resume anything like their normal service.

Broadly speaking, the miners have given up their demand for a national pool and nationalization. The mine owners, on the other hand, forego their determination to cut wages in the drastic manner which originally brought about the strike, and which in some cases amounted to 45 per cent reductions. The Government is expected to grant $500,000,000 subsidy. After allowing for stand clearages on the industry, the 83 per cent remaining proceeds shall go to the miners as a first charge and 17 per cent to the owners.

For the first time there has been definitely established the principle of a share for the workers in the profits of the industry, and also the first occasion on which profit-sharing has been established on a national scale. The miners have agreed to accept a cut of two shillings per shift in July, 2 shilling and 6 pence in August and 2 shillings in September. The new permanent agreement will run from October, 1921, to December 31, 1922.

It is impossible to estimate the damage to British industrial life during the 88 days of the strike, but it has been colossal and its ramifications have been felt in every walk of life. Although the recovery of industry be protracted, the announcement of the settlement has had an immediate psychological effect on the country at large.

PASSAGE OF PEACE RESOLUTION BY TOMORROW LIKELY

Plan for House Vote Today and Action in Senate by Tomorrow on Compromise Draft.

IT DECLARES STATE OF WAR AT END

Approval in Time for Signature by President Harding Before Fourth of July Planned.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Establishment of peace by congressional resolution reached its final stage yesterday when Senate and House Republican conferees agreed upon a compromise resolution which they hope to have in President Harding's hands late this week.

The compromise embodies the House plan of declaring the state of war with Germany and Austria at an end and adds the Senate provision reserving American property and other rights.

The Democratic conferees, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska and Representative Flood of Virginia, called in for the final conference after the Republicans had previously arranged their compromise resolution, refused to sign the report and said that with other Democrats they would oppose the Republican plan to the end. Overwhelming Republican majorities in both Senate and House, however, leave little doubt of adoption of the conference draft.

Action Planned Today.

Action on the compromise resolution today is planned in the House and in the Senate tomorrow. The conference report was presented to both bodies late yesterday. Democratic leaders on both sides said that the final discussion would not be protracted and the Republicans said they hoped to have the peace measure sent to the White House by Friday, in expectation of its signature by the President before the Fourth of July.

Satisfaction over the compromise was expressed by both Senate and House Republican leaders. Chairman Porter, of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was pleased that his plan for declaring the war at an end had been accepted instead of the Knox resolution repealing the war declaration. Senator Knox, however, gave out a statement declaring that both plans accomplished the same result.

Statement by Knox.

"Both the Senate and House formulas," Senator Knox said, "effect the repeal of the war declaration desired."

The Senate conferees in making concessions gave away nothing of substance in their instructions, he said, adding that a resolution of Congress that a state of war is at an end "necessarily repeals the prior (war) resolution."

MICROBE SAID TO LIVE AFTER YELLOW FEVER HAS RUN 6 DAYS

Discovery Reported From Vera Cruz, Where Sufferers From Disease Are Being Treated.

By the Associated Press.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, June 29.—Discovery of the fact that the microbe causing yellow fever continues to live after the disease has run six days, was announced here yesterday by Dr. Mauro Loyo and Dr. Solorzano Morfin, who have been treating yellow fever sufferers in the sanitary camp near this city. News of their discovery has been cabled to Dr. Hideyo Noguchi, Japanese member of the Rockefeller Institute, who first succeeded in isolating the yellow fever germ and compounding a serum to combat its action. Up to the present, the physicians pointed out, it had been believed the microbe died at the end of the fourth day of incubation.

Officials assert the yellow fever patients now here did not contract the disease in this region, which has been free from yellow fever for many months. They point out that the patients, members of the civil guard who came from Cosamaloapan, 62 miles south of Vera Cruz, where they were quartered, fell ill in that city. Three of the men died soon after arriving here. Three others are being treated in the camp and the remainder have been sent to a cooler climate in order to prevent a spread of the disease here.

Child Hygiene Director Named.

Dr. C. F. Enloe, secretary of the State Board of Health, has announced the appointment of Dr J. D. Krause of 5900 Arsenal street as director of child hygiene at $3000 a year. The position was established by the last Legislature.

Draft of Peace Resolution Agreed On by Conferees

WASHINGTON, June 29.
By the Associated Press.

THE compromise draft of the Knox and Porter peace resolutions, as agreed on in conference follows:

"Section 1. That the state of war declared to exist between the Imperial German Government and the United States of America by the joint resolution of Congress approved April 6, 1917, is hereby declared at an end.

"Section 2. That in making this declaration, and as a part of it, there are expressly reserved to the United States of America and its nationals, any and all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages, together with the right to enforce the same, to which it or they have become entitled under the terms of the armistice signed Nov. 11, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof; or which were acquired by or are in the possession of the United States of America by reason of its participation in the war or to which its nationals have become rightfully entitled; or which under the treaty of Versailles have been stipulated for its or their benefit; or to which it is entitled as one of the principal allied and associated Powers or to which it is entitled by virtue of an act or acts of Congress or otherwise.

Peace With Austria.

"Sec. 3. That the state of war declared to exist between the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian Government and the United States of America by the joint resolution of Congress approved Dec. 7, 1917, is hereby declared at an end.

"Sec. 4. That in making this declaration, and as part of it, there are expressly reserved to the United States of America and its nationals any and all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages, together with the right to enforce the same, to which it or they have become entitled under the terms of the armistice signed Nov. 3, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof; or, which were acquired by or are in the possession of the United States of America by reason of its participation in the war, or to which its nationals have thereby become rightfully entitled; or, which, under the treaty of Saint Germain-En-Laye or the treaty of Trianon, have been stipulated for its or their benefits; or to which it is entitled as one of the principal allied and associated Powers; or to which it is entitled by virtue of any act or acts of Congress, or otherwise.

Retention of Property.

Section 5—All property of the imperial German Government or its successor or successors and of all German nationals, which was, on April 6, 1917, in, or has since that date come into the possession or under the control of, or has been the subject of a demand by the United States of America or of any of its officers, agents or employes, from any source or by any agency whatsoever, and all property of the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian Government or its successor or successors and of all Austro-Hungarian nationals which was on Dec. 7, 1917, in, or has since that date come into the possession or under control or has been the subject of a demand by the United States of America or any of its officers, agents or employes, from any source or by any agency whatsoever, shall be retained by the United States of America and no disposition made thereof, except as shall have been heretofore or specifically hereafter shall be provided by law until such time as the imperial German Government and the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian Government or their successor or successors shall have respectively made suitable provision for the satisfaction of all claims against said Governments, respectively, of all persons wheresoever domiciled who owe permanent allegiance to the United States of America and who have suffered, through the acts of the imperial German Government or its agents, or the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian Government or its agents, since July 31, 1914, loss, damage or injury to their persons or property, directly or indirectly, whether through the ownership of shares of stock in German, Austro-Hungarian, American or other corporations, or in consequence of hostilities or of any operations of war, or otherwise, and also shall have granted to persons owing permanent allegiance to the United States of America, most favored nation treatment whether the same be national or otherwise, in all matters affecting residence, business, profession, trade, navigation, commerce and industrial property rights, and until the imperial German Government and the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian Government, or their successor or successors, shall have respectively confirmed to the United States of America all fines, forfeitures, penalties and seizures imposed or made by the United States of America during the war, whether in respect to the property of the imperial German Government or German nationals or the imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian Government, or Austro-Hungarian nationals, and shall have waived any and all pecuniary claims against the United States of America.

Other Acts Not Repealed.

"Sec. 6. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to repeal, modify or amend the provisions of the joint resolution 'declaring that certain acts of Congress, joint resolutions and proclamations shall be construed as if war had ended and the present or existing emergency expired,' approved March 3, 1921, or the passport control divisions of an act entitled 'An Act Making Appropriations for the Diplomatic and Consular Service for the Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 1922,' approved March 2, 1921; nor to be effective to terminate the military status of any person now in desertion from the military or naval service of the United States, nor to terminate the liability to prosecution and punishment under the selective service law, approved May 18, 1917, of any person who failed to comply with the provisions of said act, or of acts amendatory thereof."

LANSING SAYS U. S. DEMANDS A LEAGUE

"Government Defies People by Refusing to Enter Association of Nations."

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Robert Lansing, whose resignation as Secretary of State was requested by President Wilson and who later contributed to the political literature of the day his book, "The President and the Peace Treaty," has written further on the subject of the League of Nations in an article which is published in the issue of the Outlook dated June 29.

He states unequivocally that for the heads of this Government to refuse absolutely to enter into any association of the nations of the world to avert wars would be an act "in defiance of the will of the people of the United States and in opposition to the common desire of mankind, which is demanding some union of the nations which will be devoted to the preservation of peace in the world."

The principal objection which Lansing raises to the League of Nations as at present constituted is that the control of the Council of the League by the five principal Powers recognizes the doctrine of the right of might rather than the right of justice He continues:

"Under present international conditions there should be, in my opinion, two distinct agencies, each functioning within its own independent sphere. One of these agencies should be for the enforcement of all of the terms of peace and based on the possession of physical might by the nations composing the agency. The other should be for the removal by peaceful and not coercive methods of the causes of war and based on the equality of nations.

"The first result of the adoption of the principle of the equality of nations would be to make impossible an undertaking to employ force or coercion by the international organization devoted to prevention of appeals to force.

"A second result would be the disappearance of all the active executive powers of the league as now constituted and the conversion of the legislative powers, if they can be called legislative, into authority to collect information and declare international opinion as to conditions which affect the common interests of the nations.

"A third result would be to make needless an oligarchy of the principal powers or a body dominated by them, since the only justification for their superior rights in the league is their joint possession of force sufficient to enforce those terms of peace with which the league is charged in the treaties. With moral obligation to keep faith the only compulsive element recognized, for there is none other in the relations between nations except physical might or the threat to exercise it, the reason for considering the possession of physical might as a qualification for a superior voice in international affairs disappears."

MAN CONVICTED OF ROBBING SHOW WINDOW GETS 12 YEARS

James McMichael, Arrested May 2, Sentenced for Both Burglary and Larceny.

James McMichael, 39 years old, was found guilty by a jury today of smashing the plate glass window of the Remoh jewelry store, Sixth street and Washington avenue, on the early morning of May 2 last, and taking out jewelry valued at $300. His punishment was fixed at 12 years imprisonment—10 for burglary and two for larceny.

Patrolman William Lancken, standing at Seventh and Washington, heard the crash of glass, and after a chase of several blocks, punctuated by shots at McMichael, pursued him into the arms of another policeman. McMichael had registered at the Planters Hotel. He said he was only taking a walk, and that another man broke the window. The jewelry was found wrapped up in his overcoat, in front of the window. McMichael testified that his overcoat had been stolen from his room.

INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGE THREE HOURS AFTER ARREST

Orville Philips Accused of Sending a Fraudulent Order and Worthless Check by Boy.

Orville Philips, 25 years old, of 1514 South Sixteenth street, was indicted on a charge of attempting to obtain goods by false pretenses yesterday afternoon, within three hours after his arrest at the salesroom of the Union Electric Light & Power Co., Twelfth and Locust streets, where a fraudulent order, accompanied by a worthless check, had been presented for two electric fans, valued at $35 each.

The order and check had been tendered by Alfon Casper, 14 years old, 4624 Seibert street, and he was telling detectives that he was acting for a stranger whom he had met in front of Central Library when Philips appeared in front of the salesroom show window and Casper pointed him out.

Several order blanks and a book of blank checks corresponding with the paper Casper had presented were found in Philips' pockets. He refused to make any statement.

Civilization's Greatest Achievement

Some Eskimos were brought down to Edmonton, Alberta, on official business.

They had never before been south of the Arctic Circle.

They had never seen a street, a town, a window, or a wooden door. A bed, a water tap, and an electric light produced completely new sensations. Street cars were unknown to them; telephones unheard of; trains not to be believed even when beheld.

They had never seen an automobile until someone took them riding in one. They had never set their eyes on an airplane until someone did his most daring stunts in one to thrill them. They had never even seen a movie!

But what do you suppose moved them most in the whole bag of tricks which civilization produced for their amusement and amazement?

What seemed to them the greatest wonder of all?

The cold storage plants!

The White Man didn't always have to hunt and fish when he wanted to eat!

Here was civilization's greatest gift, its greatest benefaction.

This feature of civilization makes it possible for Swift & Company, in the season of over production, to store a supply of food for distribution in the season of scant, or non-production. Thus we are able to maintain for all a constant supply of such choice and necessary foods as Premium Milk-fed Chickens, Brookfield Butter and Brookfield Eggs.

7-Year-Old Girl Gets First "Superbe" Model Ranger Awarded By Post-Dispatch

To Miss Elizabeth Christman, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Christman, 4227 Lafayette av., goes the distinction of being the first of her sex to be awarded a Ranger Bicycle under the terms of the offer made by the Post-Dispatch.

Like all of the fortunate boys to whom bicycles have been awarded, Elizabeth "just couldn't believe" such a bicycle as the Ranger was described to be could be hers for the effort she made. It seemed too good to be true. She willingly admitted, though, that the "Superbe" model on exhibition at the Post-Dispatch office was even more beautiful than her mental picture of it, created by our description. "A bicycle was the one thing I wanted," said Elizabeth to the Post-Dispatch representative. "Now I am satisfied because I have earned such a beautiful one."

HER RANGER "SUPERBE" IS SOMETHING MORE THAN A PRIZED FUN MAKER. IT IS AN EMBLEM, AS WELL, OF MERIT REWARDED—AN EARNED POSSESSION.

The POST-DISPATCH Offers 1000 Ranger Bicycles to Boys & Girls for 20 NEW 6 Months' Subscriptions

The Plan Is Simple—But There Are a Few Necessary Requirements—Read Them and Avoid Misunderstanding or Dispute:

20 subscriptions are required—each for 6 months. No extra credit for yearly subscriptions.

New subscriptions are required—from persons not now reading the daily Post-Dispatch.

Daily subscriptions are required. No credit allowed for Sunday Post-Dispatch subscriptions. A Sunday Post-Dispatch reader who has not been reading the daily Post-Dispatch may subscribe through you under this plan.

Verified subscriptions are required. We investigate the validity of the order and the subscriber's responsibility. All orders are received subject to acceptance by the Post-Dispatch.

Offer is open only to boys and girls who are not identified with the sale or distribution of the Post-Dispatch, and who reside within St. Louis carrier delivery limits, including East St. Louis, Belleville, Granite City, Venice and Madison, in Illinois; and Kirkwood, Webster Groves, Clayton, Ferguson, Florissant, Valley Park and Maplewood in Missouri.

Boy and girl readers: The sport of bike riding may not be new to you, but you have not experienced ALL the joys that bike riding affords unless you have EARNED your bicycle by your own efforts.

The way to do it honorably will be made known to you if you will

LIEUT. VASEY INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Policeman, Reporter and Driver of Taxi Also Hurt When Cars Upset in Crash.

Acting Lieutenant Vasey, in charge of the police "nightrider" squad, was seriously injured in a collision of the automobile he was drivng and a taxicab, at Twelfth and Pine streets, at 4 o'clock this morning, as he was on the way to investigate the killing of a robber by an automobilist early this morning. He was cut and bruised in another automobile accident a week ago, when he was riding with his squad.

Lester Miller, 29 years old, 1422 Montgomery street, driver of the taxicab, was cut and bruised in the accident today. He was arrested for careless driving. Special Policeman James Gilsinn, who was riding with Lieut. Vasey, and who was slightly bruised, said the taxicab was running about 45 miles an hour.

Lieut. Vasey suffered a broken right collarbone, several broken ribs on the right side, injuries to the chest, several scalp wounds and cuts on his legs. He was taken to the city hospital. He is 38 years old and lives at 2918 North Taylor avenue.

Both Machines Upset.

Charles J. Hahn, 21, of 4169 McPherson avenue, a newspaper reporter, who was riding with Lieut. Vasey on his way home, suffered scalp wounds. He and Miller were treated at the city dispensary. Both the police car and the taxicab were overturned and wrecked. The car Lieut. Vasey was in a week ago was also wrecked in the accident then.

Lieut. Vasey had been at the Deer Street Station looking at some suspects when he heard of the shooting of the robber, in South St. Louis. He hurried to the Magnolia Avenue Station, where he met the remainder of his squad, in another machine. He learned the robber's body was at the morgue and started there. At Thirteenth street and Chouteau avenue two men whose actions were suspicious were pursued by Vasey and Gilsinn. The men dropped a five-gallon jug containing whisky and escaped. The jug was put in the car and in the wreck it broke and its contents were spattered over Gilsinn.

Says Car Had No Lights.

After seeing the robber's body Vasey started to the Delmonte Hotel, 5653 Delmar boulevard, to interview a witness of the shooting. Hahn went along in order to get home. They drove north on Twelfth street and the taxicab was seen coming west on Pine street. Gilsinn said it had no lights. Vasey turned sharply to the left to avoid an accident, but the machines collided. The men in the police machine were buried beneathe the wreckage, but Gilsinn worked himself out and got help for the others.

Three Persons Are Injured in as Many Accidents.

Three other persons were injured in three automobile accidents yesterday.

Earl Dooley, 5, 5714 Kennerly avenue, crossing the street in front of his home, was struck by an automobile driven by William Barrett, 15, 1129 Clara avenue. He suffered scalp wounds and several cuts.

Mildred Shorer, 15, 1514 Burd avenue, was knocked down by an automobile driven by Joseph Winesuff, 1418 Blackstone avenue, in front of 5562 Easton avenue, and suffered cuts on the scalp and left leg and internal injuries. Witnesses said she ran in front of the machine.

Chester Kananer, 8, 625 Shenandoah avenue, was struck by a Ford truck driven by Henry J. Voney, 729 Shenandoah avenue, in front of 2319 South Seventh street, and suffered several scalp wounds. He had been riding on the running board, jumped off, slipped and was struck.

Mrs. Ethel Prel, 22, 1534 Biddle street, was seriously injured when struck yesterday by a bicycle ridden by John Woelfel, 16, 930 Tyler street, at Twelfth and Biddle streets. She had just stepped from the curb when struck. She suffered internal injuries and was taken to her home. The Woelfel boy said he whistled a warning. He was arrested for having no bicycle license.

Both Men Are in the "Pink" But One of Them Is Going to Feel Blue After July 2

Jack Dempsey Will Try to End the Fight as Quickly As Possible, Kearns Says

Champion's Manager Tells Wray That American Will Enter Ring Saturday a 20 Per Cent Better Man That at Toledo —Rumors of Dissension in Titleholder's Camp Spiked.

By John E. Wray.

Sporting Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Several brainstorms arose in local newspaper circles today, lending zest to the championship fight fans' daily grist, but adding nothing whatever to the dispositions of Tex Rickard, promoter of the "greatest show on earth," pugilistically, and Jack Kearns, manager of the world's champion.

The first teapot tempest developed in a report that Kearns and Dempsey had split—a rumor that subsequently was punctured; the second arose when reformers made two attempts to have the fight stopped, and twice failed to score.

The presence of Jack Kearns in New York, the fact that Dempsey had worked out the day before against the orders of Kearns, and a dispatch from Atlantic City caused the Kearns story to "break." The dispatch said that the champion and his manager had positively split.

Kearns, however, told the Post-Dispatch that the only "split" likely between him and Dempsey was the split of that July 2 check for $800,000.

Kearns said that he had talked with Dempsey on the phone only a few moments before, and had given him instructions. The alleged violations of his boxing orders by Dempsey were in fact not violations, Kearns stated, as Dempsey had only followed his orders by boxing on Monday.

Kearns departed for Atlantic City last night, somewhat peeved at the story, which he declared to be absolutely without foundation. Nevertheless, rumors that all was not well between Dempsey and Kearns were numerous at Atlantic City last week. Traced down they invariably came to roost in the brains of men with a grievance against Kearns.

Fight Will Not Be Stopped.

The attacking forces of reform were routed and the statement positively made that the fight would not be interfered with. Small wonder when the State gets 10 per cent of the receipts, the municipality of Jersey City 5 per cent and the brother of the Governor constructed the arena.

Some diplomat, this Rickard!

All his diplomacy has not prevented the demon promoter from losing many pounds of weight in worrying over this project—the first fight to reach the astounding gate receipts total of $1,000,000.

Before he departed Kearns also gave the writer an earful as to Dempsey—the Dempsey who is going into the ring Saturday afternoon. He said:

"Don't listen to all these bear stories about Jack's bad condition. If he looks sluggish at times it has been because we had to slow up to keep sparring partners from quitting and to prevent Jack from overdoing it, as he did for Brennan.

"Just remember this, when you see Jack at work Saturday—Dempsey will enter the ring a 20 per cent better man than at Toledo, in speed, strength and even in ambition. He has set his heart on winning this fight, for it is the first really and truly world's championship fight in many years."

Says Dempsey Will Start Early.

Kearns was asked what sort of battle Dempsey would make—whether he would play foxy and wait, let Carpentier set the pace or tear in and try for a knockout from the start.

"I guarantee this—Dempsey will set sail from the tap of the bell in the first round. If he can stop Georges in 30 seconds the French champion will last just that long. He is positively out to finish the foe quickly," Kearns answered.

This assertion was the cue to the two or three listeners-in to go out and get down bets on Dempsey to win in the first round. It is the only way they can get a reasonable chance to win real money on the title holder, now.

For Carpentier money is scarce in this vicinity. Even at 4 to 1 reported wagers that can be verified are as scarce as gold-filled hen's teeth. Around Times Square, where most of the conversation is retailed, very little money is in evidence to be bet in any manner on Carpentier. The Frenchman's unwillingness to reveal his true ability is at the bottom of New York doubt and accounts for resultant lack of backing.

There exists here an unwholesome suspicion that Carpentier is "not showing all he has," because he has nothing to show.

Gloves Made With Cuffs to Take Up Much of the Excess Weight

Yet there are to be found occasional opinions expressed that Carpentier is dangerous and will win. Willie Lewis, one of those who have staunchly supported Carpentier from the first, as far as publicly expressed opinion goes, was asked why he picked Carpentier.

Why He Picked Carpentier.

"Well, everybody's picking Dempsey, and while I fear Dempsey is too strong and big there is an outside chance that Carpentier can get across that punch and win. You get nothing by picking Dempsey, but a lot of credit by naming Carpentier, if he should win."

Despite the betting and expert opinion, sentiment is in favor of the Frenchman to a considerable degree, though apparently not as pronounced as in St. Louis, where the prevailing thought seemed to be: "I hope the Frenchman wins, but I'm afraid he can't."

The official gloves to be used during the fight have been completed and delivered to the custody of the promoters at Madison Square Garden. They were made specially by Sol Levinson of San Francisco and weigh eight ounces each, in compliance with the New Jersey laws. The regulation weight of a championship glove is five ounces. The gloves were not on view to "news hounds," but a member of the office force at the Rickard headquarters said that they were built with a cuff which would take up much of the excess weight.

It is customary in New Jersey fights to put at least four ounces of the glove weight on the wrist, so that the striking portion will not be too much of a pillow.

There is no doubt that the more heavily padded the glove is, the worse will be the Carpentier outlook. Dempsey has been scoring knockout punches with the 14-ounce pillows he uses in training-camp workouts. Dempsey wore eight-ounce gloves, of the heavy pattern, against Fulton, and stopped Fred in 20 seconds.

Satisfied With Referee.

General satisfaction is expressed here with the appointment of the Jersey City Marshal, Harry Ertle, to referee the bout. Ertle has handled championship fights and has done it well. He presided when Carpentier beat Levinsky in the fourth round, last year.

The most important part of Ertle's performance will be to watch for fouls of various kinds committed either by the fighters or their seconds. In this country referees are accustomed to take intent and damage done into consideration, before disqualifying a man. In the present case, as Dempsey is holder of the title the fouls will have to be unquestioned and plain, Ertle says, for him to declare Carpentier the victor in such a manner. The title would go with the ruling, if he did.

This has happened only once in this country in a real championship fight. That was when Ad Wolgast lost his title to Willie Ritchie in California, after having been previously warned by the referee. Wolgast was being beaten at the time, however.

Johnny Ertle, in a no-decision fight in Minneapolis, won a similar victory over Kid Williams when the officials ruled Williams out; but although Ertle claimed the title, the public never championed his cause.

Fouls are rather easy to call if the official is "finicky." Dempsey seldom hits foul blows, and the only chance for his punches to go astray is in case Carpentier should knock down the blow in trying to avoid it.

Carpentier has lost one title fight because his manager jumped into the ring, and Manager Kearns has called attention on Dempsey's behalf to this tendency on the part of the French champion's manager. Of course, if Descamps enters the ring, his man loses.

This will be the great day at the Garden Sporting Club. It is expected that 600 newspaper men today will be assigned seat and telegraph wire reservations which were delayed by construction difficulties. The press men are so numerous that they have been divided into two sections—those handling ringside wires, and morning newspaper men who do not need them. They are so numerous and take up so many seats that the last row of $50 seats will be more distant from the ring center at Jersey City than are the dollar seats at a St. Louis Coliseum show.

Imagine where the $5.50 man is placed!

AMERICANS TAKE MATCH IN POLO TOURNAMENT

By the Associated Press.

HURLINGHAM, England, June 29.—Devereux Milburn, captain of the American international polo team, yesterday in a fine contest between the American Meadowbrook polo four and the British "Woodpeckers," shot the winning goal for his team. The final score was Meadowbrook, 7; Woodpeckers, 6.

Louis Stoddard, J. Watson Webb, Robert E. Strawbridge and Milburn made up the American team. The Woodpeckers consisted of Lieutenant-Colonel T. P. Mellvill, Lieutenant-Colonel H. C. S. Ashton, Lord Dalmeny and Maj. J. F. Harrison.

The play was in the tournament for the champion cup, in which eight teams are competing. Added interest has been given the tournament by the entry of the American players.

Indians Buy Catcher.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 29.—Enoch (Ginger) Shinault, catcher of the New Haven club of the Eastern League, has been sold to the Cleveland American League team, it was announced today by George M. Weiss, president of the New Haven baseball club. The price was $10,000, said to be the highest ever paid for an Eastern League player.

Carpentier Deserts His Farm in Auto to Escape Crowd at Training Camp

French Champion, in Letter to Post-Dispatch, Tells of Doing Road Work, Gymnast and a Little Boxing.

By Georges Carpentier.

(Copyright, 1921.)

MANHASSET, N. Y., June 29.—So many visitors came out to the farm yesterday afternoon, although it was supposed to be a private day, that I was forced to do something that I have never before done in my training. I pulled a sweater over my head and escaped out to where my car was parked, and with Pierre Mallet and the chauffeur abandoned the farm altogether. We drove off in the direction of New York. Anything to escape the visitors.

On the way we ran into a terrible thunderstorm but it was better than being bothered by the flock of well wishers. When I returned most of my visitors had departed and I was able to get a little of the peace which is so necessary to a fighter before a fight as important as this one. My road work in the morning was severe and I also did gymnastic exercises and a little boxing.

Coming in along the road I found a horseshoe, which now hangs outside our front door. I believe it is customary to put such luck bringers over the door but we decided to take no chances.

Joe Jeanette brought his family out to the farm in the afternoon and his little girls sang for me very sweetly.

Francois Descamps went up to New York to see about the question of the size of the ring. We were informed by telephone that it would be but 18 feet square. Our contract calls for a fight under the Marquis of Queensbury rules and we know that those specify a 24-foot ring. However, we realize that we are strangers in this country and we are quite prepared to abide by the decision of the New Jersey State Boxing Commission.

I am not going to say anything about what my training will be from now on. Dempsey can work just as he pleases but we are not going to give anything away.

BRYANT BEATS METCALF IN LEGION NET TOURNEY

Herbert Bryant sprang a surprise by defeating Robert Metcalf in the third round of the American Legion Tennis Tournament at Triple A yesterday afternoon. The score was 8—10, 6—4, 6—2. The first set was a long one, Metcalf finally winning it after 18 games had been played. Bryant improved his style of play after this set, and won the next two sets by playing some excellent tennis.

Ed Heuermann of the Quentin Roosevelt Post reached the final round in the singles by defeating H. Vance in straight sets, 6—2, 6—3. Heuermann will meet the winner of the semifinal match between Elmer Schwarz and Herbert Bryant.

Yesterday's results:

CHAMPIONSHIP SINGLES.

Third round—Herbert Bryant defeated Robert Metcalf, 8—10, 6—4, 6—2; Elmer Schwarz defeated Scott Gardner, 6—4, 6—1.

CHAMPIONSHIP DOUBLES.

Second round—Schwarz and Reber defeated Bryant and Honson, 7—5, 6—4.

CONSOLATION SINGLES.

First round—Chas. Reber defeated F. C. Whiting, 6—0, 6—1; B. Nudelman defeated H. T. Hungerford, 6—3, 6—0.

TODAY'S PAIRINGS.

Championship—Elmer Schwarz vs. Herbert Bryant, 4:30 p. m.

All second-round matches in doubles and consolation singles must be played this afternoon.

MISS STIRLING AND PARTNER ARE BEATEN

By the Associated Press.

WORPLESDON, England, June 29.—Miss Alexa Stirling, American woman golf champion, and R. H. de Montmorency, British amateur golfer, were defeated here today in the mixed foursome with Miss Joyce Wethered, English woman champion, and her brother, Roger Wethered, runner-up in the British open championship. Miss Wethered and her brother won 5 up and 3 to play.

DRAKE GOLFERS LEAD IN COLLEGIATE TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

GREENWIST, Conn., June 29.—Golfers of Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., led yesterday in the team match of the international golf championship tournament at the end of the first day's play over the Greenwich Country Club links. Robert McKee of Drake led the field at the end of 36 holes with a card of 76-73—149, one stroke better than Jesse Sweetser of Yale, with 79-71—150, and A. H. Boyd, Dartmouth, with 76-73—150.

In the team event, the aggregate total of Drake's best quartet was 627, with Dartmouth second, four strokes behind. Thirty-six more holes will be played today, which will count as the qualifying round in the championship proper starting Thursday.

The Cambridge golfers, headed by G. N. P. Humphries, the captain, failed to get going, their best four totals mounting to 662. J. A. Bott, with 81-77—158, led the English players.

American Woman Victor in British Tennis Tourney

Miss Ryan of California Will Play Suzanne Lenglen for Championship.

By the Associated Press.

WIMBLEDON, June 29.—Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California won the final match in the women's singles of the British turf court lawn tennis championship tournament here today, defeating Mrs. Satterthwaite of England in straight sets, 6—1, 6—0. Miss Ryan thereby earns the right to meet Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen in the challenge round for the championship.

JOSTIES IN SEMIFINAL OF TRIPLE A TITLE TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Fred O. Josties, present Triple A champion, is the first player to reach the semifinals in the annual club tennis championship at Triple A. He reached the semifinals yesterday by defeating Valesca Satterfield in a closely played match. Josties won in straight sets, 7—5, 6—4. Satterfield took the lead at the start of the first set. With a score of 5—2 against him, Josties rallied and won five straight games and the set. The Triple A champion started the second set with a slight lead and held it throughout, winning at 6—4.

Gordon Fennell continued his good playing and forced Harold Hess to a three-set match, which required 42 games to complete. Hess won by the score of 10—8, 4—6, 8—6. There are only six players left in the singles event, and some very interesting matches should take place today and tomorrow.

Yesterday's Results:

Fred O. Josties defeated Val Satterfield, 7—5, 6—4; Harold Hess defeated Gordon Fennell, 10—8, 4—6, 8—6.

Today's Pairings:

Drewes vs. Reppert.

Hoerr vs. Wray Brown.

On Watch Is Recovering.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 29.—On Watch, one of the foremost race horses of the 1920 season, is recovering after an operation for an affected wind pipe. The racer, which won 10 events last year and was successful in the Paumonok handicap this year, showed indications of "blowing" after two or three workouts recently and it was decided to operate on the animal.

THE KIMMSWICK KIDDER.

Kimmswick, Mo., June 27.

Dear Mr. Davis: I have a joke on the Dempsey and Carpentier fight and would you please put it in the joke column of the Post Dispatch? It is as follows: Some of us are going bullfrog hunting in Jersey City after the 2d of July because we want some of the frogs Dempsey knocked out of the Frenchman and Mr. Davis would you please put my name at the bottom of it?

Yours respectfully,

LOWELL OHEIM.

All right, Lowell, and if you need any tartar sauce for your frog legs you might use some of the tar that the Frenchman knocks out of Dempsey.

Georges Carpentier had his hair cut on Monday in spite of the fact that he has a sparring partner named Samson, who should have advised him against such an act just before going into a scrap.

Furthermore, if Georges contemplates taking up the profession of concert pianist he should give some consideration to the value of a hirsute adornment.

Jim Riley, Newest Brownie, Has Had Spectacular Rise

Rookie From West Did Not Play Professional Game Until May 4 of This Year.

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 29.—Speeding to St. Louis to join the Browns is one Jim Riley, erstwhile second baseman with the Vancouver Beavers and acknowledged to be one of the finest hockey players in the world. Riley's call to the majors marks one of the most spectacular bids for athletic fame that has ever been recorded in any sport. He played his first game in organized baseball on May 4, 1921, and when his fiftieth appearance had been recorded, three big league clubs and two in the Pacific Coast were bidding for the youngster's services.

The most outstanding angle regarding Riley is that he was not even thought of in respect to baseball until President Bob Brown of the Vancouver team, in the Pacific International League, announced last spring that Riley would try for a place on the home team.

Just why Riley should be saddled with the handicap of an effort to become a baseball player, was akin to a plot to cultivate Babe Ruth as a hockey player, for Riley holds just as high a rating in professional hockey as Ruth, Sisler, Cobb, et al, have attained on the diamond.

Became Star Overnight.

Riley was not a born hockey player. When he broke into the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, about [illegible] years ago, he was the most awkward and slowest candidate that was ever picked up by the league. For three years he sat on the bench, but he studied the game from every angle and worked twice as hard as any player in the far Western loop, in his efforts to become a "star" and then, almost overnight, Jim Riley became a star among the stars.

As a youngster, Riley lived in Ontario, where baseball was hardly ever played. He never handled a bat or glove until he went overseas with the Canadians in 1917. Last year he dabbled in semipro baseball and was regarded as an ordinary player.

When Bob Brown was looking for material, last spring, he confided that he would like to find a local boy that showed promise. "Somebody like Jim Riley, who is willing to learn and who is popular with the fans," is the way the Beaver chieftain put it.

From the day Riley entered spring training he amazed the critics with his uncanny progress in a game that was practically beyond his realm and when the Beavers struck camp and started for home Riley had copped the second sack position in face of experienced competition.

Big League Scouts Impressed.

Big league scouts who have seen Riley perform are united in the belief that he will stick. He has a fielding average this season of .347 and is batting well over the [illegible] mark. His last week on the [illegible] saw him clout the spheroid for [illegible] homers in five days.

To one who has watched Jim Riley develop there is but one solution to his achievements. His successful efforts to make good in the fastest game in the world, "ice hockey," has brought to him an athletic instinct that only top-notchers possess. He seeks advice and then works on it until he has perfected that to which he aspires.

Early in the season he set a merry clip with the bat, then over-anxiety brought a slump. Manager Billy Purtell, who was with Akron last season, and who has been with the White Sox and the Tigers, pointed out Riley's errors and in less than a month he overcame his faults and boosted his batting average from .225 to .316, included in which were nine home runs in two weeks.

Final Yacht Race Today.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Possession of the Manhasset Bay challenge trophy defended on the third and final yacht race on Long Island Sound today. All three contestants were tied at eight points each. The challenging yachts, Hayseed IV of New Rochelle Yacht Club and the Hayseed V of the Corinthian Yacht Club, Marble Head, Mass., each won one race, and finished third in the other. The defending yacht, Nahma of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club was second in each event.

Jack and Georges Are Fit, Says Edgren; End Training Tomorrow

Champion in His Workouts Has Taken Punishment, Challenger Has Not, Writer Points Out, in Commenting on Great Difference Between Opponents in Title Bout.

By Robert Edgren.

(Copyright, 1921.)

NEW YORK, June 29.—Both Carpentier and Dempsey have been doing more work this week than their published schedules called for and both will work until tomorrow. Dempsey will work hard that afternoon, which will finish his training, for on Friday he will start for Jersey City, where arrangements have been made to keep him secluded in a private residence not very far from the arena until it is time to strip for the fight. His location will be kept a secret so that the champion can have a rest from the annoyance of being questioned and advised by visitors.

Carpentier has also been doing some boxing in private, so far as local visitors are concerned, only a few visiting French newspaper writers who haven't had a chance to see him before being admitted to the quarters. His guard has been increased, an armed man patrolling the fence around the Matthews farm where he lives and two more watching the front gate and the house to keep out people who have no business on the grounds. Carpentier has not been boxing with Tom Gibbons or any other first-class men, as rumored. He has sparred with Joe Jeanette, a Harlem heavy called Samson and his French mates. He has done little hard hitting. Both men taped their hands carefully this week and have avoided all chance of injury.

Dempsey's cut eyebrow has healed entirely, only a narrow white scar showing the location of the injury. As for Carpentier, he had a slightly bruised eye a few days ago, which is all right again, and he shows no scars of battle except a few new scraped places where he has brushed against the ropes.

Not Extending Themselves.

The actual rounds boxed and the manner in which the men work during the last few days are of little importance, and indicate nothing whatever, as they are not extending themselves. I have seen no really significant workout by Carpentier. On the rare occasions when he has knocked down sparring partners this hasn't been much of a feat, as they are poor second raters.

He hasn't tried to show anything of his real fighting form, but, on the contrary—if we can take the word of many who have seen him fight in Europe—has carefully concealed his natural fighting style and hippodromed it for the benefit of the spectators. We know only that he looks very fit, that he is well built for fighting and that he is a shifty fellow with a good punch. His endurance under punishment such as Dempsey is likely to deal out is an unknown item. Dempsey's stamina was shown when he let Brennan batter him for 12 rounds, and then knocked Brennan out. Dempsey, too, has encouraged his sparring partners to wallop him at every opportunity—a thing Carpentier hasn't done at all. Dempsey believes in roughing and being roughed. Carpentier doesn't.

Jack Has Taken Punishment.

In all the training I have seen at Dempsey's right up to now, Dempsey has pushed his face into hard punches, has taken thumps with a snort and clouted back hard, but not with his full power. At times, I have thought that he doesn't display the speed he had at Toledo. He has drifted away from the constant swaying and weaving that always has been the most important detail of his original fighting style, and stands nearly straight, bobbing and ducking straight up and down instead of from side to side. He seems to be trying to box like other fighters—which certainly is not the best style for Dempsey. I asked Kearns about this. Kearns said:

"Never mind that. Jack is every bit as fast, but he can't use his speed without hitting too hard, and, if he hits too hard, he won't have any sparring partners left to fight. He'll have the speed and the old punch at Jersey City, and he'll go back to his weaving style in the real fight because he doesn't know how to fight any other way. He's stronger and a better boxer than he was two years ago, and in every bit as good condition except that his nerves are on edge because of spiteful things that have been said about him and that we can't keep entirely from his notice. Instead of hurting him, this is going to help him Saturday, for he is determined to give his answer in the only way he can show the world—with his fists."

Descamps Inspects Ring.

The Frenchman's manager, Descamps, visited New York with Pierre Mallet yesterday and with Tex Rickard inspected the new ring that has been built especially for this bout. Descamps moved with an air of mystery, and his inspection was given out as "very private." Everything is private and mysterious where the Frenchman is concerned, apparently. But at that a crowd of a couple of hundred persons stood in the doorway to the cellar under the Garden, where the ring was erected temporarily before being moved to Jersey City, and had as good a look at it as Descamps.

It is a 22-foot ring platform, with the ropes set inside far enough to give a safe margin. It is built in sections, trussed with steel, so that it can hold as many people as may rush into it after the bout. The flooring is of two-inch planks. It is covered with an inch of felt padding and a canvas that is laced down tight all along the four edges. The four posts at the corners are of steel, thick enough to stand any strain without bracing. They won't give like the posts at Toledo, which bent like hairpins when Willard was knocked against the ropes. The ropes are of soft white manila, and on the ring posts in the opposing corners are ingenious devices, seats that swing into place and fold up between rounds and hinged cooling buckets to hold the water bottles.

$90,000 Bet on Dempsey.

There is much talk of betting in Wall street and wagers that total something like $300,000. Only in the slang of the day bets are "investments!" The largest was an "investment" of $90,000 to $30,000 on Dempsey to win.

The influx of many English and French followers of Carpentier will probably influence "investing" during the rest of the week. The English sportsmen are absolutely positive that Carpentier will stop Dempsey, and some of them say the American's finish will not be delayed beyond the third round.

An English army officer of much prominence in sport gave Arthur O'Connell of the Belmont an earful yesterday and fairly begged him to copper his ventures on Dempsey and plunge on Carpentier.

"I've wagered $25,000 against $75,000 on Carpentier," he told Arthur. "You're a nice fellow and I hate to see you lose all your money on Dempsey, who hasn't a chance. I've seen them both. Dempsey's record is nothing startling, old top, for the men he beat in a round were slow old-timers or second-raters. Carpentier will drop Dempsey and he won't get up, and within three or four rounds. Carpentier will completely outclass him. In sizing up a fighter you must consider his career from the start. A great leader in any line shows some sign of genius in his youth. When Carpentier began fighting as a small boy he easily beat our most experienced boxers in his class. He is a genius and the greatest fighter in the world. He cannot lose."

This opinion may be tempered by the fact that the English also think Frank Moran a great heavyweight.

Jersey "reformers" tried to get out an injunction against the fight yesterday afternoon and were sat down upon by two Judges, who refused to interfere with the greatest sporting event in history on the theoretical supposition that a crime was about to be committed.

JACK JOHNSON MUST SERVE HIS FULL TERM

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Appeals to the Department of Justice for the parole of Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion, have been turned down, Attorney-General Daugherty announced yesterday.

The Attorney-General said that "considering the crime," he did not feel that the parole privilege should be extended merely to allow Johnson to witness the world's title fight at Jersey City, Saturday. Johnson's term at the Leavenworth prison expires July 9.

Gymnastic Tourney Opens.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 29.—The thirty-second national gymnastic and athletic tournament, under the auspices of the North American Gynmastic Union opens here tomorrow and about 7000 men and women, the largest number of athletes ever assembled in this country, will compete in the meet which continues through Saturday and includes national track and field honors, apparatus work, calisthenics and drills, tug of war, volley ball, wrestling, fencing, swimming, diving and other events. The St. Louis aggregation arrived here yesterday and other delegations of athletes are arriving here with each train.

HARDY INVITED FOR M. V. TENNIS TOURNEY

The committee in charge of the Missouri Valley championship which starts Saturday afternoon at the Triple A Club, sent a telegram last night to Samuel Hardy, captain of the United States Davis Cup team, urging him to come to St. Louis for the Valley event. Hardy is now playing in the national clay court championship at Chicago.

In addition to a number of local entries received yesterday, the entry of L. A. Wehrle of Belleville, Ill., also arrived. Other entries from cities and towns near St. Louis are expected before Friday.

Wilson to Box Britton.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, June 29.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, will meet Jack Britton of New York, welterweight titleholder, in a 10-round no-decision bout at East Chicago, Ind., July 22. Martin Killilea, Wilson's manager, announced yesterday.

Fowler and McCarthy Draw.

LEWISTOWN, Mont.,June 29—Monk Fowler of New Orleans and Charles McCarthy of Helena fought 15 rounds to a draw here yesterday afternoon, according to a referee's decision. Fowler substituted for Otto Wallace of Milwaukee, who has a disabled hand.

Cards Won 17 of 28 Tilts During Stand at Home

Rickeymen Took Five of Seven Series, Losing Only to Boston and Chicago.

Willie Doak's hurling and a steady bombardment of the twirlers of Pat Moran enabled the Cardinals to take the final game of the series from the Reds yesterday afternoon, 7 to 3. The victory gave the Rickeymen the odd game of the three and made the seventeenth triumph out of the 28 played during the stand at home.

Every team in the league called since the Knot-Holers came home early in June and the St. Louisans won five series and lost two. Only the Cubs and Braves were able to depart with an advantage over the Rickeymen.

The stand opened with the four-game series with the Phillies. The Cardinals lost the first game to the terrible tail-enders and then started their memorable drive, in the course of which they won 10 straight. They took three from the Phillies, four straight from the league champion Brooklyn team and three straight from the New York bruisers of Muggsy McGraw. In the fourth game with the Giants Roy Walker's brilliant pitching was ruined by a collection of errors which donated the game to the Giants. The way that game was lost and the strain under which the Cardinals had labored apparently weakened them, for the Braves came to town and took four in a row. In this series the Cardinals faced the best pitching displayed during the stand at Sportsman's Park.

League Leaders Beaten.

Pittsburg came next and the Rickeymen took the league leaders' measure, three games to two. With any kind of respectable fielding another game would have been on the Cardinals' side of the ledger.

Chicago followed the Pirates here and took two out of three, Vaughn and Alexander gaining the victories. Cincinnati followed, winning one of three games.

During the seven series the Cardinals showed that as batters they are potential pennant winners; that their pitching, while streaky, still would suffice because of their great batting strength. But the thing that stood out most prominently, and the thing that is responsible for the Cardinals' failure to be in first place today, is uncertain fielding. The infield has played more consistently than has the outfield, but even the infield has bungled several games. And the outfielding, with the exception of the work of the steady McHenry, has been at times atrocious.

Several In-and-Outers.

Rickey has several men, apparently, who have four or five brilliant days in the field. Then, before it can be found that they are in a fielding slump they kick away several ball games. It may be the stuff that violin strings are made of that is lacking, for a failure to club the ball at a .350 gait invariably is followed or accompanied by a fielding impotence that is most discouraging.

All critics agree, however, that if the Cardinals could field consistently and steadily the team should win the pennant with ease. The season is still young. The Cardinals are only nine and one-half games behind the leaders. They invariably do better on the road than at home, and the present tour, which will wind up late in July, easily might see the Rickeymen fighting with the Pirates and Giants for first place. Certainly their batting strength and potential fielding ability should boost them—if they can just make their errors where they don't hurt as much as they have thus far this season.

Today the Cardinals play an exhibition game in Belleville and tomorrow in Peoria, opening in Chicago on Friday. They will return home July 26, with the Phillies as their opponents.

BURMAN IS WINNER IN 10-ROUND BATTLE WITH CHAMPION JOE LYNCH

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Joe Lynch, bantamweight boxing champion, was shaded by Joe Burman of Chicago in their 10-round bout at East Chicago, Ind., last night, in the opinion of newspaper men at the ringside.

As decisions by referees are not permitted in Indiana, Lynch's championship was not lost to Burman. The newspaper men present were virtually unanimous in giving Burman a slight shade.

The bout was the fourth in which the men have engaged, each having won a decision and one bout being declared a draw.

Andy Chaney of Baltimore was given a shade over Bud Christiano of Chicago in a preliminary bout by newspaper men. They are featherweights.

Burman did most of the leading during the bout, Lynch fighting cautiously and not appearing to take many chances except in the third, sixth and ninth rounds. In these frames the finishes were fast.

The general opinion among experts was that Burman had a slight shade in four rounds, Lynch in one and the other five were fairly even.

FIVE WESTERN PLAYERS REMAIN IN HUNT FOR COLLEGE NET HONORS

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—Five Western and three Eastern representatives survived the third round of the annual Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis Association championship tournament yesterday on the courts of the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford.

Those remaining in the singles are Phillip Neer and James Davies, Leland Stanford; F. Bastian, University of Indiana; McNeil Drumwright, University of Texas; Edmund Levy, University of California; E. W. Feibleman and J. B. Fenno Jr., of Harvard, and Carl Fischer, University of Pennsylvania.

The feature match of the tournament yesterday was that between Neer and Wallace Bates of the University of California. Bates had been picked by several critics as the favorite for the championship, but Neer won in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4.

Play was started in the doubles, Davies and Neer eliminated Saunders and Howe of Dartmouth, 6—3, 6—4, while Bates and Levy won from Bostwick and Suttler, the second Pennsylvania team, 6—1, 6—3. Eduardo Mena of Quito, Ecuador, playing with Ehret Howell of Lafayette College, won from E. Appleby and E. McLaughlin of Columbia, 6—4, 6—4.

TENDENCY HIGHER IN LIGHT TRADING ON STOCK MARKET

Rails, Steels and Equipments Favorites — Mexican Petroleum Main Weak Feature.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"With business on a moderate scale the stock market was generally firm throughout the day, rails and steels were again strong, as were the motors stocks, and it was apparent that with a three-day holiday in prospect the shorts preferred to reduce rather than enlarge their commitments. Toward the close rails were fractionally higher, while industrials showed gains running up to 2 points. Call money, which opened at 5½ per cent was raised to 6 per cent at the start of the last hour, but this change was disregarded by the stock market.

"The decline in Polish marks has now reached the point where 20 may be bought for 1 cent.

"Wheat made a rally, after yesterday's severe decline. July touched $1.24 and after reacting half cent still showed a gain of 4⅛ cents. September did even better, advancing 5⅛ cents at $1.22⅞. Better trade demand and some export inquiry were spoken of and more attention was paid to reports of hot weather in the Dakotas. Cotton on the other hand had an actual reaction after recent advances, feeling the effect of profit taking here and Liverpool. July sold as low as 11.50 cents and a late price of 11.60 showed loss of 5 points. The trade generally expects that the forthcoming Government report will show a moderate improvement in condition and will place the figure at about 70 per cent."

Exchange Market Lower.

"Trading in the exchanges continued dull, but the quotations on European countries declined rather sharply. Thus sterling, after opening ⅛ of a cent lower, increased its loss to 2⅛ cents in selling for $3.73. The speculative element appeared to be unwilling to take the long side of the gamble at this juncture with the result that offerings had to be made on a receding scale. The other currencies exhibited a similar tendency, francs losing 4 points at 8.0⅛ cents and lire 6 points at 4.88½ cents. German marks meanwhile reacted to a new low for the year, losing 3 points at 1.32 cents and with considerable amounts offered for future delivery. Such a situation is, of course, consistent with the general realization that Germany has great payments to make on the reparations account this year, and that in the future she probably will have to sell marks rather than allied currencies.

The Steel Industry.

"Reports continue to circulate to the effect that another formal reduction in steel prices is due on July 1, but midweek trade reviews can find no confirmatory indications. But the steel competition develops so that a gradual reduction in prices is, in fact, taking place. Wage reductions at the same time, tend to keep step with the price adjustment and unemployment is greater than had been believed possible.

"With operations and demand at such a low ebb, the trade naturally is interested in the prospects of a settlement at Washington of the counter claims between the railroads and the Government. If the roads are allowed to fund their debts to the Government, a fair volume of steel buying is expected in order to take care of much needed repairs to an exceptionally large number of bad order cars. Much significance attaches to the Iron Age's statement that, "the iron and steel duties in the new tariff bill are a surprise to the trade in their close approach to the then fully protective schedules of the Payne-Aldrich act of 1909."

Wall Street News and Comment
—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 29.—An advance in the call money renewal to 5½ per cent, a somewhat sharp reaction in sterling exchange and highly irregular fluctuations in stocks and commodity prices, made up today's record in the markets. There was nothing, of course, at all significant about the slight rise in the money rates.

The banks have been called upon to meet large Government withdrawals while at the same time providing the funds to finance the first of July dividend and interest payments. This has temporarily reduced the supply of funds for Wall Street purposes, but inasmuch as the Wall Street business is at an absolute minimum—the lowest in fact in recent years—the effect upon quotations for money is comparatively trifling.

In the stock market there were conflicting incentives at work. On the one hand, traders had in mind the coming three-day holiday and the usual experience on such occasions that where profits have accumulated on speculative purchases they are apt to be cashed in before business is suspended.

As it turned out the traders' selling which appeared early in the day was easily absorbed and in the afternoon bidding for stocks though to be by the over-venturesome participants in the late bear speculations, again became quite active.

Part of the railway list went somewhat higher this morning, but elsewhere the advance was checked and trading in the rail group as a whole was dull. Chesapeake & Ohio was exceptionally strong following the May report, published yesterday which showed gain over last year of $1,948,000 in the gross, with a net operating income of $1,587,000 as against $1,155,000 last year. The net for the five months was still behind over $1,100,000.

The stock market had been dull while prices were hesitating during the first hour or so, but when the upward movement was resumed trading became much more active. Short covering in the final dealing became fairly urgent in numerous directions. Studebaker was once more the leader of the motors, but unusually heavy buying of General Motors had even more influence upon sentiment. Equipment stocks and steels were again influenced by the arguments that if the Government puts cash into the treasuries of the roads it will greatly hasten revival of this industry. The short interest was badly discomfited in stocks like Baldwin Locomotive, American Locomotive and Car and Foundry.

No attention was paid to rise in the call money rate to 6 per cent midway through the afternoon.

The Bond Market.

The bond market continued to follow the improvement in stocks, but in a very leisurely way. Rail bonds of the specualtive class were the most responsive. New York, Westchester & Boston 4½s jumped another point today to 35 and were up nearly 2 points from last week's low. Chicago & Great Western 4s at 45⅞ were up a half point on the day, and compared with their recent low of 47½. Erie convertible B's at 37 and the general liens at 40⅞ were fractionally higher. St. L. & S. F. incomes were up half a point and a large block of the prior lien A's changed hands at 59⅞. Pennsylvania 6½s, which were 96⅞ yesterday, crossed 97. The new Burlington 6½s were firmer at 96⅞, but the Great Northern 7s were unchanged at 96⅞. Rail bonds of the oil line investment class were comparatively inactive.

New York Central debenture 6s reached the best price they have in some time when they sold at 89. This was an advance of half a point on the day. Rock Island refunding 4s were active and strong, one block of $25,000 changing at 65½, an advance of ⅜ from yesterday. There were few features in the industrial division. Goodyear 8s were up nearly a half point at 98½. The upward tendency continued in the traction group. Hudson & Manhattan incomes were again strong around 39⅝ and the Interborough 5s advanced nearly a point to 54⅞.

The Liberty third 4¼s were a shade lower, while the fourth 4¼s were up a bit. Mexican bonds maintained yesterday's gain, and did somewhat better, the fives getting across 47 again.

Southern Pacific 1920 Report.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Total railway operating revenues of the Southern Pacific company and its subsidiaries for 1920 aggregated $282,299,504, an increase of $42,412,232, or 17.78 per cent over the previous year, according to the detailed report of the system issued today.

Total railway operating expenses of $242,113,790 increased $53,723,618, or 28.52 per cent, leaving net railway operating income of $21,312,344, a decrease of $18,364,724, or 46.28 per cent.

The constant growth of expenses is disclosed in the operating ratio. This amounted to 85.77 per cent in 1920, against 78.61 in 1919, 73.43 per cent in 1918 and only 62.18 per cent in 1917.

Maintenance of equipment alone increased slightly over 24 per cent and the heavy increase of traffic expenses resulted chiefly from the regaining of traffic diverted while the road was under Federal control.

Current assets of the Southern Pacific system, including cash approximating $18,500,000, show a large increase over the previous year. Included in this account are materials and supplies of the company's oil properties, which are listed at $40,282,359, against $31,388,151 in 1919.

Current liabilities include loans and bills payable of $5,080,000 and an increase of $24,416,500 in the company's capital stock. Total corporate surplus of $297,617,089 shows an increase of $12,712,226.

PRICES SLIGHTLY LOWER IN COTTON MARKET TRADE

NEW YORK, June 29.—Relatively easy cables from Liverpool led to an opening decline of 2 to 3 points in the cotton market here today and October sold off to 12.31c right after the call, or 9 points lower. There was some Southern selling as well as scattered realizing, but the early offerings were taken by renewed covering and scattered buying, with active months holding within 4 or 5 points of last night's closing during the first hour.

There was some scattered Southern selling as well as realizing during the middle of the morning and prices gradually worked down to 11.50c for July and 12.26c for October, or 15 to 16 points below last night's closing. The weekly report of the Weather Bureau read unfavorably on the average and was followed by rallies of 8 or 9 points, but buying was restricted by reports of good rain in the Eastern belt and a feeling that low-end June condition figures had been pretty well discounted.

Trading was quiet during the middle of the afternoon and prices showed little further change, October ruling around 12.30c, or about 4 points net lower.

Cotton futures closed steady: July, 11.58c; Oct., 12.32c; Dec., 12.80c; Jan., 12.91c; March, 13.23c.

LIVERPOOL, June 29.—Spot cotton, more inquiry; prices firmer; good middling, 8.63d; fully middling, 8.08d; middling, 7.43d; low middling, 6.43d; good ordinary, 5.13d; ordinary, 4.43; sales, 7000 bales, including 5000 American; receipts, 14,900 bales, including 10,300 American. Futures closed quiet: June, 7.73d; July, 7.78d; October, 8.20d; Jan., 8.41d; March, 8.52d; May, 8.60.

St. Louis Spot Cotton.

Spot cotton was unchanged in St. Louis today. Quotations: Good ordinary, 8.75c; low middling, 8.75c; middling, 10.75c; good middling, 12.25c; fair middling, 13.25c.

Paris Market Heavy.

PARIS, June 29.—Prices were heavy on the bourse today; 3 per cent rentes, 56 francs; exchange on London, 46 francs 87 centimes; 5 per cent loan, 82 francs 75 centimes. The dollar was quoted at 12 francs 37 centimes.

GRAIN PRICES HIGHER ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

Wheat futures turned strong after a steady early market on the Merchants' Exchange today, and a good part of yesterday's break was regained. Corn and oats also were higher.

There was unfavorable crop news from the Southwest.

While the early range of prices was not wide, the tendency was up. There was covering by shorts after yesterday's slump. Some export business was done on the break and this helped. Drouth and heat were said to still be prevailing in the northwest. Some foreign reports of drouth also were received.

July wheat opened at $1.16, September wheat $1.14¾, July corn 55c to 54¾c, September corn 57⅝c, December corn 55⅝c and September oats 38c.

St. Louis grain receipts today were: Wheat, 30 cars local and 39 through; corn, 18 cars local and 9 through; oats, 11 cars local and 1 through; hay, 80 tons local and 22 through.

Northwestern car lots today were: Minneapolis, 281; Duluth, 149; Winnipeg, 92.

Stocks in St. Louis public elevators today were: Wheat, 14,074 bu; corn, 686,255; oats, 842,762.

Clearances today are: Wheat, 628,000 bushels. Flour, 4000 barrels. Wheat and flour, 646,000 bushels.

Comparative primary receipts are: Wheat, 812,000 today, 1,066,000 last week, 658,000 last year. Corn, 1,166,000 today, 1,268,000 last week, 1,245,000 last year. Oats, 701,000 today, 598,000 last week, 487,000 last year.

Comparative primary shipments are: Wheat, 409,000 today, 691,000 last week, 755,000 last year. Corn, 663,000 today, 1,000,000 last week, 538,000 last year. Oats, 236,000 today, 805,000 last week, 453,000 last year.

SHARP RECOVERY SCORED BY WHEAT AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, June 29.—Wheat prices developed moderate strength today, after a weak start. Good export business resulting from yesterday's big break in values helped to rally the market, and so, too, did continued drouth and heat in the Northwest. Drouth news was also received from France, Russia, Rumania and Great Britain. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 1½c lower, with July $1.18 to $1.19 and September $1.17 to $1.17½, were followed by upturns all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Subsequently, decided further advances took place. Crop reports from the Southwest were the worst so far this season. The market closed strong, 4¼c to 6c net higher, with July $1.23¾ to $1.24 and September $1.22½ to $1.23.

Corn rallied with wheat. After opening ⅛c to 1⅛c lower, including September at 59⅛c to 59⅝c, the market scored substantial general gains.

Complaints of excessive dry weather in many sections counted later in favor of the bulls. Prices closed strong, 3⅛c to 5⅝c net higher, with September 62⅝c to 63¼c.

Oats were lifted by the strength of other cereals, starting ⅛c to ½c off, September 37⅝c to 37½c, and then turning upgrade.

Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 29.—There was no change in the local raw sugar market, with Porto Ricos still available at 4c for centrifugal. No sales of Porto Ricos were reported, but some 6000 bags of San Domingoes were sold to local refiners at 2 9-16c c. i. f. This price on its face is equal to about 4.56c, duty paid, but the sugar was taken to be refined for export and consequently receives a drawback, which brings the actual cost to the refiner below the Porto Rican quotation.

Raw sugar futures were steadier and at midday were unchanged to 1 point net higher. Business was light.

In refined prices were unchanged at 5.20c to 5.30c for fine granulated, with a moderate inquiry reported.

Business in refined futures consisted of two lots of September at 5.65c, an advance of 5 points over the previous night's closing.

Sugar futures closed steady; sales, 2500 tons; July, 2.74c; Sept., 2.74c; Oct., 2.54c; Dec., 2.54c.

18 COTTON MILLS TO PAY $557,000 IN DIVIDENDS

Spartanburg County, S. C., Factories to Pay 3½ to 5 Per Cent Semi-Annual Profit.

By the Associated Press.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., June 29.—Eighteen cotton mills in Spartanburg County tomorrow will pay semiannual dividends amounting to $557,130. Pascolet leads with a 3½ per cent dividend on $2,000,000 common stock and 3½ per cent dividend on $200,000 preferred, a total of $148,000. Clifton and Sparta mills come next, each paying 4 per cent on $2,000,000 capital stock. The highest dividends are paid by Arcadia, Beaumont and Woodruff mills, each paying a 5 per cent semiannual dividend. None fall below 3½ per cent.

Local mill men say the period of depression is passing and they are optimistic over the outlook. Wage adjustments have been made and the mills are recovering orders for goods in sufficient volume to insure steady operations for months to come.

PERMIT ISSUED FOR 14-STORY MELBOURNE APARTMENT HOTEL

Building at Grand and Lindell, to Cost $500,000, Will Be Completed Next May.

A permit was issued today for the 14-story Melbourne Apartment hotel, to be erected at the northwest corner of Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard. The cost is given at $500,000. The building is to be completed by May 1, 1922. The enterprise, as has been told, is promoted by the Thirty-Sixth Street Investment Co., consisting of F. J. Cornwell & Son and Alex M. Cornwell. The entire investment, it has been estimated, will be $1,500,000.

The frontage on Grand avenue will be 135 feet, with 72 feet on Lindell boulevard. The lot was purchased from Mrs. Elizabeth A. Bailey for $200,000. The contract for furnishing is said to have been let for $350,000.

DROUTH HURTS RUSSIAN CROPS

25,000,000 Persons Are Faced With Famine.

By the Associated Press.

RIGA, June 29.—Moscow reports received here say that crops have been almost completely ruined by the drouth in the Governments of Ura, Tsaritsyn, Saratov, Samara, Simbirsk, Viatka, Perm and Kazen, and in the Northern Caucasus. In consequence of this situation, the reports add, 25,000,000 persons are faced with famine.

The entire Russian press is advocating methods for aiding the people in distress.

GROCER TO RETURN TO PULPIT

Alton Pastor Says Preachers Are Needed More than Stores.

The Rev. F. Herman Brown of Alton has decided to quit the grocery business and to return to the ministry, feeling that "there is greater need for preachers than groceries." After filling the pastorate of the Congregational Church at Godfrey for five years, the Rev. Mr. Brown resigned three years ago to move to Alton to open a grocery, calling the store the Golden Rule Cash Market.

The market was successful. For the last three years the pastor has gone to Chesterfield to preach every Sunday, and has received a call from the church to be its regular pastor. Three other churches also have called him. He has not decided which call he will accept. Last April he was a candidate for the Mayoralty in Alton but was defeated, running third in a three-cornered race.

Oil Explosion Causes Big Fire.

By the Associated Press.

BALLINGER, Tex., June 29.—Fire at San Angelo yesterday afternoon caused a loss estimated at a quarter of a million dollars, according to dispatches here. The blaze was started by the explosion of oil tanks at the Pierce Oil Corporation station and spread to adjoining property.

RESORTS RESORTS

Canada Calls
To Its Great Summer Vacation Land

It is utterly useless to compare Canada except with the very best of our resorts. To begin with, it lies north of our northern boundary and, consequently, is cool.

Its scenery has charmed us in the "movies," but only for magnificent flashes as compared with a vacation in the hospitable Dominion.

Canada Appeals to the Successful—to the higher order of nature lovers, to knowing tourists, artists, experienced campers, canoeists, anglers, hunters and mountain climbers. It is historic, legendary, but above all, superlatively beautiful, healthful and invigorating. Memories linger.

The Grand Trunk, being the principal route to Canadian resorts, has had the pleasure of compiling and publishing a most complete guidebook with maps. It is free for the asking. If possible, specify which one of following resort districts is of particular interest; Muskoka Lakes, Kawartha Lakes, Lake of Bays, Algonquin Park, Nipissing, Timagami, St. Lawrence River, Quebec, Maritime Provinces, the seashore, or the mountains of New England. Reduced fares during entire summer season.

TWO SONS OF MEXICAN REBEL LEADER ARE EXECUTED

Gen. Mendez, the Father, Seriously Wounded When Taken; Gonzales Reported Active.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, June 29.—Jorge and Robert Mendez, sons of Gen. Sidronio Mendez, who recently headed an unsuccessful revolt in the State of San Luis Potosi, were executed yesterday, following trial by courtmartial. Two of their companions were put to death.

Jorge and Robert Mendez aided their father in the revolt and were captured with him last Friday. Sentence has not yet been passed on Gen. Mendez, owing to his serious condition due to wounds received before he was taken prisoner.

It has been established that Gen. Pablo Gonzales, former commander of the Carranza forces in Mexico City, has crossed the international boundary into Mexico from the United States and is engaged in revolutionary activity in the state of Nuevo Leon, according to newspapers here, which quote the War Office as their authority.

The newspapers say that Gonzales was accompanied by 15 armed men, who are engaged in an attempt to consolidate the rebellious factions in Nuevo Leon.

END OF WARS NOT YET IN SIGHT, ARMY STAFF CLASS IS TOLD

Col. Drum Tells Leavenworth Graduates to Persuade People to Keep Up Defense.

By the Associated Press.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 28. A warning that the end of wars is not yet in sight and that army officers should make themselves leaders in community life and national training, in order to persuade the American people to keep the national defense in a proper condition of preparedness, was contained in the address of Col. Hugh A. Drum, Commandant, at the graduate exercises of the school of the line and the staff class of the army here today.

Hailstorm Damages Grain.

By the Associated Press.

SIOUX FALLS— N. D., June 29.—Damage estimated at several thousand dollars was done to crops late yesterday, when a hailstorm in Lincoln County, Mo., laid much grain flat in an area of from two to three miles in width and 20 to 30 miles in length. Farmers say small grain crops are a total loss.

DECEPTION

Is the art of the sleight-of-hand performer. He makes things seem what they "ain't." This is not the business of a newspaper. A reliable newspaper's first interest is to its readers. For this reason the Post-Dispatch does not print advertisements resembling news matter and place them in the news columns to deceive its readers. The reader can read any news item in the Post-Dispatch with perfect assurance that it will NOT prove to be a paid advertisement. This is but one of the many things that has built up the great reader confidence in the

GATHERING TURTLES THRIVING ILLINOIS RIVER INDUSTRY

About $15,000 Worth a Year Taken Out; Snappers and Soft Shells Bring $6 a Dozen.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 29.—Gathering turtles is one of Illinois' minor industries. It thrives on the Illinois River.

About $15,000 worth of turtles are taken out a year. One man has been making $40 to $50 a week catching Illinois turtles.

Reporting on an investigation, Ralph F. Bradford, chief game and fish warden, said:

"Snappers and soft shells bring about $6 per dozen. It is not unusual to see them brought in in wagons, while many barrels are shipped in.

"In the winter the turtles burrow in the soft mud in the shallow water, and the fishermen take them by means of an iron rod with a sharp hook on the end which they push into the mud until they feel the shell and then get it under the edge and turn them out.

"The law has almost eliminated the common terrapin from the market since the law that a turtle with less than 10-inch shell could not be sold same into effect.

"They only brought about 10 cents each, but there are hundreds of them to where there is one of the snapper or soft shell variety, and only one in one thousand measures 10 inches."

E. S. HART ESTATE, $185,642

Former Webster Groves Mayor Left $139,750 in Stocks and Bonds.

An inventory of the estate of Edward S. Hart, former Mayor of Webster Groves, and, at the time of his death a retired publisher, was filed yesterday in the St. Louis County Probate Court, and shows personal property to the amount of $185,642.97.

Stocks and bonds totaling $139,750 and notes with accruing interest amounting to $43,010, are included. The real estate was not appraised. Hart bequeathed one-third of his estate to his wife, Mrs. Florence Hart, and two-fifteenths to each of his five children.

PRISONER WEDS AND FLEES

Iowan Taken to See Mother Goes Out the Back Door.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 29.—Hank Hankins, convicted and awaiting sentence for the robbery of the bank at Pleasantville, Ia., escaped last night from the home of his mother, where he had been taken for a visit by Deputy Sheriffs.

Hankins was brought to Des Moines as State's witness in another robbery case. He was married early yesterday afternoon and requested permission to visit his mother. The deputies waited outside while Hankins went unattended into the house and departed via the back door.

—"And Don't Forget the case of Alpen Brau"

The Old Time Brew

WHY is ALPEN BRAU in such great and growing demand as a home beverage?

Because it is brewed from our original formula and retains

—the creamy foam

that made ALPEN BRAU an old-time favorite for family use.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone. Query for Sunday must be mailed a week beforehand.

MRS. R. W.—The East Oregonian and the Tribune are published in Pendleton, Ore.

FRENCHMAN.—You can get such a book as you want at the book stores or at the Public Library.

POETIC.—You can get the words of the poem, "The Spell of the Yukon," by Robert William Service, at the Public Library.

A. G. E.—Address The Lyceum Magazine, 122 South Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill., regarding the chautauqua headquarters.

E. L. B.—Before putting the fur coat in the air-tight cedar chest the coat should be thoroughly cleaned, as there may already be dirt and moths in it, which would cause damage.

J. D.—Take the National Old Trail from St. Louis to Kansas City, then the King of Trails Route to Venita, through Claremore, to Tulsa, Ok., a distance of approximately 525 miles.

F. F. F.—The solder which is used in soldering Britannia metal and block tin pipes is composed of 2 parts of tin and 1 part of lead. This melts in the blow-pipe flame at many degrees lower temperature than either tin or Britannia metal, and is nearly of the same color. Keep the solders well stirred when pouring them into molds. Care should also be taken that the metal which melts at a higher temperature be melted first, then allow it to cool to the melting temperature of the next metal to be added, and so on. To get the best result the articles to be soldered with this solder should be joined with a blow-pipe, but if copper is used it must be drawn out to a long, thin point. Use powdered rosin or sweet oil for a flux. A tin solder for soldering tin and tin-plate, when special strength is not required, may be made of 10 parts of tin and 4 parts of lead. The melting point is 356 degrees F.

HUGH McC.—The world's greatest ship, the Majestic, formerly the Bismarck, now nearing completion at Hamburg, was designed as the pride of the German merchant marine and launched in 1914 for the purpose of eclipsing the great ocean greyhounds under the flags of rival nations. This huge ship was christened by the Kaiser, and named for the famous Iron Chancellor. But for the war she would have been commissioned in 1915, the last word in luxurious transportation, and a powerful factor in Germany's program for maritime supremacy. As the war progressed, announcements were made from time to time that the Kaiser had ordered the big ship to be ready for service the day peace was won by the Germans. The armistice found the ship no further completed than when launched. The peace treaty provided that the Germans should complete the vessel as designed and turn her over to the Reparations Commission. The commission has already taken over the ship and has sold her to the White Star Line. Work on the big ship is reported to be progressing satisfactorily at Hamburg, and barring interruptions, the ship will be ready for delivery in 1922. The Majestic, registering 56,000 tons, is 50 times as large as any of the packet ships which laid the foundation of transatlantic travel a century ago, and her tonnage alone nearly equals that of all the 132 vessels that formed the famed Spanish armada.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(Prepared by a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

L. N.—Write to the Secretary of State at Lansing, Mich., in regard to the soldiers' bonus bill.

PRESSER.—We advise you to see the Free Legal Aid Bureau at the Municipal Courts Building.

LONDON.—Have a lawyer draw your deed to put the property in the name of yourself and wife.

C. A. K.—Write to the Secretary of State, at Springfield, Ill., in regard to the soldiers' bonus bill.

SUBSCRIBER.—Upon leaving her husband and filing suit for a divorce, the wife can take anything with her that belongs to her.

E. P. S.—There is no law forbidding a divorced woman to use her maiden name in business or in joining a lodge, if she wishes to do so.

READER OF P.-D. EVERY DAY.—The evidence given by a State witness, even if admitted perjury, is admissible for what it is worth in the case. The State can prosecute afterwards for perjury if it is deemed desirable to do so.

JUDGMENT.—A judgment lasts 10 years. It can be renewed for 10 years. A judgment cannot be collected from the husband or wife of the person against whom it is obtained. It bears simple interest and the costs are added to it.

WORRIED AND SICK HEART.—If you were given the custody of the child in your divorce decree, you may get it by an order of the Court, unless your parents have legally adopted it. As your parents have raised the child, it would be better to let them keep it until you have been lawfully divorced from your second husband and are no longer living unlawfully with the first husband.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

(Answers prepared by a physician of authority. Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given. Questions that cannot be publicly discussed, if showing evidences of sincerity, will be answered when accompanied by stamped envelope.)

W. T. B.—In administering mixed infection phylocogen the dose should be given daily, at first .5 c. c., first dose, increasing .5 to 1 c. c. each day, up to about 10 c. c.

H. A. H.—A very well padded glove might sufficiently protect a bruise in the palm of the hand while playing ball. The best and surest way is to discontinue playing until the bruise has healed.

N. M.—You were correct in not believing the story that if a person cut his throat with a razor and stood still in the same place that it would heal up immediately. No person with any intelligence could believe such a thing.

C. K.—The offensive breath is probably caused by some abnormal condition of the nose, throat or teeth, not from the stomach. The teeth should be cleaned thoroughly at least night and morning daily. Your excessive pipe smoking may be the sole cause of the offensive breath.

HAZEL EYES.—If there is a deviation in the bone inside the nose sufficient to impede the breathing, it should be corrected by operation. Local treatment is very likely of only temporary benefit. These operations are done by physicians who make a specialty of nose and throat work, wherever they are performed.

H. W.—Corns are caused by pressure and friction of the shoes. They will disappear if properly fitted shoes are worn, or the small felt pads sold by drug stores are used persistently. They may be temporarily removed by the use of the various corn cures, sold in the shops, but will return unless the cause is corrected.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY!

$200 CASH

Buys a High-Grade Motor Car

Here is an opportunity for you. WE WILL SELL 39 CARS ON OUR SPECIAL SALES PLAN, which was so popular last month. Don't wait until you have the "cash in hand." Ride as you pay. We offer exchanged cars, open and inclosed models, on these easy terms:

20% CASH ON DELIVERY,
5% MONTHLY.

No arbitrary brokerage or financing charges. Deferred payments carry straight 6 per cent minimum banking rate of interest. No delay or red tape.

$ 800	"	$160	"	$40.00 Mo.
$1000	"	$200	"	$50.00 Mo.

We will accept your used car at a fair appraisal value in lieu of cash and as part of purchase price if you desire a larger or more expensive car than you now own.

Among the cars offered under this extraordinary plan are the following makes in open and closed body designs:

HUPMOBILE MAXWELL CHALMERS
DODGE FORD BUICK
STUDEBAKER CHEVROLET
HUDSON OVERLAND REO
LEXINGTON LIBERTY ALLEN
HAYNES GARDNER
AUBURN OAKLAND STEARNS

We especially recommend our Rebuilt Hupmobiles, Maxwells and Chalmers, because our facilities for rebuilding these cars are the very best. We can show by actual demonstration that these cars are in excellent condition.

We know money is worth more than 6 per cent, but we think it better to obtain part cash and 6 per cent notes from responsible buyers, if by so doing our present stock of used cars can be disposed of quickly.

SOME FIGURES ON CRIME BEFORE AND SINCE PROHIBITION

Michigan, New York, Indiana and Other Institutions Report Declines, Says Wisconsin Professor.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 29.—Evidence has been found which indicates that prohibition, even with the difficulty of perfect enforcement, seems to have a decided effect upon criminality, Prof. J. L. Gillin, of the University of Wisconsin, told the National Conference of Social Work at its session here this morning.

"The study of the situation in Grand Rapids, Mich.," Prof. Gillin stated, "showed that during the first year of prohibition there, there was a reduction of 54 per cent in court cases and of 45 per cent the second year. It is a well-known fact that the excessive use of alcohol is connected with certain crimes more directly than with others. Crimes of violence are more influenced than crimes of cunning.

New York and Indiana.

"Dr. Elwood told us that alcoholic psychosis had decreased in the New York State Hospital since prohibition went into effect. The percentage of first admissions decreased from 5.6 per cent to 4 per cent in 1919.

"In Indiana, in 1920, the average daily number in the State prison was only 909, as compared with 1209 in 1917. In the reformatory the number had decreased from 1276 in 1917 to 709 in 1920; in the woman's prison from 55 to 45. The number of women misdemeanants in the correctional department of the women's prison had decreased from 111 to 37; the misdemeanants at the State farms had decreased from 693 to 293. There was a slight decrease in the number in the boys' school, and a slight increase in the number in the girls' school for those years. The commitments to the State farm dropped from 2322 in 1916 to 993 in 1920; to the correctional department of the women's prison from 342 to 91; the number sentenced to jails from 9896 to 2192.

Fewer Non-Support Cases.

"A study reported by Mrs. Tyson in Pennsylvania shows the number of nonsupport cases in Pittsburg dropped from 1055 in 1919 to 736 in 1920. The jail population of the State was decreased by half during last year.

"In spite of the increase in arrests and commitments due to the enforcement of the prohibitory law which tends to increase the number of crimes and prisoners, in Ohio the Secretary of the Board of Charities writes me that he is convinced that prohibition has resulted thus far in a decrease of at least 20 per cent in petty and major offenses which were crimes prior to the enactment of the prohibition law.

"George S. Wilson, secretary of the Board of Charities of the District of Columbia, writes me that the short experience of the district since national prohibition has gone into effect shows a very marked decrease in the number of petty offenders.

Figures From Illinois.

"In Illinois, at the three penal institutions of Joliet, Chester and Pontiac, the number of inmates showed a decided increase from 1913 to 1917, then a decrease in 1918 and 1919, with another increase in 1920, attributed by the fiscal supervisor of the Department of Public Welfare to the return of paroled men to the institutions and the more rigid enforcement of the law in the cities where the newspapers have been devoting considerable space to the crime wave.

"Whether prohibition acounts for the difference, of course, is still an open question. That it has had some influence is less doubtful.

"In the face of these facts it is not too much to say that there is a close negative correlation between the enactment of the prohibition law and the commitments to prison, reformatory and jail."

MRS. ANNIE P. LOVETT, 63, DIES

Manager of Woman's Exchange Underwent Major Operation Thursday.

Mrs. Annie P. Lovett, 63 years old, of 5538A Cabanne avenue, wife of F. W. Lovett, and for the last two years manager of the Woman's Exchange, Euclid and Maryland avenues, died at 6 a. m. today at St. Luke's Hospital, where a major operation was performed on her last Thursday.

For several years Mrs. Lovett had been a member of the Executive Committee of the Visiting Nurses' Association. She was the mother of Mrs. Herbert W. Cost, Mrs. Robert Tarkington of Danville, Ky., and M. S. Lovett. The funeral will be Friday afternoon at West Presbyterian Church, with interment in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

WILL CONTINUE WELFARE WORK

Junior Chamber of Commerce Will Hear Complaints.

Herman Darus, chairman of the Public Welfare Committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, has sent out notices that the vigilante work of the organization, conducted last season to handle complaints made by citizens, would be continued and that residents who had complaints to make could refer them to the chamber.

Complaints dealing with sanitation, condition of streets and public safety or concerning any conditions detrimental to the general welfare will be investigated and taken before the proper authorities by the chamber. Headquarters of the Junior body is at 511 Locust street.

More Economical Than Good Soft Coal

Roberts By-Product Coke contains 85% Fixed Carbon and costs only $8.50 per ton.

The best soft coal contains 50% Fixed Carbon and it costs $7.50 per ton.

Soft coal costs you $12.75 for the same amount of heat that you would get from Roberts Coke at $8.50. The difference of $4.25 per ton is what you pay for smoke, soot, dirt and increased laundry bills.

Why use soft coal when it wastes your money and makes St. Louis dirty?

Roberts By Product Coke

Price $8.50 Per Ton

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Gas Bills.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I NOTICE in a recent issue in "Letters From the People" one from Mr. Sheehan regarding the 10 per cent additional assessed by the Laclede Gas Light Co. upon those of their customers who failed to pay their bills within a specified period.

For his information and perhaps that of the general public, I submit letter from the Public Service Commission in answer to my inquiry regarding this charge:

"Replying to your letter of June 14, relative to bill of Laclede Gas Light Co. for gas service.

"The rate of $1.05 is the net rate per thousand cubic feet of gas, provided that the bill is paid within 10 days after the date upon which said bill is rendered. The Laclede Gas Light Co. is legally empowered to fix this penalty for nonpayment within 10 days from date on which the bill was rendered. If the discount were to be allowed it would have been necessary for the commission to fix the initial rate in the first block at $1.16 instead of $1.05. Then if a discount were allowed for payment within 10 days from date of bill the net rate would be $1.05 as in the present instance.

"For the commission.

"L. H. BREUER, Secretary."

This letter clearly affirms the legality of the "penalty" exacted by the gas company upon those who fail to pay within 10 days after bill has been rendered. In other words, the Laclede Gas Light Co. is legally authorized to collect at rate of $1.15 per 1000 cubic feet of gas from its delinquent customers.

Mr. Sheehan has overlooked the fact that this procedure is not new. The gas company, even under the old rate, collected 10 per cent over and never, under any circumstances, made a reduction where discount was claimed from this rate.

As a matter of fact, the consumer hasn't the ghost of a chance with this company. If he doesn't pay his account within a certain limit, his bill is raised and if not before end of this month his gas is cut off and his guarantor must pay.

And, on the other hand, when the Laclede gets bitten in a business deal, it appeals to our kind-hearted Public Service Commission, who promptly comes to its rescue by allowing it to increase its rates.

So where do we stand?

R. J. ALSOP.

The Right to Play.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AMERICA'S biggest problem is in the youth of the country. It is important that they have the proper recreation facilities to develop into healthy American citizens, but what are we going to do with the men or women who refuse to permit these coming Americans the right to play a harmless game of catch in the evening on a quiet street with a blind end?

I am writing in the interest of several boys who work during the day and would like to have a few hours of play in the evening. This is denied them because some irritable persons refuse to let them play on this street. Before this time there was never a complaint. This same person has a policeman stop almost every night to prevent them from playing.

I wonder if these complainants were ever young like these boys and had the spirit of them? I know that all boys will be boys. Mostly they will be good boys if given a chance. One chance they are entitled to is the inalienable right to play in leisure hours. U. F. S.

"Without a Trial."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

LIKE thousands of other citizens, I expected just such a statement as that issued by the president of the Real Estate Exchange: "We have been hanged without a trial." This is a turnabout from cruel oppression to subtle deception.

The facts are known to all. If the real estate operators felt that they could afford to put their case in the public record, to do so would have been simple and convenient. Nights were set aside for them to appear, but they did not appear.

The few real estate operators who did appear made a sorry effort to rebut the testimony regarding the rapaciousness of landlords. The gist of the defense seemed to be on a par with the complaint of the Vienna pickpockets, viz.: That their victims exaggerated their extortions.

If some persons engaged in the real estate business have so degraded themselves and what was formerly regarded a honorable calling by descending into the depths of inordinate greed, and creating a menace to the health, morals and reputation of the city, it is the duty of every man who would protect his home and family to immediately get behind those men who are serving his interests. This support should be both of a personal and financial nature.

"PUBLIC."

THE PEACE MAKESHIFT.

The agreement of the Senate and House conferees on a peace resolution foreshadows its adoption at an early date.

When it passes both houses one of the things for which the special session of Congress was called will have been done, but the results will be small.

The peace resolution is only a makeshift, a gesture that means nothing substantial. It declares peace and makes certain reservations in favor of the United States, most of which are in the neglected Versailles treaty. That berated pact is the only thing that stands between us and chaos, so far as our relations with Germany are concerned. We cannot get on a real peace basis until we accept the Versailles treaty or make a new peace with Germany, a task from which the administration naturally shrinks. It is a task that involves us in dishonor and grave risk and can only be justified by a confession of past folly.

The Versailles treaty could have been accepted with or without reservations months ago, but its acceptance would have been an offense against rancorous party policy, so instead of giving the American people and the world a stable basis of peace, we slink around it and by an indirect sham claim its benefits without incurring its obligations. In the end we must come to its essentials. The public welfare is sacrificed to partisan policy and hatred.

The other object, imperatively necessary, for which the Congress was called into special session is the revision of the crude tax system and the reduction of taxation. Substantial reduction of taxation cannot be accomplished without a reduction of armament programs. But this cannot be accomplished without the League of Nations or an agreement between the nations. We might have had the League in any reasonable form, but it is rejected altogether because Wilson helped to frame it and Wilson was a Democrat and offended Republican party leaders. In lieu of the League, which would have worked towards the solution of the problem of world peace and the rehabilitation of industry and commerce and prosperity, an agreement to reduce armaments is possible. It is admittedly a makeshift, but it would be a step towards relief and towards a general disarmament. But it requires co-operating with the League of Nations, on the line of League progress, and Mr. Harding hesitates and palters.

Thus we are cut off from substantial relief from ruinous taxation; we cut other nations off of relief from burdens they are less able to bear. We are cut off from real peace and co-operation with other nations for the restoration of peace everywhere and the conditions that make for prosperity, by partisan politics. Everything halts except inexorable events which make for war preparations, other wars and greater misery.

Petty partisan advantage counts for more than the welfare of the nation and the peace, progress and prosperity of mankind.

OUR COSTLIEST REVENUE.

Director of Public Welfare Cunliff and Park Commissioner Pape have asked Mayor Kiel to veto the ordinance fixing a fee for golf and tennis permits and have submitted cogent reasons for their request.

The ordinance looked well on paper as a revenue producer. So many people play tennis, so many golf. At such a price the yield was estimated at $16,500. Subjected to analysis, though, the prospectus loses some of its glitter. It is pointed out that the salaries of two cashiers employed in collecting the fees will amount to $2100, while the expense of policing the golf links will be $2000 more. Thus more than 25 per cent of the anticipated returns is immediately absorbed.

There are other objections. The facilities at the golf courses are shabby and inadequate. Little complaint is made as long as the use of the links is apparently free, but paying an admission fee the people would demand accommodations for their money.

Further, it is doubtful if the estimated yield is correct. Many of the tennis players are youngsters who would find it impossible to pay the required dollar. Just how many would come under this disability cannot be stated, but the number would cause a considerable shrinkage in the optimistic calculations of the ordinance. The probable net, it is argued, would not warrant the difficulty and unpleasantness that would result.

Finally, the statement of objections remarks that "St. Louis has been advertised to the entire world on account of its wonderful recreational facilities and the fact that these recreational facilities are free." It were a pity to lose that reputation, but an infinitely greater pity to lose the asset itself. For it has been an asset of splendid value. We can find no record of that value in any audit, but is it not plain that the new St. Louis spirit is attributable in large part to the capacity, ambition and civic purpose which the youthful graduates of our recreational schools have brought into the current of the city's life?

Band concerts, playgrounds, swimming pools, the resources of our parks, should all be free. It should be the prime objective of the city's recreational department that those who can't pay can play.

Retrenchment along such lines, as the Post-Dispatch has repeatedly said, is the falsest economy. Putting our recreational facilities on a fee basis would be the costliest revenue St. Louis could raise.

DEMAGOGY AND MUD.

Mr. William Hirth of Columbia has told the members of the Legislature that they "have come to the cross roads, where they must choose, once for all, between the farmer on the one hand and the tourist on the other." If they enact legislation providing for the construction of a State system of hard-surfaced roads they will have declared for the tourist, Mr. Hirth informs them. He explains, however, how they can decide for the farmer.

The explanation is this: The Legislature will adjourn without enacting any road legislation at all. Then the Missouri Farmers' Association, of which Mr. Hirth is organizer and head, will undertake, through the initiative, to repeal, in effect, the constitutional amendment authorizing the expenditure of $60,000,000 in permanent roads by so amending it that a "substantial portion" of the annual automobile license fees will be devoted to maintaining our present dirt roads. This cannot be done until the general election in November of next year, and Mr. Hirth is not sure it can be done then, but he wants a chance to do it. In the meantime, Missouri can mark time in the mud.

The program is preposterous. The assertion that Missouri legislators must choose between the farmer and the tourist is arrant demagogy. What Mr. Hirth is asking the Legislature to do is to ignore the mandate of the people of this State and to commit Missouri forever to mud roads. Neither Mr. Hirth nor his presumption is entitled to the courtesy of a hearing.

It is possible, however, that Mr. Hirth is misleading some of the farmers in his association to believe that he is really championing their best interests. The reverse is the truth. And it ought not to take the farmer long to recognize that truth. The Missouri farmer certainly knows what mud roads are. He has lived with them all his life. If the farmer is ever going to get a straight connection between his farm and his market, the city, it must be by way of permanent good roads. That is what the proposed State system of hard-surfaced roads is designed to accomplish, and will accomplish.

So far as the tourist is concerned, Missouri may plead guilty to wanting the tourist to come this way. In so pleading she is in the distinguished company of our progressive states. But the tourist is a secondary consideration, though the trade he brings is not unimportant, as good-road states like Wisconsin and Massachusetts, for example, can testify, and it is a trade in which the farmer liberally shares.

Mr. Hirth asks the Legislature to shut tourists out and hem farmers in, and that is what will happen if demagogy and mud prevail.

BEFORE THE BAR OF MANKIND.

Sooner or later, in some sort of conference, the representatives of the British Government and the envoys of the Irish people must effect a modus vivendi. Present conditions in Ireland are intolerable. The violence and terrorism of both sides are impartially condemned and deplored by the best thought in England and elsewhere. Yet unless a truce is arranged those conditions threaten to become worse. The necessity, then, is pressing for attempting, through the processes of reason, first, to end a dreadful state of affairs, and, subsequently, to reach a just solution.

That is the situation which has inspired the parley proposed by Lloyd George to which De Valera has been invited, with the privilege of bringing as associate conferees whomever he wishes. It is conceivable that this parley will fail, but it does not seem possible that the opportunity will deliberately be forfeited.

De Valera has not yet accepted Lloyd George's invitation, but the best friends of England and Ireland are prayerfully hoping that he will. Such a conference would be a trial of the English-Irish case before the bar of mankind. De Valera's words would be heard throughout the world. So, too, would the words of Lloyd George. Sincere purpose on the part of either or both to accomplish an honorable settlement, or, if that is too sanguine a dream, to establish a basis of negotiation, would quickly be perceived, while insincerity or reckless obstinacy on the part of either would as quickly be detected. Neither Lloyd George nor De Valera could afford to affront such a tribunal.

In any event, it is through such an instrumentality that a permanent relationship between England and Ireland will be worked out. If not today, tomorrow. If not by Lloyd George and De Valera, by others.

REPUBLICAN MAGIC.

JUST A MINUTE . ˙ .

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
By Clark McAdams

FREE VERSE.

ON yesterday Just a Minute had his hair cut as a political precaution.

That ought to be interesting.

We will explain it.

After reading this, that and the other thing, including the market page, we decided it would be just as well not to be caught standing around in long hair.

We probably will get through the present crisis.

Everybody says we will.

Stocks are low, but confidence is high.

By autumn, says one expert in Wall street, the blower will have been clapped on business.

We will be back to normalcy.

Trade will revive.

Ships will cast off with goods for foreign ports.

Chimneys will smoke.

Whistles blow.

Our Mr. Lasker, who is running our mercantile fleet, will exhibit the magic that has made him a hundred feet high in Chicago.

Building will resume.

Railroads will have something to haul.

Whoop-la!

In the autumn.

But this is still June.

If the crash came before autumn, who would want to be caught standing around in long hair?

Not Just a Minute.

What would certainly happen would be that they would look around for the longest-haired person and say: "Here, comrade! You will be leader!"

We don't want to be leader.

We want them to look right past us at somebody else.

So we had our hair cut as a political precaution.

We do not want to lead the way to Utopia.

There is no such place.

That way leads to a wilderness even worse than the one we are traversing now.

The prospect is pleasing at first, but it is not far on the way that you encounter the hill Human Nature.

That is as far as you get.

The hill Human Nature is several miles high.

There may be anything behind it, but we shall never see what is there.

Observe our old friend Leon Trotzky.

He stands halfway up the hill Human Nature beckoning the masses upward.

Are they going upward?

Not on your life.

They are going back!

Observe the philosopher Lenine.

He stands halfway up the hill Human Nature.

He is rubbing his tired eyes.

He has just had another look at Carl Marx's book.

The answer isn't in it.

Up the side, but not over the top.

So there you are.

As a political precaution we had our hair cut.

We don't want to be leader.

Maybe nothing will happen.

We hope not.

If it does, we want to stay right here and weather it out.

When the new emergency tariff bill was signed lemons went up at New York from $2 and $5 to $10 and $12 a box. All parties have handed us lemons, but it took the Republicans to hand us lemons at a nickel apiece.

A burglar who worked both sides of the street through a West End block and finally took a bottle of milk home with him from the doorstep of the last house will hardly vote the Republican ticket again.

The Mussel Shoals project, like our own furniture bill for making ornate and luxurious the office of the Circuit Attorney, illustrates with what reluctance we do what we have to do when we are brought to it. Congress does not want to complete the Mussel Shoals project any more than Comptroller Nolte wants to pay the Circuit Attorney's furniture bill. But—in the one case there is the project, 30 per cent built; and in the other the furniture, for some time in use. When the last general deficiency bill was before Congress some of the principal enterprises of the Government, including our own Mississippi River barge line, almost failed of funds because Congress could not agree as to Mussel Shoals. The bill only passed at the eleventh hour, when the item was omitted. Money was plentiful when we started building at Mussel Shoals. It was as plentiful as it was when Mr. Sidener ordered his furniture. A nitrate plant at $10,000,000 occasioned no more hesitancy than a platinum gobboon at some fancy figure for the Circuit Attorney. Who cared to say in the last analysis whether a single nitrate plant or a single platinum gobboon might not win the war? Nobody, of course. They were both contracted for in the fever to win. Both were imponderables. The war lay on the laps of the gods. Hundreds of persons have assured Congress that if we will complete the Mussel Shoals project, originally designed to make nitrate for ammunition, we can devote its product to the enrichment of farm lands. Fewer persons, but quite as competent to judge of a similar and equally urgent necessity, have assured our Circuit Judges and Mr. Nolte that to pay the Circuit Attorney's furniture bill is the only way out of a dilemma imposed upon us by the war. As yet neither Congress nor Mr. Nolte has relented, but they will. There is no escape from it. We have the proof of that in "The Master Builder," by Ibsen. He despised duty, did the Master Builder—but could one of the greatest metaphysicians of our time devise a way out of it for him? He could not. Come, gentlemen! Let's complete the Mussel Shoals project and pay Mr. Sidener's furniture bill. We can have no peace until we have paid for the war.

California, which has the best roads in the country, is an up-and-down State, which makes it difficult to apply her experience to our needs in Missouri. Ours is a square State. It would be pretty hard to live in California without living upon one of the great north and south highways, whereas it is quite as hard to live in Missouri without living offside a main road going anywhere. With $71,000,000 California did what we could not do with $150,000,000. Nevertheless, the sooner we are at it the quicker we will get it done. We are not in any respect California. The single item of repairs in this north temperate climate compared with the same item in semitropical California will keep us from going to California when we do get good roads.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publications, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

INCREASE IN NUMBER OF SUICIDES.

From the Philadelphia Bulletin.

AN alarming increase last year in the number of suicides in America is reported by the Save-a-Life League, an organization which is attempting to grapple with this problem, which becomes greater as society becomes more complex and people more sophisticated. The society lists 12,000 suicides during the year, and a distressing feature being that 707 were children. The most trivial circumstances, dissatisfaction with clothes or food, quarrels over ventilation, or the like slight domestic contrarieties, are listed among the immediate impelling occasions of many suicides, although behind these apparently trifling outbursts there are doubtless long histories of domestic frictions, strained nerves, incompatibility and "temperament." Both prohibition and the rigid restriction on narcotics are among the things considered contributing causes of suicide. Unquestionably a weakening of religious belief in many persons is to blame for many suicides. The Almighty's canons against self-slaughter, which stayed Hamlet's hand, have deterred many persons in desperate straits in the past from taking the irrevocable step. Weakening of the old spirit of family pride in many has removed another strong inhibitive influence against self-murder. To use a word made familiar by the war, lack of morale is at the bottom of the problem. Old-fashioned religious convictions, greater self-respect, firmer self and family discipline, healthy relaxation, and cultivation of cheerfulness seem the most adequate counter influences.

VIOLATING MEDICAL LIBERTY.

From the New York Times.

ARE Representative Volstead and the autocrats of the Anti-Saloon League bent on making prohibition odious? It would seem so from their devotion to the supplemental prohibition bill. Not content with arousing the active opposition of the chemists, they undertake to dictate to the physicians. They ordain that no doctor shall prescribe more than one-fourth of a gallon of vinous liquor or any liquor that contains more than half a pint of alcohol for the use of any one patient within 10 days. A physician who violates the provision, perhaps to save the life of his patient, becomes a criminal. If he willfully violates the law his permit is revoked. The fanatics at Washington are bound to restrict medical liberty if they can. Whether one be a sensible prohibitionist or a sensible anti-prohibitionist, he must resent this effort to fetter the freedom of the profession, to prevent those physicians who believe in the therapeutic use of alcohol from prescribing it in the amount they deem necessary for the benefit of the patient. Prohibition enthusiasts have been arbitrary in many ways, but seldom more indefensibly than in this interference with the right and duty of a physician.

GERMANY'S FUTURE.

From the Louisville Courier Journal.

NATIONS, like men, may be "down but not out." There's Germany, for example. Will Germany "come back?" Often the Teuton has been "down." Never yet has the Teuton been "out." After the "Thirty Years' War" he was "down," but he "came back" like a whirlwind. After the Napoleonic wars he was down—prostrate; the "Fatherland," like Bozzaris, lay "bleeding at every vein;" but "back" came the Teuton 50 years later and rolled up over night his former conqueror. The Teuton will "come back." It's in the blood. Work is the law that rules his life—work and thrift. He is an economic marvel. Already he is underselling Entente nations, including America, 7000 miles from the home market. In less than 10 years, though prostrate now, the Teuton will be standing erect. He will "come back."

ONE STEADY MAN

A Father Whose Joy Is Work Because it Is for His Children.

—By—

Sophie Irene Loeb

"WHAT is a steady man?" asked someone of me the other day.

"I know of one," I replied. "His name is John, and he lives in a little village up the State."

John is different from other men. His being steady is part of himself. He could no more stop being steady than he could stop breathing.

If someone told him that he had suddenly become a rich man he would still continue to be steady.

And what does he do? He is always doing. He is a carpenter on the railroad. He begins very early in the morning and is through early in the evening, after which time he has odd jobs which he takes pleasure in doing—yes, pleasure.

He has done many odd jobs for me, and I marvel at him. There isn't anything you ask him to do that he doesn't do, and he does it with a smile.

He never misses half an hour if he can work that half hour.

You can give John any task to do, for he can do most anything besides being a carpenter, and you will come back and find it done. He never makes excuses—he makes good.

If he has no material on hand he goes and gets it. If you have forgotten to tell him something in connection with the matter, he is sure to remember it.

He is resourceful. If one thing doesn't do, he makes another take its place. Why? Not only because he is being paid for doing the thing, but because he likes to see it done.

I honestly believe that it is in the very weave of him to want to see a thing finished. He feels a certain pride that he has done it and there it is. It is refreshing to say the least, I venture to say, that the hours of overtime John has put in more than double his regular employment. And why?

There are five little ones and when he is with them you realize the reason. All the extra money he makes is being put away for them.

And when I look at the beautiful little girl with the big bright eyes, I want to congratulate her that John is her father. He will never fail her, or any of the others.

One day I said to John, "When do you get any fun, if you work all day on the railroad, and then after hours for others?"

"I get lots of fun from my work," said John. "Don't you think it's fun to make a rustic summer house for you, and don't I like to hear you say 'How pretty it looks?' Isn't that fun?

Of course, there is other work that isn't so pleasant, but most of it can be real pleasure. I like to feel at the end of a day that so much has been accomplished.

"Some people look forward to long vacations, or they look for the day when they will quit work and have a good time. I don't think such people have as good a time as I have," said John meaningly, "because I get some fun every single day, and I love to laugh with the children when I get home at night.

"Yes, I have my fraternity lodge once in a while, and I have my men friends, but, after all, I find that the best time I have is when finishing a job." And I know this is true.

John is of the sort that make good citizens. He has come to this country from Italy. He loves this country because it has given him every chance to make good, and he is making it.

He will try to rear every one of his children to be as steady as he is. He will never let the community take care of him, but he will help take care of the community.

OMELET

MOST cooks now substitute water for milk in an omelet. Beat 3 eggs and add 3 tablespoonfuls of hot water. Some housewives prefer cold water, and they add 1 teaspoonful to 3 eggs and beat until well mixed. In either case add ½ teaspoonful of salt and mix. Pour into a very hot buttered pan, shake and slightly stir until eggs begin to set. When of the desired consistency fold and serve at once. Omelets can be varied by sprinkling with any minced meat, chopped parsley or finely cut veegtables.

DIVINITY FUDGE

TWO cups white sugar, ¾ cup of white corn syrup, ¼ cup hot water. Boil this till it will thread when a spoon is dipped in. Then add ½ cup nuts, also the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs. Stir till it begins to harden, then pour on a buttered tin. The tin should be a 4 by 8 inch and the candy will cut to better advantage.

SCIENCE NOTES

BRITISH experts have decided that carbon monoxide, always present in automobile exhaust gases, makes the human system susceptible to pneumonia.

A French scientist has demonstrated that substances as inflammable as oily waste and cotton can be ignited by sparks from radio telegraphy.

Scientists have estimated that a temperature of about 9000 degrees would be necessary to produce a pure white light.

In laboratory experiments air has been compressed to a pressure exceeding 300,000 pounds to the square inch.

But she could not go on. Slowly she opened a netted bag of black and drew out a picture. It was in a small silver frame, and the faithful American flag in cheapish enamel was draped at the top. Jim looked at us cheerfully. Miss Sunshine stared at him. What she felt I could not have said, but I felt something icy clutching at my own heart.

"Il etait votre fils?" asked the girl slowly. She sounded calm, even hard—or brave, was it? I saw her hands tighten on the table's edge. She started to rise, then changed her mind. Something new swept over her face, over which so many emotions had already surged.

"Votre fils," she repeated, almost angrily now. "He is in America, je suppose."

"In America!" Jim's mother made a funny helpless little gesture with both hands, as if to indicate the black she wore.

"Il est mort," I found myself saying, and then, quite preposterously, as if I needed to translate it, "He is dead."

The blonde girl caught the photograph again and stared at it half dazed for a second, and then suddenly bent over it on the table and broke into a fierce tempest of sobs. It was not opportune for Monsieur Tic-Toc, who was at that moment recounting in song the adventures of a partie carre bourgeoise who had taken a trip from Paris to Dieppe. He hesitated and then finished his couplet and stopped—we were never to know to what point the liveliness of Mme. Broiche led her. For an instant there was an embarrassed silence in the salle. Then the grosse Mathilde got up—she was not so bad after all—and put her hand on her fellow artist's heaving shoulder.

"What can I do for you, dear one?" she asked. What are rivalries to artists but things to forget?

The yellow head was raised a little. Is it not odd the things one remembers?—at that moment I noted how dark her hair was at the roots.

"Make the concert go on!" she appealed.

Was it not the old courage of the theater, even of the theater's dregs? I believe if it had been necessary to save the day—the night, to be accurate—the stricken Sunshine would have gamely sung herself, probably even a gay and comic song. But the dark Mathilde took up the burden. Her performance was, as it were, a recall of the audience to manners. They all knew that it was kindness to seem obvious to our sorrow, to let two continents mingle their tears at this obscure provincial cafe table. For there were tears enough flowing as well from Jim's mother's eyes. Yet I like to remember that she remembered what we others forgot, that the promised grog had never been ordered. Back there in Ohio she would have made the girl a "nice cup of tea." The grog was only the nearest thing she could think of in this strange remote France, where all her life now seemed to lie. I smiled, but there were tears enough in my own eyes as well.

I WOULD rather not write too much of the next few minutes. I have, of course, invented the names of Belcotreaux and Stanley—yet somewhere in France the moon does rise behind the tower of St. Roch's Church, gilding a girl's hair a still yellower gold. Somewhere in Ohio there are two lonely people who were once pilgrims in France. The girl—Alphonsine was really her name—had only a little of the English speech. I translated a bit, my old job, not so gay now—I translated more than I intend to write.

There was a thin gold chain around her neck and somewhere hidden, somewhere nearer her heart and warm from it, was a pleasant gaudy locket and in it a picture of the finest young man in the world. It needed nothing to persuade any of us that she had loved Jim. But how much had he loved her? I asked myself.

I looked around the Cabaret Mondain and at the streaked face where tears had washed the paint away. A cheap locket and a kodak and a kiss for good-by, and then on gayly to another Belcotreaux and other kisses and so to death—was that not probably all it had meant to the gallant Jim?

What it had meant to Jim was, however, not the real question; rather what it now meant to Jim's mother. I saw her give one slow, bewildered survey of the music and dance hall. And yet I realized that what she asserted earlier was indeed true of her—that anything Jim did was all right. The cheap locket was for her proof enough. Here was where she had found the girl her boy had loved.

It must have been different from what she had dreamed, probably ever since Jim who was to die as a soldier had lain as a baby in her arms. She must have seen a sweet girl from their own town, and a wedding and a small white wooden house in the village, and grandchildren. And now she and papa, who might have been grandpa, were adrift in France, and a strange, tawdry, oddly beautiful creature sat opposite to them in an only half reputable cafe drinking a steaming grog and talking to them of their boy in spite of her halting English with a kind of flaming passion that perhaps the sweet girl from Ohio might not have shown so—was it so brazenly?

If I could not really search my compatriot's heart, neither could I that of Alphonsine. What, we may well ask, could she guess of Ohio? Indeed, as my story proceeds I see more plainly how little it is founded upon assured knowledge and how much upon cloudy guess and inference. Yet it may well be that guess and inference, however, cloudy, serve women better than they serve us. It may well be that there are many miracles worked by love, that it can make a little woman from home understand more of the life of a painted cafe chanteuse than she is likely to admit to any men. Indeed, as I confessed earlier, I write with ignorance, but I am trying to write with sympathy.

MISS SUNSHINE left us a moment; the manager had beckoned to her and she probably meant to repaint after the ravages of tears. While she was gone Mrs. Stanley's slow but noncommittal glance again appraised the Cabaret Mondain.

"Seems funny," she said meditatively at last, "to think of Jim's girl working in a place like this."

How working did she think or mean, I wondered? But I said nothing. And Monsier Tic-Toc sang another song. As it finished Mrs. Stanley murmured:

"I suppose she'd think Lannesville a queer place."

Even in the genuine solemnity of my mood I stifled a laugh at the thought. But somehow I did not laugh when I heard her again talking to the girl herself. I shall not try to reproduce accents and I shall not report all the actual words.

"You like this?" began the other woman.

I thought the girl flushed underneath her pink and white coating.

"Why not?" she answered, and her voice grew a little louder and harder. "Faut vivre—I must live, mustn't I?"

Then, lower but steadily:

"I've no regrets. If I hadn't been—well, what I am and working here, I shouldn't have met your son."

"Yes. But now?"—urged Mrs. Stanley.

"Faut vivre," was again the answer.

It was incontrovertible. She must live as much as any of us.

And then the dear old thing from back home there rose, I think, to heights in one simple speech of consecration, of atonement on Jim's behalf perhaps, of a divine tolerance, or if not that, of an ignorance equally divine.

"Wouldn't you like to come back with us to see where Jim was born and raised? And stay on if you could stand it? It would be better than this. I think it would be more what Jim would like."

Was it to be expected that the poor Miss Sunshine should understand at once? Or that she should ever understand all the implications? But I believe that somehow she understood that an Ohio village was not possible for her, and that in whatever strange spirit these queer people asked her to come to it, it would not be real kindness to them to accept? Was she protecting their ignorance? Was she, too, in the recesses of her heart, protecting Jim's memory, doing what she thought he would like? Any one may judge as well as I. I tell only the few words said.

"I could not leave," she said. "You see, I have a little child."

I caught my breath. It was Mrs. Stanley alone who gave an answer.

"Is it"——she began very gently, and she paused an instant. It seemed to me that I could almost hear our four hearts beat. Finally the girl slowly shook her head.

"No," she said, and her smile was bitter sweet.

Did she tell the truth? I for one shall never know. But I suspect that for that little instant she stood with the other woman on the heights.

And my dear old friend—was she glad? Glad to know her boy stainless? Or did she in that moment see fade forever the vision of the grandchild she might have held in her arms if her boy had lived and——

"May I see him tomorrow?" was all she asked. "I like little babies so."

This is, I think, almost all of the story which I shall tell. I had a telegram from Paris which called me back. I never saw Riom. I have not as yet seen any of those concerned again. I was not in New York when the pilgrims passed through on their homeward journey. But I can say that the Cabaret Mondain lost a singer—no great loss—and that one of the friendly associations which in Paris dispense Americans aid to ravaged France helped a girl and her child back to the village her mother had come from, in the hill country toward Le Puy, and established her as lessee of the little Estaminet des Dux Lapins—little Inn of the Two Rabbits, a business which Alphonsine said she might be some good at.

I had at Christmas-time a picture post card. It had been taken in summer and the little garden was abloom. You could see the kid, too, pretending he could walk. He carried in one hand a tiny French flag and in the other the Stars and Stripes. As he had a right to, for it was kind Americans who had saved his mother from Comic songs. He will be, I think, always a friend of America.

Uncommon Sense

BE A GOOD LOSER—BUT DON'T LOSE OFTEN.

IF we all liked to lose, this would be a shiftless and an ambitionless life.

It is natural to want to win in any competition, business or athletic.

Any self-respecting man would like to feel that he can outstrip the other fellow in any race he enters.

He feels chagrined when he loses. But if he amounts to anything he does not show it.

To whine, to lose your temper, to invent excuses, to show jealousy if you lose, is poor sportsmanship and poor judgment.

You may feel badly because you have lost, and you ought to, but remember that you, and no one else, are responsible. For, if the competition was one in which you had no chance of winning, you shouldn't have entered it. If you did have a chance, it was your fault that you did not improve it.

Be a good loser, therefore, and generous to your opponent. But don't lose too often.

Don't be so little concerned about losing that you never try to win.

Don't feel that it makes no difference how the race goes. When it is over have a quiet little conversation with yourself, and give general instructions not to let the same thing happen again.

There is such a thing as being so good a loser that you like to lose. And there are no competitions run off in this world which you can afford to enter merely for the pleasure of letting some other man win.

You are perfectly justified in feeling bad when you have lost. You are justified in taking yourself into a corner for a lecture on the folly of losing. The continual loser will in the end have to part with his self-respect and his courage, and become a mere cumberer of the earth.

Try to win as hard as you can. If you lose next time make up your mind that you will win the next. Determine that you will win oftener than you lose, and that you will win as nearly 100 per cent as possible.

Then when you do lose, you can bear it with a better grace, for you will know that such a thing is not going to happen very frequently.

Vegetable Combination

BAKED tomato and egg plant with spaghetti makes a nice vegetable dish. Pour into a deep earthenware dish one cup of cream; line the dish with thin slices of egg plant sprinkled well with salt; slice two large tomatoes, and place a layer of these on the egg plant, next place a layer of cooked spaghetti sprinkled with grated cheese, salt and pepper; cover this with a layer of sliced tomatoes; sprinkle over tomatoes finely chopped green peppers and cover with a layer of egg plant; salt and pepper well and bake gently for one and a half hours.

Chocolate Nut Caramels

TWO cups of sugar (granulated) 1½ cups corn syrup, 2 cups cream, 1 cup butter, 4 squares chocolate, 1½ cups walnut meats, 2 teaspoons vanilla extract.

Put sugar, syrup, 1 cup cream and butter over fire; when mixture boils rapidly, add other cup cream, but do not let mixture stop boiling by adding cream. Cook until it hardens in cold water. Remove from fire, add chocolate and nuts. Beat until chocolate is melted. Turn into buttered pan so mixture will be ¾ inch thick. When nearly cold turn from pan, cut in cubes.

THE BURGESS BEDTIME STORY

By Thornton W. Burgess

Farmer Brown's Boy Is a Good Landlord.

By Thornton W. Burgess

Friendship is most surely won
By kindly deeds for others done.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

JENNY and Mr. Wren kept right on carrying sticks and straws into the sleeve of the old coat of Farmer Brown's Boy. It took a lot to fill that sleeve. In the first place, some dropped out at the bottom of the sleeve, for, of course, that was open. Jenny didn't notice this at first. Mr. Wren discovered it.

"I told you this is no place for a home," he grumbled. "That hole hasn't any bottom."

"Then we'll make one," declared Jenny, and flew down to examine the lower end of the sleeve.

Farmer Brown's Boy, watching from the barn, saw what the trouble was. He got a piece of string and went over to the old coat. For a couple of minutes he was very busy there. Mr. Wren watched him suspiciously. Jenny Wren scolded him. Farmer Brown's Boy grinned. Presently he went back to the barn.

At once Jenny flew over to see what he had done. The lower end of the sleeve had been tied tight. No more sticks and straws could fall out. There was a bottom now. Jenny inspected it carefully and she took her time about it. When she had finished she turned to Mr. Wren.

"Now what have you got to say?" she demanded.

Mr. Wren hadn't a word to say. Instead he flew off to look for another stick. Mr. Wren is wise enough to know that there are times when it is best to say nothing, and this was one of them.

By this time the right kind of sticks were getting scarce around Farmer Brown's dooryard and Jenny and Mr. Wren were forced to go over to the Old Orchard to hunt for them. They were over there together, when suddenly they heard a pounding over in Farmer's Brown's dooryard. They forgot all about sticks and hurried back to see what was going on. Farmer Brown's boy was standing by the old coat doing something to it. It was he who was doing the pounding.

"Now, what is that fellow doing?" sputtered Mr. Wren. "I told you he isn't to be trusted. You wouldn't listen to me, and now probably this is the end of our home, and all our hard work has gone for nothing!"

Jenny's eyes snapped. "The time to holler is when you are hurt," said she. Nevertheless, there was a worried look in Jenny's eyes as she watched Farmer Brown's Boy.

Presently he stopped pounding and went back to the barn. Jenny and Mr. Wren hurried over and anxiously looked over that old coat to see what he had been doing to it. It was firmly nailed to the post so that it couldn't be blown down and couldn't swing badly in the wind. Jenny was quick to understand this.

"Now what have you got to say?" she demanded of Mr. Wren. "Now what have you got to say? Perhaps next time you'll believe what I say!" She jerked her tail excitedly.

Mr. Wren looked decidedly foolish. "I'll never doubt you again," he replied meekly. "I'll never doubt you again, my dear."

Then Mr. Wren flew over to a tree close to the barn and sang and sang so hard that he shook all over. It was his way of telling Farmer Brown's Boy that he understood and was grateful and that they were the best of friends.

As for Farmer Brown's Boy, he grinned. "I hope they'll like me for a landlord," said he. "I'll try to be a good one."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

OVERWORK.

When Uncle Zeke was forty-eight
  The neighbors used to say,
"He's lookin' pretty bad of late,
  He ought to learn to play.
A man toward fifty's past his prime,
  He oughtn't to forget
If he keeps at it all the time
  Hard work will get him yet."

When Uncle Zeke was sixty-two
  The parson shook his head.
"Ezekiel has too much to do;
  He's all worn out," he said.
"A man of family has no right
  His health to disregard;
I fear he'll pass away some night,
  He's working far too hard."

When Uncle Zeke was eighty-four,
  Still toiling on his farm,
The boys around the country store
  Were moved to grave alarm.
Said they: "He ought to drop the plow
  An' spend his time in bed;
He's worked too long already now,
  Next year'll see him dead!"

Now Uncle Zeke is ninety-three
  And works from rise of sun
Till dusk, then stays around to see
  The evening milking done.
He's strong of limb and clear of eye,
  No job he'll ever shirk,
And still the neighbors prophesy
  He'll die of overwork!
